WAFTINGS
from "Wandering Willie"

A FELLOW came into the plant last week and wanted to know where a certain street was in our fair village. We told him, and in about 20 minutes he was back—wanting to know where a certain street was. So we told him again. And back he came before he left town to tell us that he found it by asking everyone he saw on the streets.

Now that winter will be here before long, we were thinking that it would make a nice winter pastime for Street Commissioner Boyd to set down and whittle out a few street signs and have them painted. It would work fine as we have none in the burg at the present writing. We have the streets (well paved and curbed) but after getting on one of these fine streets you don't know where you are.

You could make it a set of memorial to the fellow who spent so doggone much time seeing Andover thru a windshield, Fay.

SOME of the Auxiliary gals don't like the way we have been kidding them so just to get even we won't even mention anything about their winning first prize over at Dansville the other night.

The following smacks strongly of "horse play" on the part of our village cut up. But we will reprint the little "lost ad," gratis hoping that it will do its required bit

LOST A red headed driver, some place near Main street, Tuesday afternoon. When last seen the driver was crawling in a coal-bin window. Finder please return the driver to his seat. (Signed) The W. F. Caswell Estate Home

THE two extremes were demonstrated this week Wednesday when the weather was a little warmish on Main street. "Rollie" Shaff came to complain about the heat and to satisfy his curiosity went out to look at the large thermometer in front of the Red & White and lo and behold the mercury was trying to sneak up to the top of the thing. So "Rollie" hiked in the store and grabbed an icicle hoping the temperature down from 120 to a more normal degree of heat. On stopping in the store we found that the temperature varied 134 degrees between Main street and the inner most part of the place (the frozen-food cabinet). Outside registered 120 and in the cabinet the temperature stood at 14 below. P.S.—We felt cooler after reading the latter.

It has been said that the way to a man's heart is thru his stomach. This may sound a bit coarse, but yet, what man does not like good food, and what man is there that will not be made a bit happier each day if he gets good meals?

WATCH REPAIRING

Richard Trowbridge came into the store last Monday morning and said he was looking for a place to put a work bench for jewelry repairing.

After listening to what he had to say, and being always anxious to give a worthy Andover boy a chance to get started in business, we gave him space in our store.

He has taken the course in watch making at Elgin, Ill., a school sponsored and maintained by the Elgin Watch Co., and has had practical experience besides.

If in need of having work done of this kind, give him a call.

You will find him in the front part of our east side store.
