LEST WE FORGET

by Beverly Clair

It was Amar Khayyan, the tentmaker, who told the Persians many hundred of years ago to "Take the cash and let the credit go." That advice was good for men to heed in those days when people lived shorter and more violent lives, when there was no opportunity for a shepherd to be anything else but a shepherd, and when people earned their living by what they could do with their hands.

Where their next meal came from was the most important concern of the people. But down through the years men came to feel a need for more security than was had in Omar's time. They wanted to guarantee as best they could that there would be food and clothing for their families and for themselves, not only during the thriving years, but also during the poor years.

The wise men also saw that man often could lose all of his most precious possessions through fire, theft, or the death of loved ones. Except for one thing. This one thing was called "Education." No matter what happens no one could take from them the education once acquired.

And so the elders advised their youth to improve themselves to the end that they would always be able to care for themselves and others no matter what happened. The jury of the ages reversed old Judge Khayyam's teaching and commanded boys and girls to look ahead, and not merely live from day to day.

May be this poem by Edgar A. Guest will tell you better what I mean. It's called "The Job":

Take a hint from an old man
who's traveled the way,
Just heed to his counsel a minute
There's a job that may pay you five dollars a day.
But that's all there will ever be in it.
Oh many a boy has begun with a rush
And has grabbed for a man's wages blindly,
Now he sticks as a man to the spot he began,
And thinks life has used him unkindly.
So look for a job with a future
ahead
Seek a chance to grow greater and greater;
Seek a place where you know as you work you will grow
And the money will come to you later.

WISTFUL THINKING

Ann M. Greene

I wish I were an airplane,
So I could fly so high—
And fly with all the lovely birds
That fly up in the sky.
I wish I were a little bird,
A pretty color of blue—
And you were still another bird
With coloring of the same hue.
I wish I were a totem pole
As stiff as I could be—
I'd stand as straight as wood allowed
And see all I could see.
I wish I were an elephant
With trunk so very large—
If ever you should want a ride
I'd carry you free of charge.
I wish I were a pine tree
So that once a year—
I'd have the joy of Christmas
In a home chuck full of cheer.
I wish I were a person
With hair upon my head—
I'd brush it briskly every night
Before I went to bed.
I wish I were an Easter egg
All decorated gay—
And when the children found me
I wonder what they'd say!
I wish I were your bestus' pen
So you could write with me—
Just think of all the words I'd learn
And all the words I'd see!

ANNUAL SENIOR PLAY THIS FRIDAY NIGHT

As you all know it is quite customary for the Seniors to present their annual play. This year they have chosen a three-act comedy entitled "Aunt Tillie Goes to Town," in which to display their talent. This farce will hold many laughs for everyone in attendance in the school auditorium Friday, May 14 at 8:15 p. m.

To give you a preview of what to expect I'll summarize the play briefly.

It is all centered around Aunt Tillie, who is competently dramatized by Rose Mary Baker. Her suitcase has been accidentally picked up by Mervin Tucker, characterized by Ray Smith who is deeply in love with Pamela Marsh but is having considerable difficulty in winning her hand in marriage. Pamela, played by Helen Yannie, is of a very suspicious nature.

Another prominent character is Lizzie Parsons, who is capably played by Phyllis Burdick. Lizzie tries endlessly to offer Pamela advice amidst her dilemma concerning Mervin. Lizzie is strictly a career girl and will not condescend to marry Roland, Larry Hoyt, when he tries to bribe her into it.

Lucinda, the cook, who is continually looking for a man for herself, is played by "Madge" Collins.

Charlie One Lung is portrayed by Harold Dodge and Lila Childs plays the part of Mervin Tucker's aunt. Luther Lorrimer is portrayed by John Bridge and Ellen Neeland is capably played by Phyllis Nye.

To really appreciate the comedy, it will be necessary to actually see it. It is only after you have seen it that you will discover how "Aunt Tillie" condescends to be herself and not as she previously has been.

This play is to be presented tomorrow night, Friday, May 14th at 8:15 p. m., in the ACS auditorium.

The play was given this afternoon to the student body who attended the dress rehearsal, to add a bit more to the senior class treasury.

F.H.A. GIRLS ATTEND STATE CONVENTION

Saturday, May 8th, the Andover chapter of the F.H.A. went to Dansville for the state meeting. Those attending were: Ruth Halsey, Louise O'Dell, Betty Isaman, Norma Perry, Nedra Burrows, Lois Honegger, Joan Jackson, Barbara Marsh, Maxine Baker, Janet Hall, Mrs. Dahl and Mrs. Marsh.

At this meeting the State president and State recreation leader were elected from the girls attending from various schools.

The one qualification for these positions was that each girl was to attend Ithaca May 14, 15, 16 for the State Convention, and to be able to attend the camp in July.

