BASEBALL LEADS ALL

In a discussion concerning baseball and track in AHS, the management of Andover High School is sufficiently high to warrant having both sports. It seems as tho if the fellows of the A. H. S. are "big enough," both sports could exist.

According to economics, anything is beneficial which gives the greatest benefit to the greatest number of people. Hence, one could not say that AHS should have track instead of baseball, because baseball benefits more people than track.

The financial condition of AHS Athletic Association being what it is impracticable to attempt track on a large scale. It is impossible to have meets here in Andover, therefore the team is a financial liability.

There are a number of men in AHS who excel in track and should be given a chance to participate in as many meets as possible. There are also a large number of men who cannot excel in track but do have some ability in baseball. Also, baseball may be self supporting. Hence, I see no good reason why we should not have a baseball team in the High School!

SCHOOL PROPERTY

The money of all the people has gone into the making of comfortable buildings for your benefit. It is expected that you will care for and protect this property and take the same pride in its fine appearance that you would if it were your own. This is asking very little of you in return for all that the Government has done and is doing for you.

Do not mark or mar the school building in any way. Do not write on walls with chalk or pencil yourself; and do not, when it is in your power to stop it, allow any other person to do so. If you see anything out of order or in need of repair, correct it if you can. If not report it at once to the proper authorities and help to make it right.

Take as much care of school supplies as if they were bought with your own money. Do not waste paper, pencils, or chalk that is furnished by the government. Be careful to return all unused supplies. Do not appropriate any public property, however slight its value.

GRADE NEWS

Grade 2

We have a new pupil in our grade. Her name is Alberta Cannon.

We were all present all week and no one was tardy. Let us see if we can keep the good record up.

Grade 3

We are studying about birds. We expect to make a little park in our sand-table.

We have had perfect attendance all week.

Grade 6

The sixth grade had the afternoon off last Friday for having the best attendance in school for the month of March.

In the arithmetic contest, Grace McIntosh's side won by 100 points.

CURRENT ISSUES IN THE A. H. S.

Jubilee Singers Return to A. H. S.

A delightful program is promised by the Jubilee Singers, "Musical Messengers of Good Will," from Utica Normal and Industrial Institute, Wednesday, April 25th, in the High School auditorium. These colored five have sung for "the crowned heads of Europe," have been included in programs heard thru the network of stations associated with WJZ, and you will remember, they sang for you in the High School auditorium almost two years ago.

Someone wrote about them, "they preserve the striking rhythm, which more than anything else sets negro music apart. Their voices blend as one, and we have no hesitancy in saying they excel all known quartets for the closeness and beauty of their harmony."

And you can hear them for only ten cents on Wednesday, April 25, at 3:15. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Athletic Association.

Another Senior Dance April 20

The Seniors are planning a dance to be held in AHS, the auditorium Friday, April 20th. Music will be furnished by Bob Steven's Orchestra, and dancing will be from 9 to 1. Admission 25c.

Popularity Contest in A. H. S.

The mysterious item in the High school has at last been developed. It's a popularity contest. Papers, printed with various titles, such as "the most popular boy," "the wittiest," will be given to the students of the high school on Thursday, April 26. The blanks should be filled out honestly, naming the candidates who really deserve such titles. All papers must be handed in by Friday, April 27, at 3:15, when the contest closes.

Why Not Eat Leeks on Saturday?

To save offending other students and the teachers, it has been suggested that our leek eating students spend their Saturdays eating their favorite dish. It wouldn't be quite so offensive if everybody ate them but everybody doesn't like them.

Oratorio Poster Contest

Paint brushes, pencils and pens have been flying across poster paper for the last week. Everybody's doing it. Miss Russ is having an exhibition in the school library Friday, April 20, and the creator of the best oratorio poster will receive two tickets to the oratorio, free. Originality and neatness count.

Regents' Returns Excellent

School was a pleasant place Friday afternoon and smiling faces were numerous. All but one of the Regents papers that had been sent to Albany in January remained there. The percentage of passing January Regents papers has reached its highest, 66 per cent. The usual January percentage is about 50 per cent.

Something New—Track Team Candy Sale

This year finds our track team rather down and out financially. They are holding a candy sale in the school library Friday afternoon, as a first effort to raise money.

