How About Some News?

During the last few weeks the members of the Hi Herald staff have had many complaints about the lack of news in our Hi Herald.

Therefore we are asking you, the members of A. C. S. to supply this news.

You provide it and we will write it! PAD

Fire!!! Fire!!!

"Get the fire extinguisher, Les!" was the sharp command issuing forth, above the spirited babble of voices and the sound of flying glass could be heard from the outside corridor!

Suddenly, someone flung the door open and a very excited bunch of boys and girls rushed out of the room, choking and accompanied by a huge waft of smoke!

What had happened? ! !

It all started very calmly, when the chemistry class of A. C. S. asked Mr. Bretsch to burn some white phosphorus, which, as you know, burns very violently! The flame began getting brighter and brighter and suddenly—crash—the container broke into a million pieces!

The burning gave off a huge amount of smoke, but by the time "Les" Behn got the fire extinguisher, the flame was out.

I gave you a let-down, didn't I. No one burned, no one fainted and no people killed! ! ! All very accidental!

Who cleaned up the mess?

You'll have to find that out—I didn't stay long enough! ! CMH

Jokes

Ruth Hardy: "A tonic and an ambulance are alike. Can you tell me why?"

Barb Childs: "You can take either one if you are run down."

Miss Sherwood: "What keys are too big to carry in your pocket?"

Les Behn: "A donkey, a monkey and a turkey."

Vic Clark: Did you know that a watch is shy?"

Marge Vars: "Yes, because it holds its hands before its face and runs down its own works."

Sue McAndrew: "Who is a black dog most likely to enter a house?"

Genevieve Loucks: "When the door is open."

Carlton Ordiway: "What is the surest way to keep fish from smelling?"

George Phillipson: "Cut off their noses."

Bill Dougherty: "A human being, plus an article of clothing, plus a mild case of sunburn equals an island."

Pat Dolan: "I know — Manhat-tan."

Miss Horn went into a room which was entirely empty except for a piano, and a bad boy locked her in. How did she get out?

She played the piano and found the key.

Les Behn: "Why do you suppose a train never sits down?"

Jack Horan: "Because it has a tender behind."

Barb Childs: "When you pack a suitcase, what do you always overlook?"

Ruth Hardy: "Your nose."
