Love Triangle at Birdsall

An Allegany county love triangle at Birdsall was given considerable publicity last week thru the arrest of the two men concerned. Both are in jail. Threats to kill were involved. Milo Wheeler, 20 years old, farm laborer, boarding with J. Clinton Strait, 34 years old, cheese factory milk gatherer, threatened to kill Strait's housekeeper, 18-year-old Mary F. Northrup, unless she would go to Pennsylvania and marry him. While he did chores she hid in the cellar of the house on a farm in the town of Birdsall, but he discovered her hiding place and literally dragged her out at the point of a shotgun, forcing her into his car. As they drove along, the young woman persuaded Wheeler to stop at the home of Lee Worder, an acquaintance, where she got out of the machine and eluded him.

Wheeler was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Floyd E. Young of Canaseraga and lodged in jail at Belmont, charged with violating two years probation following admitted chicken thefts last September in Birdsall. Friday he was sentenced to one year in Monroe County penitentiary by Judge Walter N. Renwick.

Wheeler charged Strait with threatening him with an ancient revolver, resulting in Strait's arrest and plea of guilty to disorderly conduct before Justice of the Peace Roy M. Gregory, Birdsall. Gregory sent him to the county jail for 30 days. Strait has a record of previous arrests.

Two Accused; One Demands Trial

William Kerr, Olean, 23, single, laborer, and Clarence E. Wilcox, 30, of Bath, single, laborer, both arrested by Sheriff Edson A. Brigham and Deputy Schuyler Cline last week, were before County Judge Walter N. Renwick, Friday, accused of being fathers of children born out of wedlock. Kerr admitted the charge and agreed to pay $2.50 weekly until $500 had been provided for the mother. He was released. Wilcox declared he was not guilty and demanded trial at the August 13 term of county court. He was released on bail.

Can a College Woman and Author Cook?

At least sometimes. Altho Muriel Earley Sheppard has gained distinction as a writer, in the meantime she has not neglected to study the art of cooking, being a lover of good food, she evidently believes that the surest way to have it for her family is to know how to cook it as appears by her illustrated article in the July issue of the American Home Magazine, under the title "Cooking in the Carolina Blue Ridge."

Working Toward Higher Egg Prices

The eight Allegany county poultry co-operators with the Farm Bureau will be visited July 12-13 by Prof. L. M. Hurd, of the Ithaca agricultural college poultry department. He will make visits to each farm checking over housing, feeding, handling, shipping, etc., with suggestions as to heightening egg quality, thus securing better prices.

A business meeting was called to order and the following officers were elected for 1935: Mabel Davis, president; Menzo Burdick, treasurer; Erma Goodnoe, secretary. It was voted to hold the next reunion at Genesee Park on the last Saturday in June.

The evening was spent in dancing. Music was furnished by Freeman Rogers and Dick Wittie.

Arranging Bean Marketing Agreement

Supervisor Quincy J. Smith and L. H. Jamison, Fillmore bean growers, and County Farm Bureau agent Earl C. Foster were in Batavia, June 27th in conference with 100 representative bean growers and dealers from eleven counties regarding a bean marketing agreement to be operation with the Federal Agricultural Adjustment Administration. A committee of five growers and five dealers will draft an agreement to be submitted later for the bean producing sections of New York State and Michigan. Following the meeting a conference was held with officials of the Empire State Potato Growers to plan for the August 9th field day at Fillmore.

MAY SOON BUY CHICKS BY SEX

Japanese Method is Being Widely Introduced in the United States.

Chick buyers in a year or two may order their one-day-old chicks by sex when they purchase from commercial hatcherymen, says L. M. Hurd of the New York State college of agriculture. He points to a method of determining sex in chicks, developed to a science in Japan, which is being widely introduced into the United States.

Federal department of agriculture experts are now teaching members of poultry departments of state universities and colleges the methods employed in Japan. Members of the poultry department at Cornell have already had such instruction and have tried it out in a practical way with much success in New York farms, Mr. Hurd says.

He notes that male chicks may be separated from the females with 80 to 90 per cent. accuracy by those trained in the Japanese method. In the future, farmers may buy only half the usual number of chicks to raise pullets for their laying flocks by purchasing only the femlaes. This will help to reduce feed and equipment costs. The males may be sold to those who specialize in production for the broiler market.

