LET'S LOOK AT THE HONOR ROLL

The school honor roll, although not too bad, could be improved upon greatly in the next five weeks by having more students in the grades, and in the high school strive to get on the honor roll.

At midyears, the percentage of grade students on the honor roll is 33 per cent and in the high school only 21 per cent.

By the next marking period, let's all see if we can raise both of these percentages.

A man went to a soda fountain, ordered a sundae, ate it, chewed up the bowl of the dish, and threw the stem over his shoulder. He continued this for about four sundaes and noticed that the soda jerk was staring at him.

"Do you think I'm crazy?" he asked.

"I sure do," the soda jerk replied. "The stem is the best part."

SCIO AGAIN

by Ray Smith

Last Friday evening January 30th the Purple Panthers trampled Scio on their home court behind the 24 point leadership of Earl Richardson. Earl has racked up a total of 49 points in the two Scio games. This was Andover's seventh straight league win.

Jim Burgett Andover's chief guard flipped in 13 markers. Jim seems to be on the ball this season. Richardson broke the school scoring record (as far as we know) in the first Scio game and lacked but one bucket of doing it again.

The next league game is at Allentown tomorrow night, Friday, February 6th.

The J V's ran on the Scio boys to the tune of a 22 - 5 victory.

their books about fun at the farm.

Miss Gaus' second grade—In Miss Gaus' second grade they are studying birds that we can see in the winter. So far they have learned about the blue jay and the cardinal. Tom Smith wrote a story about the new baby at his house. "The baby is a boy. He has curly hair. He might come home tonight. He is going to be tough and strong and is going to knock somebody out. His name is Danny."

We have printed Tom's story just as he wrote it, so all the words may not be spelled correctly. Of course, he had help with some of the words, because they don't have words like "tough" in second grade.

In Mrs. Helmer's third and fourth grade Mrs. Loescher substituted during the absence of Mrs. Helmer.

In Miss Jordan's fifth grade they have changed their seating arrangement in a more convenient way.

Miss Church's fifth and sixth grades have started a bulletin board on foreign and local news. They are now studying the life of George Washington. They had 100 per cent contribution to the infantile paralysis drive.

Mrs. Schwarzenbach's sixth grade had 100 per cent donation to the infantile drive. They are now reading "The Prince and the Pauper." They have made new health charts and are studying France in social studies. All but four are going to the religious classes that start next week.

In Mrs. Gath's seventh grade David Foster and Alice Burgess are moving in the near future. They had 100 per cent attendance for last week.

Some of them are by famous artists of Japan.

The student body is invited to come in and see this great exhibit any eighth period except Friday. LMO-JCJ

CHIT-CHAT

Well, here we are again after a hard week of straining our brains with the latest concerning the seniors.

From our observance we have not noticed too many casualties from the recent exams.

We already miss Jo Ann Theetge, who has left us to attend the R.B.I. in Rochester. We wish her the best of luck.

Another worthy senior who has managed to discontinue school in the afternoon is Lila Childs.

Gather round, everybody, and we'll let you in on a little secret. The seniors are contemplating a "box social" to be held in the near future. Keep on the look out for it.

Madge Collins was riding on a cloud again this week-end. Why?

Kay Joyce and Phyllis Nye enjoyed themselves over the week-end by attending the dance in Westfield Friday night with their O.A.O.'s.

We see the Hancock-Atwell romance is still going strong.

Marcy Smith and Franklin Cornish are still writing those nice long love letters.

Who's the boy Maxine Baker met down at the skating rink?

Dean Fisher, why don't you tell Harry Foster your secret of getting such good Latin marks?

Vic Daley and Teresa Joyce are going to make sweethearts after all.

We see Caroline Briggs is still sighing over Bob Marsh.

Richard Reisman and Janet Hall make a good pair.

We'll be seeing you all next week. HY-PD-JD