Troop 42 County's Largest

Altho only a year old, Troop 42, having 28 members is the largest in Allegany county. It also has the highest per cent of attendance at Scout meetings.

Troop Gets New Assistant Leader

At the weekly meeting, Friday, April 13th, Wilfred Brown took up the duties of assistant scout master. Roger Tuttle will continue as formerly.

Members on Six-Mile Hike

In spite of inclement weather, ten scouts under the leadership of assistant scoutmaster Wilfred Brown enjoyed an outing Saturday, April 14th to a point approximately three miles west of the village, in the hills north of the Andover-Wellsville highway. The group left the school building at 9:03 a. m. On the way out practice was had in following an obscurely marked trail. Lunch was had at 12 o'clock and the return on the highway was completed at 3 p. m.

THE SPY ? ?

Here I am again this week all excited about the big Popularity Contest. Have I heard the low-down about it? I'll say, and is it good? It's to be given next week (at least I guess so). I notice many of the students are "perking up" a bit, just bet they want to be the most popular or best dressed. Personally, I don't think they have a chance, cause I'm runnin' (no, not out for track). I hear it is rather long, takes in everything, but the faculty —and is the center of conversation in the AHS halls. Nothing can be done about it until after the election—and then the final results.

I see Mary McA. has a new boy friend—very tall and gentle. Can he dance? Better ask Mary.

Wizzie or else Beatrice has it bad. I think it's Wizzie. What do you think about it.

There is some rivalry between the McAndrew cousins—Joe and Red. Both wanted to escort the same girl home the other night but both didn't—only Joe.

I'm sure some of our fellows should go out for prize-fighting, at least it looked that way after what happened Friday night. That is something which we do not have at our school—pugilists.

Norma still seems to be all wrapped up in Bill G. Why don't you ever give some of the rest of us a break, Norma?

Joe, did you and Dick ever hide anything, and when you went to look for it, you found it gone? Too bad, but then I guess it was for the best, don't you think so?

I was asked just recently by one of our girl students if the Fire Department kept ladies' hose Now was that a bright question, Mary Monica? At your age you should know that they do.

Larry and Dot Crook frequently go calling on friends, you know, just a nice neighborly chat. Norma says she adores rollers, so I guess I will be all right to go again. Dad den and Crook.

A certain Soph girl says there should be a law against boys giving girls out of their dates, and a very severe penalty attached to those who make it a habit to make a date with a girl and then break it. You never heard of me doing such a thing, so why not follow in my footsteps?

What was in that big box you had at school the other day, Deke? Doesn't anyone know besides MML?

Some of these Freshmen get in my hair. Their actions are beyond me. They flirt, and flirt, and flirt, and how far do they get? Yet they keep it up. I just believe you can't keep a good man down.

Aren't some people lucky? Every day the Lynch trucks take the Lynch mob home (now don't take me wrong). It seems that cars are not big enough to hold them, so the trucks are used instead, and there seems to be at least breathing space now for them.

I noticed the Willys-Knight had its same old occupants out again last Sunday night. If only the car could talk, I could go into details, but as it doesn't, I can't say any more.

Remember, people, Friday night is the night of nights! Another Senior dance. Don't miss it. I will be there some place, so watch your actions and keep your nose clean. Until then, I'll be—

AROUND THE A. H. S. SPORT WORLD

with Don Brundage

A baseball league was organized at the conclave meeting held at Belmont Monday night. The league is called the New York State Athletic Association, and is made up of the following schools: Andover, Belmont, Canaseraga, Bolivar, Fillmore, and Scio. The county is divided into two divisions with Andover, Belmont and Canaseraga in the first division and Bolivar, Fillmore and Scio compose the second division. The winners of each division will play at the end of the season to decide the county championship. Andover's first league game is with Belmont and will take place May 11th.

Ray Geer has been elected manager of the baseball team. He has already obtained a game with Greenwood for Friday, April 20 at Greenwood.

The following track meets are to be held: Andover, Canisteo, and Wellsville at Wellsville, April 28th; the Interscholastic Meet at Alfred May 5th, and the Invitation Meet with Wellsville, May 19th and also the State Meet at Rochester at the end of the season.

Coach Huffcutt has ordered a javelin and discus for his track team. The shot which they now have is in good condition, so they will not have to buy a new one.

LETTER TO HI HERALD EDITOR

Andover, New York
April 17, 1934.

