1934 LEGISLATION ON MOTOR VEHICLES

privilege and now we have a still further extension of the privilege.

Chapter 474, effective May 9, 1934, amends Section 62 by providing that a person, firm, association or corporation engaged in the business of manufacturing or of buying and selling motor vehicles and having dealer's registration may use that registration for the operation of vehicles "held on consignment for sale." Heretofore it has been necessary for the vehicle to be owned by the manufacturer or dealer in order to make operation legal under his special registration but it was thought that this seriously interfered with the business of dealers who accept and hold for sale vehicles belonging to other dealers.

Chapter 414, effective June 1, 1934, amends Section 65 by requiring every owner of a registered motor vehicle or motor cycle who replaces the engine in the same with another engine having a different number from that of the first engine to file forthwith with the Commissioner or his agent a statement giving the old engine number, the new engine number, the registration number of the vehicle, the name of the owner and any other information which the Commissioner may require. The Commissioner, or his agent, will thereupon issue a new certificate of registration without fee. This change simplifies matters for owners, for a statement is accepted under the new law instead of an affidavit and the fee of $1.00 is abolished. The measure was designed to aid in keeping the records of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles up to date with respect to engine numbers of registered vehicles without greatly inconveniencing vehicle owners. Now, when an engine is replaced all that is necessary is to send a signed statement to the Commissioner or his agent, setting forth the facts.

Chapter 439, effective May 9, 1934, adds a new subdivision to Section 70 which permits a peace officer to arrest a person without a warrant upon suspicion where there has been a case of driving while intoxicated coupled with accident or collision or in case of leaving the scene of an accident without stopping to report and the peace officer has reasonable cause to believe that the violation of law was committed by the person arrested.

Chapter 447, effective June 1, 1934, amends Section 71 and is aimed at non-resident motorists who violate the law and are convicted in our courts. A non-resident convicted of homicide or assault arising out of the operation of a motor vehicle or motor cycle, of driving while intoxicated, of leaving the scene of an accident without reporting or of any of certain other offenses will have his privilege of operating any motor vehicle or motor cycle in this state revoked and the privilege of the operation within this state of any motor vehicle or motor cycle owned by him may be revoked. Furthermore, such privileges of a non-resident may be suspended or revoked in a case where the license or certificate of registration of a resident may be suspended or revoked. The act provides that the privileges of a non-resident may be restored by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles but not otherwise.

Chapter 435, effective May 9, 1934, amends Section 71 and eliminates the old provision that a person's license to drive must be revoked because of a third or subsequent conviction for reckless driving or exceeding a speed limit during such person's entire career as a driver, and provides for the use of discretion in the case of habitual offenders. In aid of making a suspension or revocation in the case of a habitual offender, the amendment provides that a hearing need not be given where a revocation or suspension is based solely on a court conviction or convictions.

Chapter 231, effective April 17, 1934, adds a new subdivision to Section 81. The new subdivision is designed to protect school children while entering or leaving school busses. If there is displayed on the front and on the rear of a bus used solely for the transportation of children to and from school a sign with letters at least four inches high designating the vehicle as a school omnibus, every vehicle overtaking or meeting it while it is stopped for the purpose of receiving or discharging passengers must come to a complete stop and then proceed with caution.

Chapter 492, effective May 9, 1934, amends Section 86 to permit the legislative body of a city or a village, or any municipal official or body designated by it, to limit or prohibit parking in private driveways or in spaces in front of private driveways.

Chapter 410, effective June 1, 1934, amends Section 9A-a and adds to the list of offenses mentioned therein an offense in any other state or in any province of Canada "which consists of operating a motor vehicle or motor cycle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor." This amendment is the result of the variety of language used in the statutes of the various jurisdictions to describe driving while intoxicated. The new law is designed to describe that offense under its various names. Said Section 94-a is the section of a motor vehicle financial responsibility law which provides for a suspension of the license and certificate of registration because of conviction of any one of certain offenses.

Chapter 438, effective May 9, 1934, amends Section 94-b to provide that no person shall have his license or registration suspended because of the failure to pay a judgment in the case of any judgment where the cause of action arose prior to September 1, 1929, the effective date of the motor vehicle financial responsibility law. Heretofore, the law has been administered upon the theory that the important date when the judgment became final. If a judgment became final after the effective date of the act and remained unpaid for the statutory period of 15 days a suspension was regarded as necessary until such time as the judgment was paid and proof of financial responsibility given for future accidents regardless of the date when the cause of action arose.

Chapter 451, effective May 9, 1934, does not amend the Vehicle and Traffic Law. It is simply a part of the session laws. However, it relates to the Vehicle and Traffic Law and should be mentioned here.

At one time the motor vehicle financial responsibility act provided that a person convicted of driving without a license must furnish evidence of financial responsibility. This provision was stricken from the law but certain persons had been affected by the provision while it was in the law and the repeal of the provision had no retroactive effect. As a matter of fairness it was thought that those convicted of driving without a license before the repeal of the act should be treated like those convicted after. Hence, this measure provides that "No person shall hereafter be required to furnish evidence of financial responsibility or to continue to furnish such evidence pursuant to section 94-a of the Vehicle and Traffic Law because of having been convicted of driving a motor vehicle without a license or of having pleaded guilty to a charge of so driving or of having forfeited bail after being arrested upon a charge of so driving."

