Bread May Weigh Less Than Wrapper Says

Albany, April 22.—That loaf of bread may weigh less today than the wrapper says it does.

But don't be concerned about it before June 1, advises the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets.

The weight reduction recommended for each loaf of bread is 10 per cent. Need for the additional flour was urgent — too urgent in fact to wait for new wrappers to be printed. The reduction in weight was recommended to conserve wheat and wheat flours, and the baking industry said it was ready to conform immediately but was unable to comply with provisions of the Agriculture and Markets Law requiring the net weight to be shown on the wrappers of loaves of bread of non-standard sizes, and other bakery products. So the department has authorized the use of old wrappers until June 1.

The ways of eccentric men and women continue to amuse us as much as anything.

mons and Eugene Smith, all of Scio.

The judges for the contest were: Francis Alvord, Friendship; Duane Anderson, Wellsville; and Rev. James G. Kirby, Fillmore.

The contest in this district was one of 28 carried on in various sections of Dairymen's League territory on the same subject.

Local units of the Dairymen's League offered special prizes for the best essays from the schools in this particular area, and the winning essays then were submitted to the district contest.

The winners will be invited to read their essays at a district meeting of the Dairymen's League. Pictures of these winners will be published in the "Dairymen's League News"

Senior Interview

This week your reporter interviews Patricia Temple, a popular Senior girl who is seen in almost every activity circle in high school. Some of "Pat's" favorites are:

Color: Blue.
Book: "Yankee Stranger."
Author: Elswyth Thane.
Movie: "Thousands Cheer."
Actor: Joseph Cotton.
Actress: Susanna Foster.
Radio program: American Melody Hour.
Car: DeSoto.
Pastime: Roller skating.
Sport: Football.
Pet peeve: People who don't act their age.
Subject: Business law.

"Pat" is a member of the Library Council and Hi Herald staff. During the first part of the school year she won an editorial contest and her editorial was rated seventh place in those submitted from the Eastern states.

She also received an honor from her class mates when she was rated the most all-around girl in the class, and for this she wrote an article entitled "Youths Responsibility Towards Permanent Peace."

"Pat's" greatest desire has always been to inherit several million dollars and run a large orphanage, but she'll be satisfied to work in the insurance business with her mother. Best of luck, "Pat." J.E.B.

The sailor took a long breath and sang: "Should auld acquaintance be forgot and never brought to mind; the bos'n's mate fell overboard, he's half a mile behind!"
