G.L.F. Takes Lead To Stabilize Feed Prices

Ithaca, Jan. 26—The Cooperative Grange League Federation Exchange today announced that it was "immediately stabilizing the price of all its dairy, stock and mash feeds and was cutting prices by an average of $3.50 per ton at wholesale under last week as a first step."

James A. McConnell, general manager of the G. L. F., said the step was taken in an attempt to halt the "ever-tightening squeeze on Northeastern milk and egg producers," and that the action represents a departure from G. L. F. policy of pricing out feed on the basis of replacement cost. The mark-down was in the face of steadily rising prices on all feed ingredients.

Mr. McConnell said the immediate effect of these price cuts will do to "afford at least some temporary relief to thousands of G. L. F. dairymen and poultrymen against further rising prices. But more important, by withdrawing from the markets as far as possible and using up our present supplies, we may hope for greater relief within the next 90 days. Approximately 150,000 farmers in New York, New Jersey and Northern Pennsylvania are patrons of G.L.F.

At the same time he estimated that the producer butterfat differential for the month would be 5.2 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 percent standard.

Dr. Blanford said he expected total production in January to reach 365 millions pounds.