The technique of determining sex in chicks may be learned in two days to a week, Mr. Hurd says, but a thousand chicks at least should be studied to obtain speed and skill.

To Offer Poultry Sex-Determination School

Instruction in determining the sex of baby chicks will be offered by the poultry department at Cornell either in October or November, according to L. M. Hurd of the New York State College of Agriculture.

This school, he says, will be for poultrymen, hatcherymen, county agents and others who are interested in this new poultry development. Arrangements can be made at any time, however, thru county agents, whereby college specialists can be obtained for demonstrations. It is hoped that the school will attract large numbers who wish to keep abreast of trends in the poultry industry.

Potato growers thruout Western New York will be glad to know that the bill appropriating money to investigate the yellow dwarf disease has been signed, and studies are already under way.

Rev. Frank H. Bisbee, Pastor

There are many different ideas about religion. Some seem to think that it is a creed. Others think it is a mere form. The idea seems to prevail with many that religion is merely a way of getting into Heaven. We need to remember that a considerable part of religion is "Worthy Living." This will be the pastor's Sunday morning sermon subject.

There is no need of a Sunday School rally during the remaining Sundays of July. The sessions will be short. This is an appeal to you. Remain for Sunday School next Sunday.

A special meeting of Steuben-Elmira Presbytery has been called to meet in the First Presbyterian church of Hornell on July 9th at 2 p. m. Two items of business will be considered. Made to Order

"To them who in the love of Nature, hold communion with her visible forms she speaks a various language"—also in the variety of seasons with which she is pleased to present for our analysis you will always find her playing favorites.

Some years abundant yields of grain; then she will show what she can do with fruits. We have also our fat and lean seasons for the growing of potatoes and other root crops.

Whatever she has provided for this season in the growth of food for man and beast, her weather is made to order for all sorts of exterior painting: absence of moisture, bright sunny days, very few flies and insects, all favor a condition that takes the speculation out of how your paint job will turn out.

If you are not prepared to do a complete job, you should at least put on a first coat, cover the surface with a preparation that will seal up all spots that have shown a tendency to chalk blister or peel.

For this purpose you will use Moore's First Coater, a product that has been developed by years of experiment to so thoroly "seal up" all surface that no matter what happens underneath your finishing coats of paint will not be pushed out of place, but will stay on and fulfill their service of protection and beauty until completely worn thru by action of the elements.

Don't let anyone fool you with a substitute for Moore's First Coater, for there is nothing on the market that may be classed as a competitor. It is the only one that has won by actual test its right to first place.

Bring us your paint problems. We have the advice of experts on exactly how to meet every up-to-the-minute condition, and it will be given you cheerfully without cost or obligation. If you will allow us to put our finger in your paint pie we will help you to more service for less money.

Don't be Dumb

Tidex full-bodied motor oil does not make a lot of noise or extravagant claims from the pages of newspapers or magazines, but it does lubricate motors thoroly and efficiently. And when you buy Tidex you pay for oil only, not a lot of printed pags that returns you no value.

We carry all grades of this oil; you may buy the heft adapted to your motor and the price is only $1.00 tax paid for a two-gallon sealed can of SAE 30-40 or 50, only one shilling a quart.

The next time you pay 25 or 30 cents for a quart of loud spoken motor oil, just figure up your dumb streak and see how much it is costing you.

Refrigerator Space

If you want to save money on keeping foods cool and clean, buy yourself a set or two of glass refrigerator jars.

They are square, have tight covers, stack in small space, make use of all corners and save a lot of work keeping the box clean.

Health Camp Improvements to Cost $1,357

The news item in this paper recently to the effect that the improvements to be made at the Cuba Lake health camp for undernourished children would cost $430 was not strictly correct. That figure only covers labor to be paid for by the TERA as work relief. The cost of materials to be used, and other costs, will bring the figure to $1,357 it is estimated. A dining hall and wading pool, with sidewalk to connect the pool and the camp, are to be constructed.

Cake Contest for Grange Women

At the regular meeting of Andover Grange, Wednesday evening, the Service and Hospitality Committee will furnish the program. Each lady who wishes to enter a cake contest will please bring a cake at this time.

Judges will be non-Grange members.
