Landscape Your Dream House

Have you selected the lot for that dream house you plan to build when you can get materials and labor? — or perhaps you're waiting while you save more money for your building fund. Whatever the reason for the delay, if you have the lot it might be a good idea to plan the landscaping now and perhaps plant a few trees.

That's what the Carroll R. Tiffanys of Broome County did. Twenty years ago they picked a site for their new house. Then with the aid of the Extension Service, they planned just where the house would go and planted trees and shrubs as a setting. The three had grown to 30 and 40 feet before they finally built their house in 1940, but the house fitted perfectly into its surroundings.

We hope you won't have to wait 15 years to build your new home, but it's a good idea to let the trees get a head start. Another suggestion from the Tiffanys is to recondition furniture for the new house. Mrs. Tiffany started refinishing and reconditioning furniture in a Home Bureau meeting years ago, and Mr. Tiffany also became interested in this work. Together they restored old pieces they had inherited and others they bought at auctions. When their house was finally ready to move into, they could completely furnish it with fine old furniture.

Tomato Blight

Late potato blight, which has developed during the cool wet weather of the past few weeks, has done considerable damage to the tomato crop, according to Food Information Service at Cornell. The specialists make the following suggestions. Tomatoes infected with the blight have an off-flavor and are not suited for canning. Green tomatoes that have not been infected might be harvested now for use in pickles and relishes. And tomatoes that have begun to ripen and are not infected may be picked and ripened off the vine.

Eighty For One

If you've been wondering just how much food to can for your family this winter, why not follow the "80 for one" rule. That means 80 quarts of canned fruits and vegetables for each member of the family. Food specialists at Cornell suggest that you break that supply down something like this: 25 quarts of tomatoes, 20 quarts of other vegetables, and 35 quarts of fruit.

Pictured above is the long distance car leap over a huge transcontinental bus, the most dangerous of all automobile daredevil events. This death-defying event—will climax the 28 high speed events at the Steuben Couty Fair, Bath Saturday afternoon, September 7th.

When B. Ward Beam's combined Congress of Daredevils and World's Champion Hell Drivers, composed of the largest and greatest group of motor maniacs in the outdoor entertainment world, race, smash and crash speeding automobiles and motorcycles in front of the grandstands as the featured Thrill Day attraction. Five famous daredevils, including the late "Lucky" Teter, beloved king of the motor-mad maniacs, have lost their lives in recent years attempting this perilous event. From among Beam's large cast of Hell Drivers, six prominent stuntmen are qualified to complete this long distance and record-breaking performance alike have termed this super-thriller "The thrill of a century."

The Real Trouble

The vicar was administering consolation to a parishioner who had recently lost her husband. "Ah, Mrs. Foggett," he said unctuously, " we never realize the full value of anything until we lost it!" "No, sor," said Mrs. Foggett, "but ah sha'nt realize anything — poor Bill wasn't insured!"
