WAFTINGS

from "Wandering Willie"

EXCITEMENT ran high on our Main street Wednesday night when a little pussy cat tried to do a Corrigan in the display window of the Wellsville Feed & Supply company store. Kitty took a nose-dive down between two sacks of flour and the window pane, and there she stuck (in a most undignified position). Along came a youngster and noticed the upside-down cat trying to do a toe dance on its ear and immediately summoned some bigger folks, who immediately summoned a cop, who immediately got in touch with the owners at Wellsville. But time was a-wasting and pussy's ears were getting warmer all the while.

The crowd got bigger and bigger and the European situation was forgotten entirely as kitty's struggles got weaker. Then talk turned to breaking in the plate glass window, breaking down the door, etc., but all the labor and expense was spared when some of the boys sprung the bottom of the large rear doors of the place and a small-sized boy crawled thru and rescued the dizzy cat.

WE don't know whether the following love-poem was written by one of our more languid high school Seniors or not, but we found it on Yannie running around with it the other night. They say it was composed in writing it, she says. How it is:

I's S A, now I mean 2 —

The girl without a B.
The belle of Ripple P

BOY, but did the firemen reach out for the "long green" being circulated Saturday noon! Some of them had given up all hopes of ever getting their fingers on the dough in question, but it didn't take long to pacify them with the little white envelopes.

IT'S too bad the tennis grounds at the athletic field couldn't have been finished earlier in the year, as they certainly draw the players up there every time the sun shines—and lots of times when it doesn't. More than one evening we've noticed the courts filled with players shivering up a sweat in order to keep warm. Next year Andover should be able to put on some good matches with other villages, as the local dames are giving Helen Wells' playing close second.

WE haven't said much about Bus Childs lately as he has been behaving pretty fair, but with the rifles and shotguns he has been purchasing the past summer perhaps it would be timely to give him a little warning. If you don't go hunting this fall Bus, don't shoot anything until it is safe to come out of the woods. Rather.

Why pop discarded as a waste product of cheese-making, is a good source of calcium, phosphorus, protein, milk sugar, and a dozen others. It is now working on vegetables, candies and food products.

THE HOUSE OF HAZARDS — By Mac Arthur

Workers and Moving Day

It is not necessary for workers to advise the Social Security Board of any change in their home address, according to a statement just issued by Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, New York regional director of the Social Security Board.

Unemployed workers, covered by New York State's Unemployment Insurance Law, were advised however to report any change of address to their local Employment Service office, since the correct mailing address is necessary for the prompt issuance of checks by that office.

A Timely Warning

Is your chimney safe? If cracks appear in the brick or mortar has fallen out, have it repaired by a good mason. If a chimney is cleaned twice a year it isn't liable to burn out. The old theory of burning out a chimney to clean it is a dangerous practice. The intense heat may crack the brick or sparks may ignite the roof.

Clean it and be safe.

Clam Bake Postponed

The committee in charge of the firemen's clam bake scheduled to take place this Sunday have decided to postpone the event, owing to the limited time allowed. The bake will be held at a later date.
