WHAT IS A SCHOOL PAPER?

By Rose Mary Baker

This is the time of year when the school paper changes editor and consequently is a good time to perhaps merely list the objectives of a school paper. This is not for the information of students alone but also for parents of students so that they may know what to expect to see in the school paper another year.

A school paper is written by students for students. As older people have their daily and weekly paper so the students have their paper. There is, of course, a slight difference in the interest of older people and students but the school paper is not so very different from a daily paper.

If it were not for a difference in the preferences of people wouldn't this be a mighty funny world. Wasn't it a distaste for some conditions which people were living under which made the scientists of America.

Why did the pioneers settle America, anyway. Wasn't it mainly because of disagreement of what was right or wrong? Hasn't this been a quesstion of debate for many centuries?

It is surprising to realize that some people do not recognize a difference between the tastes of the younger people and their mothers and fathers.

If teen age children shared the outlook of their parents what would be the use of education. If there is but one correct manner in which to do eveything how can we judge the merit of people. Is this what made Steinmetz and Einstein great? No. They found better ways of doing things, which are the basic principle of democracy. If all the candidates for President had the same characteristics and held the same point of view whom would we elect? It must be realized that people themselves are basically different.

In regard to the school paper it is as near complete in the line of journalizm as the students can make it.

Picking up a daily chronicle what do we find in it?

There are always editorials. So there is in the school paper. News items are a necessity in both editions for if there was no news it would be useless to have a paper.

Advertisements which can be carried in larger papers are not in the school paper because of a lack of room and the fact that they are not necessary in a paper of this type. The two remaining parts of a school paper and any other paper are the features and personals. How many people read the personals in a paper? You will find a very few who do not I can assure you. Why is it that large papers advertise for personals. The reason is because it increases circulation. The same applies to features. Older people who criticise the students for the material in their paper ought to stop and think a moment. What do they look for first in the paper? No doubt it is to see what other people have been doing.

The staff of a school paper does not wish to put out a paper for the parents alone to read. It is put out by students for students and this it will remain to be until the end of time.

These things must be kept in mind by the students who will edit the paper next year and also must be remembered by parents when they are dissatisfied with the material presented.

Remember, it is a school paper!

ARE YOU GUILTY?

Yes, the high school enjoyed the delightful melodies of the chorus, band and the kindergarter, rhythm band in Thursday's assembly. The patience and careful direction of Mrs. Eleanor Briggs and Miss Catherine Recktenwald resulted in a fine entertainment for students of all ages.

I am sure they appreciated the tireless efforts of those musical groups and their directors, but did all of the pupils show their appreciation?

It is surprising to learn that one Freshman boy would disturb a whole singing group by rudely tapping on the seats to draw attention to himself, and that other small groups of pupils would loudly giggle at the small children's attempt.

We all may forget that these children have feelings the same as we, and that our innocent laughing disturbs and confuses them in their performances.

Can't we, students, show a little courtesy and observe our assembly programs with a more favorable response? Also, loud talking, giggling, booing and hissing make no fine impression on the outside visitors we have at these assemblies. To be discourteous spoils one's whole character and we all know the importance of having a fine character. If you are one of these unwanted hecklers, why not change now—Don't wait. Start being different—today.

HI HERALD SPONSORS "HALL OF FAME"

This year, for the first time, Andover Central School will have a "Hall of Fame" as many other schools have had for several years. This "Hall of Fame" will be sponsored by the school paper and will consist of five members of the Senior class.

The qualifications which must be met by each of these members were chosen by a committee of four who were appointed by the editor. The members of the committee were Beverly Clair, Reta Goodridge, Barbara Wintemberg and John Bridge.

The qualifications for this honor consisted of three principal parts which are: Intellect, the members must be in the upper half of the class and have a certain amount of appreciation for the arts.

The moral characters of the persons must meet the following requirements: They must be dependable, honest and truthful.

After this list of qualifications was completed, no seniors took part in passing the lists out or in any other form of soliciting. The complete lists of qualifications were prepared and passed out among the high school teachers, who voted for the five seniors having the largest number of the required qualifications.

The five students who had the most votes and who are now in the Hall of Fame are: James Burgett, Rose Mary Baker, Helen Yannie, John Bridge and John Karl Fisher. Pictures of these students and separate write-ups of each student will appear in following editions of the paper. BW

ANDOVER SUFFERS WET DEFEAT

By "Bob" Carpenter

On Tuesday, April 27th, the Andover Panthers journeyed to the Wellsville ball park where they suffered the second defeat in two starts.

It may have been a nice day in Chicago but Wellsville skies were filled with driving rain which proved a definite handicap and the game was called to a halt after five innings of hard play.

Jim Burgett and Earl Richardson smashed doubles for the locals and the Andover batteries (Bostick and Smith, J. Holt and Milligan) worked nicely. The final score of the wet encounter, Wellsville 5, Andover 3.

