Agrigraphs

Uncle Ab says if men and money aren't kept busy they lose interest.

Protection from dampness and from drafts are the two requirements that most poultry houses fail to meet.

New York State's estimated apple crop of 16,380,000 bushels is five per cent less than the 1933-37 average and 33 per cent less than last year's crop.

Russia grows about 25 per cent of the entire world's production of potatoes; Germany more than 21 per cent; Poland about 15 per cent; France eight per cent; and the U. S. slightly more than five per cent.

A poultry calendar in the form of a bulletin, with a place to keep daily records of egg production and deaths in the flock, is available to poultry farmers. Ask the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y., for bulletin E-186.

Prospects are for a plentiful supply of clover and timothy seed for next year. This should be good news for New York farmers, agronomists says.

On the well regulated farm, December is the month for cutting fuel wood. Wise cutting improves any woodlot; it's like eating your cake and having it, too, foresters say.

Christmas Story Is Written

The following story, by Charlotte Coryell, was written for English IV class. It brings out the Christmas spirit and gaiety of the Christmas season:

LITTLE NOLL

Only one more day till Christmas and Little Noll had only five dull pennies to spend for gifts for his dear mamma and papa whom he loved dearly.

He sat down on his little stool, put his hand under his chin and began to think. First his troubled brow had one small wrinkle, then two little wrinkles, then four, five and six until his little face was a mass of wrinkles. He was thinking so hard. All of a sudden his furrows of care disappeared, his face lighted up, he jumped up and ran out into the cold wintry night.

He sped like lightning down the street to the Heavy Centre where he knew his best beloved, Helen Blue would be. He had long before told him that if he wanted anything to go there so he would get as fast as his little feet could carry him.

When Little Noll rushed into the Centre that evening, all out of breath, he was astounded to see a beautiful Christmas tree brightly lighted and enveloped in packages of every shape and size. Over one hundred little boys and girls of every size, shape and nationality were "oh-ing" and "ah-ing" at the gorgeous tree. When beloved Helen saw Little Noll wondering just what to do, she came over to him

"Why, Little Noll, you're all out of breath. Why did you hurry so? The party is just beginning."

"But-t I'm not supposed to b-be here. I—I wanted (breath) you to help m-me get somepin' for dear mamma and papa, and now you (breath) c-can't."

"Oh, but I can. You do belong here. Didn't your mother tell you we were having a party?"

"No-o."

"I told her about it, but never mind. You're here now and that's all that matters."

"But tomorrow is almost Christmas and I've gotta find somepin' for mamma and papa. I've only got five pennies."

"We'll tend to that after Santa gives out the presents."

"Oh! I'll put my pennies outside our door tomorrow night and let Santa Claus get somepin' for mamma and papa."

"Don't put your pennies out. Just let Santa Claus get what he can."

Christmas morning did come and Little Noll anxiously looked around the one room to see if Santa had gotten something for his dear parents.

What he saw made Little Noll jump out of bed very quickly. In the middle of the floor stood a small decorated tree and all around it were packages, all of which were labeled "for mamma," "for papa," "for Little Noll."

Just as soon as Little Noll got dressed, he rushed down to the Centre and hugged Miss Blue.

"Santa did get a lot of things for mamma and papa and for me too. Isn't that good?"

"I knew Santa would come!"

As Little Noll rushed home again, Helen Blue counted out 98 cents, all that remained of her five dollars saved, and thought "Now how can I get Sis that sled that I promised her?"

Movie and Radio Guide

Radio: "Tiny Tinkle to Tell When Snow White's Dopey Comes to Mike"

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" will be presented on the Lux Radio Theatre program Monday, Dec. 26th, for the benefit of the people who unfortunately missed the show. The year's puzzler for radio men has been, how can it be possible to make Dopey, the enigmatic dwarf in Snow White, a radio character. It has lately been solved by the simple expedient of hanging a bell around his neck.

Dopey, as you know, is the beloved mute dwarf in the Walt Disney screen version of "Snow White." Obviously, Dopey would not be able to indicate his presence in the radio version merely by not talking. Thus equipped, Dopey will be able to satisfy his innumerable friends and let them know that he hasn't been left out. Hence the bell. Whether you saw the show or not, you can be assured of excellent entertainment.

Screen: "Wayne Morris Demonstrates His Talent in "Valley of the Giants"

Wayne Morris and Claire Trevor will be co-starred in "The Valley of the Giants" next Sunday and Monday. It is presented in technicolor and with a good supporting cast. You'll never forget the thrill of the excitement of this movie and if you don't see it, you will be sorry. The story takes place in California, and the plot is a fight over the "redwoods." Don't miss it!

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.
