Band Concerts Start This Thursday Night

Will Play Concerts in Legion Park This Year. Erecting New Band Stand This Week.

The summer concerts by the Andover American Legion band start this Thursday evening in Legion Park, where a temporary band stand is being erected.

The park will make a fine setting for concerts, giving plenty of parking space on the two streets about the park and getting away from the traffic noise of Main street. The Legion boys will place several benches in the park in the near future, similar to the one that is there now, for the benefit of those who do not have cars in which to sit, or who prefer to move about in the park.

While the Legion boys are glad to have the park used by everyone, they are asking that it is not misused. The lawns and shrubbery in the park represent a considerable amount of labor and money, and people using the park are requested to use every precaution that the shrubs and lawn are not damaged.

Following is the program to be rendered by the band this Thursday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock:

March -------- Tuscarawas
W. L. King
Serenade -------- Sweet Dreams
H. C. Miller
Overture -------- Mignonette
J. Baumann
Characteristic March -- Trombonium
R. N. Withrow
March -------- Chicago World Fair Centennial -- Carl Mader

The World is Waiting for the Sunrise

New York State Growers to Vote On Potato Order

Referendum in July—Aim For Marketing Plan to Adjust Surplus. Regional Meetings Held.

Some time in July, all potato growers in New York State will have an opportunity to vote for or against the proposed marketing order of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration which applies to 17 important states that produce late potatoes.

Regional meetings have been held in five different parts of the state to explain the agreement to representative growers and county agents. These are to be followed by public hearings, one at Riverhead on June 17 and the other at Warsaw on June 23, where changes and revisions can be proposed.

The proposed marketing agreement would regulate the handling of Irish potatoes in interstate commerce, in the 17 states, including New York. It would prohibit the shipment of cull potatoes in interstate commerce in periods of moderate surplus, but no restriction would be placed on the shipment of No. 1 grade potatoes. The aim is to provide a flexible marketing plan to adjust the size of the potato surplus in any year.

The agreement also proposes prorata assessments among shippers for administrative expenses, administration of the program by seven specified areas, an area committee for each area composed of representatives of growers and handlers to administer the program and recommend marketing provisions, and exemptions for producers if shipping restrictions prevent the disposal of as large a proportion of the individual supply as the average disposed of by other growers.

An order can be issued if two-thirds or more of the growers who take part in the referendum in July vote in favor of it, or if producers of two-thirds or more of the volume of potatoes as shown in the referendum.

Resolutions of Respect

Whereas, the Master of the Great Grange above, in His Infinite wisdom has deemed it best to remove from our midst our beloved brother, J. Harvey Backus, and

Whereas, We realize that in his going we have all lost a friend and Brother—one whose aims and interest were always for the betterment of the community,

Whereas, We shall sorely miss his genial smile and cordial greetings,

Be it Resolved, That our charter be draped in his memory, that we extend to the family our most sincere heartfelt sympathy and that these resolutions be printed in the News, a copy be spread on the record of the Grange and a copy given to the bereaved family.

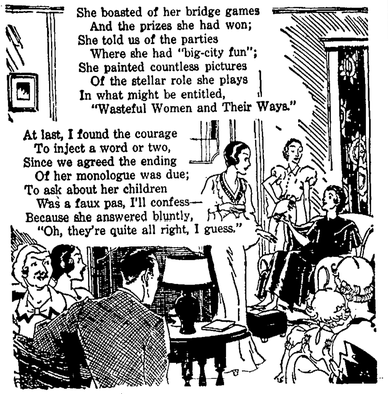
A Guest from the Big City

by LAWRENCE HAWTHORNE

We listened all the evening
While she bragged about such things
As motor cars and money
And fur coats and diamond rings.
She talked of gowns and facials,
And she raved about her home—
She listed all its contents,
From the basement to the dome!

She boasted of her bridge games
And the prizes she had won;
She told us of the parties
Where she had "big-city fun";
She painted countless pictures
Of the stellar role she plays
In what might be entitled,
"Wasteful Women and Their Ways."



