

Col. C. J. O'Connell

THE ANDOVER ADVERTISER

VOL. IV. NO. 161

ANDOVER, ALLEGANY CO., N. Y. THURSDAY, MARCH 19, 1874.

WHOLE NO. 172

Entered according to act of Congress, in the year 1873, by C. J. O'Connell, in the office of the Librarian of Congress at Washington.

Andover Advertiser PUBLISHED BY C. J. O'CONNELL, AT ANDOVER, ALLEGANY CO., N. Y.

RATES OF ADVERTISING. A single number of advertisements will be printed at the following rates: For one week, 10 cents; for two weeks, 18 cents; for one month, 35 cents; for three months, 1.00; for six months, 1.80; for one year, 3.50.

Additional Local Trains Eastward. No. 1000 A. M. Daily from Andover to Elmira, leaving Andover at 7:00 A. M. and Elmira at 9:00 A. M.

Physicians. Dr. W. W. Goodrich, Physician in Charge of the Dispensary, No. 1, E. Main Street, Andover, N. Y.

Business Directory. A. R. VERRAND, H. D. PHYSICIAN, ANDOVER, N. Y.

Attorney & Counselors. CHARLES A. ENLSON, Attorney at Law, Andover, N. Y.

Hotels. American Hotel, Andover, N. Y. Proprietor, Wm. Bises.

Swink's Hotel, Andover, N. Y. Proprietor, PETER SWINK.

Exchange Hotel, Angelica, N. Y. Proprietor, D. E. FROEDERS.

American Hotel, Andover, N. Y. Proprietor, J. H. FARRAR.

ERIE RAILWAY.

NEW AND IMPROVED Drawing Room and Sleeping Coaches, combining all the latest improvements.

Table with columns for Station, No. 1, No. 2, No. 3, No. 4, No. 5, No. 6, No. 7, No. 8, No. 9, No. 10, No. 11, No. 12, No. 13, No. 14, No. 15, No. 16, No. 17, No. 18, No. 19, No. 20.

Additional Local Trains Eastward. No. 1000 A. M. Daily from Andover to Elmira, leaving Andover at 7:00 A. M. and Elmira at 9:00 A. M.

Physicians. Dr. W. W. Goodrich, Physician in Charge of the Dispensary, No. 1, E. Main Street, Andover, N. Y.

Business Directory. A. R. VERRAND, H. D. PHYSICIAN, ANDOVER, N. Y.

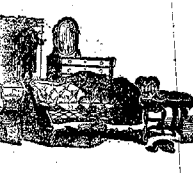

Attorney & Counselors. CHARLES A. ENLSON, Attorney at Law, Andover, N. Y.

Hotels. American Hotel, Andover, N. Y. Proprietor, Wm. Bises.

Swink's Hotel, Andover, N. Y. Proprietor, PETER SWINK.

Exchange Hotel, Angelica, N. Y. Proprietor, D. E. FROEDERS.

American Hotel, Andover, N. Y. Proprietor, J. H. FARRAR.

FURNITURE II

ALL KINDS OF Upholstered, Veneered, Solid Walnut.

PLAIN FURNITURE. LOOKING GLASSES, of various styles and sizes.

CURTAIN FRAME. PUT UP TO ORDER.

Walnut, Mahogany, COFFINS.

PLAIN COFFINS.

UNDERTAKING. Done with the utmost care and promptness.

SEASONED PINE LUMBER. Constantly on Hand.

BUILDING MATERIALS. READY FOR USE.

Turning, Planing and Slitting. DONE TO ORDER.

CALL AND SEE M. J. H. ELI.

WELLSVILLE MARBLE WORKS.

MONUMENTS. HEAD STONES, CENTRALISMS, CHINESE, VASES, &c.

Stenciled Plates Cut to Order.

HERBARD & HUYLER, Jr. Floor Bakers, West of Howard's Hotel.

DOITY'S WASHING MACHINE. Universal Clothes Wringer.

Prices—A Fair Offer.

R. C. BROWNING, GEN. AGENT, Wellsville, Pa.

MISCELLANEOUS. CHINESE PIRATES.

A CAPTAIN'S STORY.

We were homeward bound from China with a valuable cargo, and no considerable amount of gold on board.

"I don't wish to say anything peculiarly harsh about the Chinese; but, if you do happen to light upon a bad lot of John Chinamen, they are bad and no mistake.

"No more do I, Ned; but what's the reason of your saying that to-night, of all nights in the year? You know that we must not expect too much from Chinese sailors at any time."

"I always expect the worst from them, and prepare myself accordingly," answered Dutton.

"I think that we are in a trap from which Dutton's crew only can deliver us."

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

I was dreaming the wildest dreams; smelling sulphur, seeing flames leap around me, when a hand gently touched me, and a voice soft as my mother's said, 'Harcourt, old boy; quick, quick, if you have the strength to move, I still believe myself dreaming; but it was no dream to be taken on a man's back and carried up on deck. The stars were shining as on the night that Ned had our talk, and it was Ned himself who was now looking into my face so tenderly, and asking off my feet, as if he had been a blacksmith all his life.

"Harcourt," said Ned, "it's wretches have broken into the spirit-stove; we have fastened the hatchway."

"I started up from my stateroom. 'How long has it taken to do this?' 'Two days and two nights,' was the answer. Ned had never slept a wink during the period, and had been constantly on the alert for the slightest chance by which he might get the better of his captives.

"Where is that horrible junk?" I asked, presently.

"Close behind us, sir," said old Dutton. "I have been preparing something unaccountably pleasant for her—steady at the wheel, Ned, ready; that's it."

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

place at the wheel, but providentially it had thrown him forward on to the deck instead of washing him overboard.

Quick as thought Ned was at the wheel, grasping its spokes with an iron grip. "Bear a hand here, Dutton!" he cried through the deafening tempest.

"I was obeyed, and through the dreary night while the waves broke over us and threatened every moment to send us to the bottom, while our wretches snarled and fell with crashing force on the deck, there Ned stood firm at his post.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

ones—afforded an opportunity to easily and pleasantly converse.

She was witty and sprightly, and grew unusually brilliant, than in the best of my recollection; at a somewhat remote day. My friend, serving this, looked madder than ever. At length we reached a station where the train stopped a moment.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.

"I don't know what you mean," said Dutton, looking at him.