Jack Horan, Lewis Wintemberg, Duane Cornish, Howard Burrows, Joseph Yannie and Carlton Ordway. Also "Vic" Clark and "Pete" Howland are in the Navy and "Jug" Dunham is in the Marines.

Ann Dean and Pat Joyce are attending Buffalo State Teachers College and we find Norma Steadman working in the Folsing Store with entirely different "plans" for the future.

Pat Temple is leading a happy life as Mrs. Ball of Allentown, soon to be of Wellsville, quite the same as Clarabelle Boyce who found herself as Mrs. E. Clark of Andover.

Donald Baker is industriously working for "Cupe" Rogers and we found that Donald Northrup is working in the silk mill and attending ACS for shorthand. He intends to be an accountant.

Mareta Perry is Mrs. Grant now and seems to be quite satisfied with the idea. Barbara Childs can be found mixing soft drinks at Clair's Pharmacy while Genevieve Loucks is working in Woodruff's Dairy Bar and is planning to attending nursing school next fall.

As you have probably noticed, there are eleven more ex-Seniors not listed here. We have yet to contact them for information for this column, so, wishing them all the best of everything and never saying "goodbye" to them, we shall sign off until next week. PET

A. C. S. Trademarks

There are certain trademarks—marks of A. C. S. which are stable and will be here for years, but new ones have also been added.

Rosemary Baker of course, still has her quaint curls. Are you going to surprise us one of these days?

George Phillipson hasn't grown any shorter during the past two months and is still late for classes, much to the teacher's disgust.

Doris Atwell is still as short as she always was.

Lila Childs still wears flowers in her hair.

Joan Theetge has her becoming bangs yet.

We see Ann Marie Greene has glasses to wear and that Joan Theetge got new ones.

Some of the girls must think that winter is here by the number of skirts and sweaters that are being worn.

The slamming of lockers is again prominent in the halls of A. C. S.

A. C. S. girls have taken a fancy to loafers as we see most of them have them on.