At last, I found the courage
To inject a word or two,
Since we agreed the ending
Of her monologue was due;
To ask about her children
Was a faux pas, I'll confess—
Because she answered bluntly,
"Oh, they're quite all right, I guess."

First Home Game Of Season Here This Sunday

Angelica Plays in Andover Sunday for the First Home Game. Rain Stopped Last Week's Game.

The Andover Octagon league team will make its first appearance in a league game on the home field Sunday, when the fast Angelica team plays here.

Last year Angelica and Andover were "nip and tuck," but Manager McGill is confident that the local team has improved this year under the coaching of Hollis Hunt and will give Andover fans a good exhibition of baseball.

Come out and support your local team, give them a little encouragement and see them go.

The weather man has raised havoc with the baseball schedule the past two weeks, so Andover has only played one league game so far, which they won from Scio.

Final Unification Step Taken in Welfare Services

Eighth District Formed and the County Re-Districted. Became Effective June 1st.

The final step has been taken in Allegany county's unification of welfare services by incorporating the administration of aid to dependent children into the case loads of the district workers. This completes arrangements for supervision by the same social worker of all relief categories. To make it possible, the eighth district has been formed and the county re-districted. The new districting became effective June 1.

Since the Board of Child Welfare turned this work over to the County Commissioner of Public Welfare December 1, 1937, Miss Twila Redington of Bolivar, has acted for him in investigating all applications for Aid to Dependent Children thruout the county. Aid to Dependent Children had been commonly known as "Mothers' Allowances", and incorrectly called "Widows' Pensions."

Under the new plan, Miss Redington takes the eighth district in which she will handle applications for Home Relief, Old Age Assistance, Aid to the Blind, Hospitalization, and all other forms of relief, on the same basis as do the other seven workers.

The plan of one social worker investigating all types of relief with in one area originated in this county and was made effective January 1, 1937. Under the unified plan there is a great saving in overlapping mileage and applicants are visited by only one person, who may supervise more than one type of aid given in a family. Dr. Ivan G. Howe, Commissioner of Public Welfare, and Miss Marianne Sixbey, directing the investigating staff until her recent resignation becomes effective next week, have brought into being an economical plan which has been favored by the State Welfare Department and has attracted merited attention among social workers thruout New York State.

The new schedule of office hours and places where applicants may meet investigators without coming to Belmont has been somewhat altered, as follows:

District 1, Kenneth L. Merriman, Belmont, investigator, covers the towns of Allen, Angelica and Belfast. Office hours are Thursday at Belfast, Saunders' store, 10 to 12; Angelica, town hall, 1:30 to 4 p. m., Thursdays.

District 2, Miss Shirley Frick, Wellsville, investigator for the town of Wellsville, office hours at city hall, Wellsville, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, 1 to 3 p. m.

District 3, Mrs. Lorna Schram, Bolivar, towns of Bolivar, Clarksville, Genesee and Wirt. Office hours Monday only, Bolivar, town hall, 9 to 12 a. m.

District 4, Roger Williams, Stannards, towns of Alma, Andover, Independence and Willing. Office hours at Andover, Tuesday, 9 to 12 a. m., Baker's store; Stannards, Williams' store, Wednesday, 9 to 12 a. m.

Home Bureau Holds Garden Party

The garden party and meeting of the Andover Home Bureau was held June 6th at the home of Mrs. Carlyle Myers for the business meeting at 1:30. From there the unit visited the Baker-Common flower garden and pool and was greeted by Mrs. Huber Watson who escorted the members thru the Watson's beautiful lawns and gave a short talk on the advantages of our homes and gardens in comparison to the homes and lands of the winter environment in Northern Labrador, where Mr. and Mrs. Watson spent the winter months. The last garden visited was the beautiful He-Ra-Ed flower gardens of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Thorne. The guests were invited to the dining room, beautifully decorated with flowers and the hostesses, Mrs. Myers and Mrs. Thorne served ice cream and cake which was greatly enjoyed by all.

In spite of the untimely rain, it was a very enjoyable afternoon, there being eleven present. Each one present decided Andover has many beautiful flower gardens and places of interest and are hoping to visit other gardens in the near future.