Editor-in-Chief Hi Herald,
Andover High School,
Andover, New York.
Dear Editor:

With the understanding that your paper will accept constructive criticism, I am writing this sweet letter to you, baby. Ha-cha!

In the first place, do you expect a group of grown-up people to go into a trance as a result of the bosh printed in the Hi Herald? Why not write something spicy such as a thesis on that immortal story, "The Return of the Swallow," by G. Harmie Belches. Every time I read one of your editorials it tickles my NRA (nice round Adams-apple to you). Who writes the Spy? My gosh, it sounds like a sixth grade boys' composition on "Flight of the Butterfly." I bet the person who writes the Spy still believes in Santa Claus. If he doesn't grow up, I'll tell the boogie man on him. Boe Beckley could be good if she had some victims to work on. Gives us a break, we know that "Carrot Top" Alderson is in love with every girl in the grammar school, so what?

Come on, put some life in the Hi Herald from now on. If you don't, we'll start reading the Grit.

MUSICAL REMINDERS

Operetta Date Changed

Miss Russ has announced that the date of the operetta "The Gypsy Rover," has been changed. It will now take place on Wednesday and Thursday, May 9th and 10th, respectively. Make it your point to reserve one or both of these nights in your date book, for the operetta. Remember, this is the big event of the year!

Miss Russ urges all those in the operetta to attend each rehearsal. The big event is a little more than two weeks off. This means a great deal of hard and thoro practicing within that time.

So, again, watch your rehearsals! A new system of keeping track of those who attend and those who don't has been concocted by Miss Russ. If you haven't signed the paper that Miss Russ is passing around, you better hurry up and do it before the next rehearsal, because the only way you can get in is to give your number to the bookkeeper. Something like giving a pay word, heh?

But that's not all: if you miss three rehearsals, you are out of the operetta.

That is all for this week, but watch the paper for more news about "The Gypsy Rover."

GUESS WHO ? ?

This young man makes up for in brains what he lacks in stature. He is smaller than the average, but his good marks make him stand out. He has dark hair and usually wears a green sweater and dark oxford pants. He is very popular among the freshmen, especially the girls, or to be more specific, the Independence girls. He also is seen hanging around the lockers of Jean M. and Alice Pope. His favorite saying comes when someone starts pushing him around, and it consists of: "All right, so and so."

Answer in next week's paper.

Answer to last week's Guess Who is Florence Parker.

BOE BECKLEY

Dear Boe:

I am a lonely freshman lad and right now everything seems to be very bad. I live in Elm Valley and thus can't get up to see my dream girl as often as I would like.

I am in an agony of despair as to how I may win her heart because I have quite a bit of competition. She is quite tall with brown hair and lives on good old Rochambeau Avenue.

I have tried making eyes and nearly every other trick I know to win her, but as yet have had no luck. She goes with the other boys as much as she does me, if not more. Please tell me how I can woo her with any hopes of winning her for my own.

Yours in despair.
Lovelorn "TISH"

Dear Lovelorn Tish:

You should have patience, my friend, even if you are a freshman. From your letter I take it she must be an upperclassman. Well if she is don't pay too much attention to her, because freshmen should always beware of upper classmen.

But, of course, if you are sure she is your one and only, go after her like a man and not like a fish, making goo-goo eyes. She'll think more of you if you do. Here's good advice. Come in a car and you can be the piece of the school even to your one and only. Take it from me, I know.

Your advisor,
BOE BECKLEY.

WHO IS THE PRETTIEST BLONDE?

THE LITERARY DEPARTMENT

THE LONE TIGER

By F. Weinhauer

One day while standing in front of a saloon in Prairie Junction, I heard a couple of fellows talking about the trouble the Diamond A ranch was having. I became interested right away, for I was quite a fellow to find out where any trouble was coming from. I inquired the way to the ranch and started on my way. My horse was a big shin. ing black and I called him "Lightning." He sure could get there.

I reached the ranch all right and seeing some men standing near the bunkhouse, I rode up to them. They were all standing there looking over and trying to make out what sort of a fellow I was. I had two big 45's which made them take notice.

"Howdy, boys," I said, "who might the boss be around here?"

"The boss is up to the ranch house," stated the foremost man, "but I can tell you now that there isn't any job waiting for you."

