December Milk Price of $5.29 Seen by Blanford

December milk deliveries to pool-approved plants in the New York milkshed will return producers a uniform price of $5.29 per hundredweight, according to an estimate released by Dr. C. J. Blanford, Market Administrator of the New York metropolitan milk market area. At the same time he forecast that the producer butterfat differential would be 4.8 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 percent standard. The rise is based on an estimated production for the month of 346 million pounds.

State Employment Service Resumes Farm Labor Placement

Responsibility for the recruitment and placement of farm labor in New York State was shifted from the New York State Extension Service to the New York State Employment Service.

Thereafter, employers of farm labor will be able, as they were during and before the war, to call on any of the more than 100 placement offices of the NYSES for help in securing farm labor locally and in arranging for the seasonal services of migrant labor from other states.

The Emergency Farm Labor Supply Program of the federal Department of Agriculture terminated December 31.

Woman's Relief Corps

Edward Seaman Woman's Relief Corps No. 155

Last Friday afternoon the Edward Seaman Relief Corps held its regular meeting and installation of officers, when the following officers were installed by Lelia Livermore, acting as installing officer:

Jessie Whiting, president.

Laura Witter, senior vice president.

Mae Rennells, junior vice president.

Grace Wagner, secretary.

Mizpah Greene, chaplain.

Effie Burbank, conductor.

Lydia Kenyon, guard.

Gertrude Cheesman, assistant guard.