The next game will be a league encounter, the first of the season and will be played at Whitesville.

HARVEY

As I opened my locker I had a vague feeling that I had lost something. I took a complete inventory of all books and wraps and could find nothing missing when my eyes wandered down into the corner of the locker. Suddenly I knew what it was — Harvey was gone!

Saints preserve us! Has some one stolen him? Now how could he have gotten out?

A flash of lightning-like ideas and I remembered. I had set my locker this noon when I started for lunch. He must have opened it from the inside and walked out. Where would he be now is the $64 question.

I had to go to physics so I couldn't look for the wanderer right then, but during the sixth period I have a study period and I went to look for the lost one.

I asked Mrs. McFadden in her study hall and she knew not of his presence there.

I had to go to the Ag. room to get a booklet on trees from Mr. Bronson and to my astonishment as I waited for him to come to the door, I heard Harvey's voice.

What kind of a bug is the adult of the wire-worm, Mr. Bronson had asked and is it any wonder I was so astounded when Harvey answered the chick beetle which was entirely correct. Where does that child learn such things?

By the time Mr. Bronson had come to the door I had completely forgotten everything but Harvey. "Is Harvey here, Mr. Bronson?" I managed to struggle out with, being somewhat suffocated with embarrassment. "Yes," replied Mr. Bronson "and he knows more than most of the boys in this Ag class. Must he go now?" I said yes and Harvey left with me, promising Mr. Bronson that he would come back again soon and now firmly convinced he wanted to be an ag. teacher when he grew up.

SENIOR INTERVIEW

This week your reporter met and interviewed one of the most up-and-coming members of the Class of 1948. Her name is Lila Ann Childs, and she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Childs of Andover. She was born in Hornell July 6, 1930. Lila is five feet, five inches tall, with light brown hair and brown eyes and her complexion is medium dark.

Her favorite sport is basketball, and as you can guess, liking it as she does, it is no small wonder that she held the position of cheerleader during many seasons of this game in ACS. Lila also has been active on the Hi Herald staff, and a member of the chorus and the band. All in all, she has been attractive and active during all her high school years. Lila's favorites are:

Song: "You Were Meant for Me."

Book: "Green Dolphin St."

Author: Elizabeth Gauge.

Actor: Robert Mitchum.

Actress: June Allyson.

Movie: 'The Foxes of Harrow."

Car: Packard (can you guess why?)

Food: Southern fried chicken and spaghetti and meat balls.

Pet Peeve: Getting up in the mornings.

Subject: Lunch hour.

Sport: Basketball.

We all wish "Mazie" all the luck and success possible and though she is uncertain about her ambition, we know she will choose one worth while. MC

GRADE NEWS

Some of the children in Mrs. Helmer's room have received answers to the letters that they sent to some Navaho Indians.

Navaho Mountain School
Tonalea, Arizona
April 16, 1948

Dear Friend Joyce Fuller:

I thank you for your nice letter. The story you tell about your home sounds nice. My home is nice too. In the winter I live in a round warm hogan made of fresh peeled logs covered with pretty red sand. In summer my family move down into the canyon where we raise corn, melons, squash and other vegetables. Water runs through the canyon and we irrigate our garden.

Most of the year I go to school here at Navaho Mountain. We live in Utah, but our post office is in Arizona, some miles away. We have 56 boys and girls in our school. We like it very much. Write me some time.

Dear Friend Ann Harvey:

Thank you for writing to me. I am a Navaho girl, nine years old and my name is Josephine, not Joe. We study about many kinds of people in our social studies too. Now I know something about anglos, Eskimos, Japanese and Dutch. We do not see many people in our land for we live far off good roads. We live in Utah but our post office is eighty miles away in Arizona. There are 16 girls and 36 boys in our school. We live in a dormitory all the year. We have two teachers, a cook, a matron and a janitor. I have a brother, Teddy, and a sister, Bonnie, in school. If you wish I can send you some calico corn and sage brush.

The following letter was sent to Mrs. Helmer from a teacher of the Navaho Indians.

Navaho Mountain School
Tonalea, Arizona
April 16, 1948

My Dear Mrs. Helmer:

Your very nice letters have arrived rather behind schedule and in a most circular route. Our pupils were greatly excited and thought it quite amusing to be addressed as "Joe" for one of our former pupils was so named only he was an Anglo boy. That being the only experience the children ever had with the name "Joe' they were quite taken with the idea of being called "Joe." I have read the story of Joe Marygats, and think it quite typical of the Navaho life way.

Inasmuch as we have had an unusual amount of correspondence this year due to the publicity of the Navaho Silvation, only a few of the children could answer your pupils. Then too, I only have two fourth graders, boys, all other below, also many adults. Our school term closes May 14th and if you are still interested we will try to make something for your class. Pardon this scrawl for my typewriter is full of san.

Cordially
Lisbeth En Lond

P.S. Our picture was in Life Magazine, March 1st in the photographic essay on the Navaho.