This fellow whom I took to be foreman acted very queerly, but I did not pay any attention to him and rode on to the ranchhouse.

When I got there I nearly fell off my horse for sitting on the porch watching me was the prettiest girl I had ever seen. I had not the slightest idea of finding a girl here.

I quickly got over my shock and taking off my hat I asked her if I might see the boss.

"You're speaking to the boss right now," she replied.

Well, you could have knocked me over with a feather. After getting over my second surprise I got down to business.

"I hear that you are having trouble here, Miss—?"

"Bears Sawyers," she replied.

"And I thought that I might help you get out of it."

"Well," she said, 'I am having a lot of trouble with rustlers and my boys cannot stop them. If I knew your name and some things that you have done, I might ask you to help me."

"My name is Happy Anderson, better known as 'The Lone Tiger,' and I—"

"The Lone Tiger," she exclaimed in surprise. "I have heard of you but never dreamed of seeing you, and you will get the job of ridding the ranch of rustlers if you want it."

"I sure do," I replied, "but I do not want you to tell the boys who I am for I am thinking that there might be a couple of your men mixed up in this rustlers game. If they ask you what my name is you may say that it is Charlie Tompkins."

"Go down to the bunk house and tell my foreman, Jake Saunders, to show you around the place and tell him you are working here now."

I bid her good-afternoon and went down to see the boys. After asking my name and what I was going to do I was shown around the place. After this was over I began to talk about how they were trying to stop the rustlers. I noticed that the foreman and another man, Shorty Blake, were not very interested in talking, but the rest were all for trying to find out just what was going on.

I worked for a few days with the bunch and in that time we missed a a bunch of cattle. I did not let on that I was any more interested than the rest but I kept my ears and eyes open and in the short time I was there I learned something.

I had seen Miss Sawyer a few times and every time my heart went leaping. Maybe she felt the same way toward me, for she would always give me a queer look. I knew I was in love with her but I had work to do before I did anything else.

The bunk houses were close together and some nights I would watch the rest to see if anything was going on. One night I saw a rider come close to the place where Saunders slept and after a while go away again. I mistrusted something was going to happen the next

April 18.—April is slowly giving way to spring, at the proverbial corner.

Trucking potatoes to market the past week has not helped our highways, as frost was at such a depth.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Schoonover were overnight guests last Thursday of Mrs. Wm. Behle and family of Pingrey Hill.

Ed. Conwell of Simpson, Pa., purchased potatoes of H. Dean last week, for his retail trade.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Horan and children enjoyed an evening at Wellsville's theatre last week.

Mrs. Daniher of Wellsville spent Thursday and Friday of last week at the Dougherty home, Mr. Dougherty and the children being ill.

Our snow fences are still standing, mute reminders of the winter that has passed.

Miss Mary Dean, accompanied by her niece, Dolores Ann, were Hornell visitors last Friday.

Miss Doris Dean was the guest last week of friends in Hornell and vicinity.

Howard Dean and family spent Sunday afternoon at the Daniher home in Wellsville.

Mrs. Anna Benjamin and brother, Leland, called on their sister, Mrs. Ray Hurlburt and family of Whitesville last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Schoonover were out of town visitors, Sunday.

Master Jack Horan spent Monday with his Grandmother Smith in Andover.

Howard Dean, Tony Dougherty and master Billy, were doing business in Hornell, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Erskine were paper hanging for Mesdames Dean and Dougherty Monday and Tuesday.

Robert Smith, George Dean and Leo Joyce, in the employ of Tony Dougherty, sorted and trucked potatoes from John Wahl's, Ed McAndrew's and Louis Dean's.

Alfred University

(Special to Andover News)

Alfred, N. Y., April 16.—Prof. Ray W. Wingate, director of music at Alfred University, will include several selections from Stephen Foster's compositions in his regular vesper organ service at the village church on Friday, April 20 at 7:30.

Many of Foster's compositions—"Swanee River," "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming,"—have become a part of the life of almost every American; so much so that Foster Hall, Indianapolis, Ind., has made a special memorial collection of the songs and compositions by Foster which could be found, preparing one thousand such sets as gifts to American libraries.

This "Foster Hall Reproductions of the Songs and Compositions and Arrangements of Stephen Collins Foster," containing about 200 selections, has been presented to Alfred University library. To make the collection complete, "Stephen Foster, America's Troubador," the biography of Foster by John Howard Tasker, has been added also. This biography is said by many to be the first important biographical work of 1934. Howard, thru his work as author, lecturer, musician, composer, is the logical person to write such a biography.