Chapter 464, effective May 8, 1934, does not amend the Vehicle and Traffic Law. It adds a new section to the County Law but is of interest to motorists. It provides that the office of each county clerk who acts as the agent of the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles shall be kept open for the purpose of transacting motor vehicle business from 9 o'clock in the forenoon until 5 o'clock in the afternoon except during the months of July and August when the hours shall be from 9 o'clock in the forenoon to 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The new law was enacted because of the early closing hours provided by law for the office of the clerk in certain counties.

Assembly Bill introductory number 31, print number 31, provides that auto trucks and trailers which are used for the transportation of goods, wares and merchandise within this state not exclusively in interstate commerce must have New York registration regardless of what other registration such vehicles may have and that the operators of such vehicles must have New York licenses to drive.

Senate Bill introductory number 816, print number 2503, provides that a motor vehicle or motor cycle operated on any public highway of this state to transport persons or property for hire or profit between points in this state must have New York registration regardless of what other registration it may have and that the driver must have a New York license to drive.

Give Drayman Fine Horse

Cuba residents have presented their village drayman, Charles Wilcox with a new horse to replace the faithful chestnut which he had driven for years and was a favorite of all Cuba youngsters who grieved when he died. Mr. Wilcox had procured a horse to do his work which was inferior to the one he had driven so long.

He opened the stable one morning recently to find this fine "black beauty" installed there which had been purchased by subscription of his townspeople as a present in appreciation of his years of kindly service.

$20,000 to Fight Pests

An appropriation of $20,000 to study Dutch elm disease, alfalfa snout beetle, and yellow dwarf of potatoes has been granted to the Cornell University agricultural experiment station by the State of New York.

Three-fourths of the money will go for studies into the Dutch elm disease which now threatens the state's finest shade tree. Second use of the remaining money goes for a study of the alfalfa snout-bettle now rampant in Oswego county. It destroys alfalfa, raspberries, rhubarb and other crops.

Third use of the appropriation will be to discover a check for the yellow-dwarf of potatoes, particularly bad last year in the seedbeds of western New York.

The fund is immediately available.

Harry Bullock of Fillmore was gored by a hog last week. A gash seven inches long was made in his right leg. Mr. Bullock loaded the animal on his wagon and drove three miles to his home before he drove to the Fillmore hospital for treatment.

BAKERS' STORE NEWS
Published by Baker Bros. Hardware, Andover, N. Y.

The American people ate 4,000,000,000 pounds more meat in 1933 than in 1932. The soup is thickening.

Cheap Paint
Is a product that fools no one but the people who buy it, and pay for having it brushed on their buildings. Only those with plenty of money can afford its luxury; to the man who must practice economy, exercise judgment and make every dollar buy one hundred cents worth of real value, cheap paint is more of an extravagance than money given away for lottery tickets, because the lottery fan sometimes wins—the cheap paint buyer never!
The saying, often repeated, that doctors do not take their own medicine is a libel more or less on that profession; there are crooks in every line of business, but the great majority are instinctively honest.
Advertising both by air and in print has grown into a colossal mass of prevarication; it is one of our most insidious rackets.
Many of the current publications on news stands today carry full page display of a nationally known maker of paint products who are trying to induce the public to use their paint. Recently they wished to paint a group of buildings comprising one of their large Western New York plants and did they use their own wonderful paint? They did not, but purchased 160 gallons of Benj. Moore's Pure Linseed Oil House Paint for the job.
Now there was no sentiment involved in this transaction, it was a hard-boiled business proposition; they bought Moore's Paint because actual weather tests had proven it was the best paint for their purpose. It is best and most economical for your paint job; buy it with confidence.
Sold in Andover only by Baker Brothers.

Fly Time
This cool dry weather is holding back the spring crop of flies and other winged insects that usually swarm in at this season.
But don't be anxious, there will be plenty later on, it only takes a couple of flies to drive a bald headed man to frenzy and one mosquito can upset the content of a large household.
Prepare your home with an ample supply of spray and fix up the screens. Our stock is adequate to all reasonable demands.

Gas Masks
We suspect that some day the worms and bugs that devour the growths of our yards and gardens will develop a resistance that will protect them against sprays and dry poisons.
But in the meantime you can make most of these pests very unsteady by using Bug Death, the good old safe and sure insecticide.
Bug Death kills all bugs, beetles and worms that work above the ground, is safe to use as the poison content is very low and is cheap enough so it may be used liberally.
Ten cents a pound, three pounds of a quarter. Comes in bulk. Buy as you wish.

Boring Holes
That is moths business and they work at it without allowing any adverse condition to divert them from their job.
You have already or are about to put away the winter woolens; when you bring them out next fall if you find them drilled with holes, it will be too bad and nobody but yourself to blame.
Be sure to protect stored woolens in cedar chests or moth proofed bags. We furnish you strong bags for ten cents each.
Then, before closing up the container, spray thoroly with a good insect killing spray. Not all sprays will kill moths, but we offer one that will do it thoroly and it sells for only 75c per quart. With a bottle of this liquid and a good sprayer used as sense dictates you may lay aside moth worries for the season.

Easy Shaving
With Bay Rum Shaving Cream, a Dr. Warren product.
You shavers who have a tender skin and are troubled with pimples from ingrowing whiskers will be delighted with this preparation. The soap is richly infused with the distilled oil from the West Indian Bayberry, which is possessed of rare soothing and healing qualities.
You will be pleased with the feel of your face and the after effects when you have used this Cream and this special introductory offer is worth your attention.
A liberal tube for 15 cents (25c value) and your money back for the empty tube if it fails to satisfy.
