

The following statistical statement of the deaths of persons who are temperate or compared with those who are intemperate, should be potent enough to convince those who cannot refuse to believe. The statistician of the London General Life Insurance Company says that if 100,000 intemperate persons be taken from fifteen to seventy years of age, and an equal number of corresponding ages who are not intemperate, thirty-two out of the former will die at an average of the latter. Out of 100,000 of each, 16,907 of the intemperate will be dead before fifty years of age, but of those who are not intemperate 4,226 only will be dead. From fifty years to sixty, the comparative number of deaths will be 6,438 and 2,254, and from sixty to seventy years they will be 45,175 and 32,360.

The anti-Ku-Klux committee, consisting of Senator Scott and Representatives Stevenson and Van Trump, returned to Washington on Saturday from a sojourn of four weeks in South Carolina. According to the Washington Evening Star, one hundred and eighteen cases of whipping were proved in one township in Spartanburg county. In all parts of the country the murders and cruel whippings by the Ku Klux had not terrified the inhabitants, that nearly every negro man and Republican white man had slept in the woods every night. They showed scarred backs, gun-shot wounds, maimed ears and other proofs of the violence they had suffered.