Plans are well under way, according to Dr. M. E. Holmes, dean of the New York State College of Ceramics at Alfred University, for an exhibit at the State Fair at Syracuse, Sept. 2-9, of glass blowing and pottery throwing.

These demonstrations will be in continual progress showing the actual work done by students at Alfred University in pottery, and the work of the professional glass blower making fine glassware. The department of glass technology at Alfred does not attempt to train workers for the applied mechanics of glass blowing since, according to Dean Holmes, "It requires years of training in technique but not a knowledge of the chemistry and physics of glass which are taught to the students here."

All of the materials necessary for the demonstrations, the prepared clay and glass, will be put into shape at Alfred University under the direction of the faculty there and taken to Syracuse.

The Utica Jubilee Singers are scheduled to appear at Alfred in a return engagement of negro songs on April 25, at 8 p. m. These singers have proved very popular as radio entertainers and in their trip abroad. They offered a highly pleasing program at their previous appearance at Alfred.

Davis Hill

(Mrs. Floyd Slocum, Reporter)

April 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Leo Davis are the proud parents of a son, Richard, born Sunday, April 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Briggs of Himrods were visitors at L. E. Davis a few days last week.

Mrs. Floyd Slocum and Dr. Scott were called to the home of Leo Davis, Sunday.

Mrs. Glover of Andover is taking care of Mrs. Leo Davis and babe.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Halsey and son, Charles, were called to Sweden Valley, Sunday by the illness of Mr. Halsey's aunt, Lillian Halsey.

Frank Halsey, Charles and Mrs. Lillian Ordiway attended the funeral of Mrs. Lillian Halsey at Sweden Valley, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Slocum were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slocum at Shongo and Mr. and Mrs. Barney Schriener of Wellsville, Sunday.

Clifford Montgomery and Bert Vaughn of Hornell were callers at Roy Meade's, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Burbank were visitors in Sayre, Pa., and Olean, last week.

Mrs. James Burbank attended the W. R. C. Federation meeting in Wellsville, Wednesday.

Carl Clarke is hauling potatoes off the hill this week.

Floyd Slocum is doing some plastering in a tenant house for Ligouri Lynch at Andover this week.

Whitesville

(Mrs. Ella Millspaugh, Reporter)

April 17.—Sugar makers had a good sap run Sunday, it is reported.

Mrs. R. S. Deck spent the week-end in Buffalo with her daughter.

The G. H. McKee house which was badly damaged by fire two months ago, is being rebuilt by the insurance company.

Mrs. L. S. Travis took 18 of her Sunday school class to Wellsville, Tuesday evening, to a picture show.

Rev. H. J. Marquis, F. W. Clark, Mrs. C. L. Travis, Mrs. Willis DeKay and Mrs. Ella Millspaugh attended a Hornell District luncheon at the Methodist church in Canisteo last Wednesday noon.

Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Marquis were in Friendship Wednesday evening, where Mrs. Marquis spoke to the Friendship W. F. M. S. on Missions.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seger were dinner guests of Mrs. Ella Millspaugh, Saturday evening.

Mrs. Floyd Hurlbert visited relatives in Kane, Pa., Friday and Saturday of last week.

Dr. Edward Comstock of Wellsville consulted with Dr. L. G. Probasco Saturday, on the case of Albert Seger, who has been very ill for several weeks.

Something like 125 attended the P. T. A. meeting of the Whitesville school last Tuesday evening. There was a fine program. The "Cheese Brothers" quartet furnished 20 minutes of very amusing entertainment and District Attorney Ward Hopkins gave as usual a very helpful and instructive address.

B. C. Williams and Lee Millspaugh of Andover were business visitors here both Thursday and Monday.

The Family DOCTOR by JOHN JOSEPH CAMES, M.D.

THE "NERVOUS" WOMAN

Hasn't she made the way turbulent for the family doctor? I mean just that—the nervous woman!

"Just nervous." What a diagnosis! And what a multitude of devils hide under the blanket of "nervousness." Why, a nervous woman is almost as intractable a customer as a nervous man!

The pelvic organs are the source of much of woman's nervous ailments. These will bear only certain modified discussion in a place like this—but I am going to mention one of my recent cases:

She was aged 29. Had one little daughter, seven years old. Did just housekeeping for her husband and the little family. There was no indication of serious, organic disease. She was a perfectly normal girl, not subject to more than ordinary family duties.

Nevertheless, she said her family was a "misery" to her. She was morose, discouraged, cried at the slightest provocation—admitted that she was a confirmed invalid. Feared tuberculosis!

Just one thing the matter: She had gotten out of bed too early, when that child was born—up at eleven days—she had been so "smart" after the happy, terrible event. Neighbors applauded—till the nervousness came.

Subinvolution of the uterus. After bringing the child to its term and surrendering it to the world—the uterus had not gone back to its normal size. It was large, heavy, dragging. That was the entire cause of the woman's nervousness that was fast disabling her. Fortunately she needed no surgery. Medicines, good advise, and a few office treatments—the whole process took only two months. She is now well and happy.

Let our young mothers think over this. If we have lived RIGHT we are not due to be indisposed.

THE HI HERALD

night so I spoke to the boys whom I knew I could trust and said that we would stay that night and watch from a hill to see what was going to happen. That night we slipped quietly out and made our way up the hill. The moon was shining brightly so we could see very clearly all the surroundings. About midnight we saw a fellow come from the bunkhouse and get a horse and go across the fields.

We had a couple of horses hitched near us so another fellow and I said we would follow him and leave the rest to watch. We trailed him and pretty soon we saw other horsemen. They were headed in the direction where the cows were not guarded and I knew by that that they were going to help themselves. We thought we would let them take some and see in what direction they were taking them and then scare them off.

We let them get quite a long distance and saw they were heading for Dry Pass which was a place where they could not be followed, for it wass all rock.

We were within shooting distance so we let go. There were seven of them. As soon as we had fired they bunched together and were going to fight it out with us. That did not bother us any so we began to gallop around them and when they saw we were going to cut them off they began to fire in earnest. I heard several bullets whistle by my head and was lucky not to get hit. We were getting the best of them for already four were down and one had disappeared entirely. We ceased shooting and told the remaining two if they would surrender we would not harm them. They quickly took us up and helped us drive the cattle back. They would not tell us who the leader was but said they would help us get back the cattle that they had stolen before. We took them to the ranch and let them sleep for the rest of the night.

The men that were stationed on the hill reported having seen a rider come in shortly before us, put his horse away and go to bed.

The next morning I told Barbara that we had run across some rustlers but did not know who their leader was for he had sneaked away in the meantime.

The two rustlers whom we had captured led the outfit to the place where they were keeping the cattle for shipment so we drove them back. On the way I noticed Saunders look at these two men and say, "I will get even with you." He did not dare to do anything then but I said to myself that I would keep my eye on him.

A little while later I was riding with the rest of the boys and as we were going thru a pass a bullet whistled past my ear. Whirling I saw a figure duck behind a rock. I told the boys to circle around so this fellow could not get away.

Finding that he was trapped he surrendered. And when asked why he had taken a shot at me he said that he had been offered a large amount of money if he killed me. Asking him who told him to do it he started to reply but there came a shot from a distance and he fell. It did not kill him but seriously wounded him and we had to get him home right away.

Looking around I did not see Saunders so asked the men where he had gone. They said he had slipped away.

Sending the wounded man home with two of the men, I set out with the rest to catch that sniper and when we arrived at the place where he had shot from, I picked up his trail and my horse being the fastest of them all, I set out in pursuit.

When I was within a hundred yards of him he saw that he could not get away so he got off his horse and took to shelter.

As soon as I was within shooting distance he opened up. I was looking for this and made my horse see saw all over the place. By doing so he could not get a steady bead on me. I was also shooting back and one of my bullets struck him for he stopped firing suddenly and stealing cautiously up to him I found him dead. It was Saunders.

I went back home and after telling Barbara about it I asked her if she would go riding with me. She consented and we set out in the early dusk.

"Now that the rustlers are taken care of I will not be needed any more," I began. "Slim Perkins can take the place of Saunders for he is a very capable man."

"But why must you go, Happy?" she asked. "I need you here. You have accomplished what you set out to do but you also did something else."

That settled the situation and if anybody had been watching they would have seen two of the happiest people in the world riding close together thru the early night.