At 10:30 the various schools registered and were taken to the gymnasium for "get-acquainted" games. At 11 we went to the auditorium for a short meeting. We then went to the cafeteria for lunch. Again at 1:30 we played more games. Each chapter represented directed a group game. At 2:30 we went to the auditorium and had a business meeting for the purpose of electing the state president and recreation leader. Louise O'Dell was elected for the state recreation leader. At 3:30 the business meeting was adjourned.

Well Raised

A Negro mammy had a family of well-behaved boys, and one day her mistress asked, "Sally, how did you raise your boys so well?"

"Ah'll tell you, miss'us," answered Sally, "Ah raise' dem boys with a barrel stave, an' ah raise' 'em frequent."

RICHBURG EDGES ANDOVER 6 TO 5

by Bob Baker

Richburg won a hard fought battle from Andover on the Richburg diamond Friday, May 7th by a 6-5 score. The game was close all the way with neither team over a run ahead at any time. Andover took the lead several times only to have Richburg tie the game up again. The game featured smart base running and several perfectly executed squeeze plays.

Mulconery paced Andover at bat with three hits, one of them a triple. Richardson, R. Smith, and Lynch connected for the other Andover hits. Although none of the other players got hits they played a fine game afield.

Richardson pitched great ball for Andover, fanning three and walking four. Faulkner of Richburg issued but one free pass and struck out five.

Unlucky Friday

Friday is considered an unlucky day because for centuries it was the day chosen for public executions.

FIVE ANDOVER TEACHERS TO LEAVE A.C.S.

Next year five of our teachers will be missing from the halls of ACS and new faces will be seen in their places.

Mrs. Eleanor Briggs, who has been our music director throughout the past year will be leaving for Mansfield, Pa. She has been in charge of the vocal and instrumental activities of Andover Central, such as band, chorus and orchestra. Her place will be filled by Mrs. Margaret Wolfe. Mrs. Wolfe attended Potsdam and lives in Andover.

Mrs. Delores Bennett, the second grade teacher, came to Andover in 1945 and is leaving this year to reside in Ithaca. Miss Patricia Perry will fill Mrs. Bennett's place. Miss Perry is from Belmont and received her training at Geneseo State Teachers College.

Our third grade teacher, Mrs. Mary Jean Parsons, came here in 1947 and she expects to go to Oklahoma. She will be replaced by Miss Schumerhorn who attended Potsdam College.

Mrs. Mary Woodward, who has taught two years in the second grade, was in charge of the cheerleading squad this year. She expects to teach first grade in the Hornell Lincoln School. Her vacancy is to be filled by Miss Norma Tripp, who attended the Brockport State Teachers College. Her home tow nis Medina.

Miss Catherine Recktenwald has been a teacher in Andover's kindergarten for eight years, beginning in 1939. She has assisted Mrs. Gath in directing the Senior play and has twice been co-chairman of the faculty. She will teach in Geneva. As yet, this vacancy has not been filled.

ANDOVER TO MEET WHITESVILLE UNDER LIGHTS

by Bob Baker

Tuesday, May 18th at 8:15 p. m., the Andover Central School baseball team will play Whitesville High nine at Tullar Field in Wellsville. It will be the first game either team has played under the lights but is expected to be a thriller because of the close margin by which Andover won the first game.

It would be well worth while and a fine show of school spirit if as many students as possible would attend this game.

MULCONERY LEADS LOCAL HITTERS

by Bob Baker

Dan Mulconery leads Andover hitters with a .364 average. Joe Smith and Charlie Snyder have hit homers with Ray Smith and Mulconery hitting triples. Earl Richardson has knocked out three doubles and is closely followed by Bostick, R. Smith and Mulconery with two each. Joe Smith and Lynch have one double to their credit.

Following are the local batting averages to the time of the Richburg game:

Town," under direction of Mrs. Ethel Gath and Miss Catherine Recktenwald. It is to be presented on Friday, May 14 at 8:15 p. m. in the auditorium. We hope to see a fine turnout, as the play promises a lot of laughs and a fine display of talent. The orchestra will supply the music during intermission. The admission is only 65 cents for adults and 35 cents for students and children, so why not come and enjoy a fine evening's entertainment.

The dates have been set for two more of the annual affairs. The Junior-Senior banquet is to be held Friday, June 11, and the Junior-Senior Prom is on June 28th.

Kathryn Joyce attended the square dance at Scio Friday night and reports a good time.

Phyllis Nye is still going strong with her fellow from Richburg, and of course she still gets around in the little black jeep.

The Seniors are pretty proud of their yearbook, which has gone to press and should be available to students about the first of June.

Lawrence Hoyt seems to have developed an acute hatred of the female sex, according to the Senior play, but in real life he is still a wolf on wheels (bicycle wheels, that is.)

Two more Senior girls have their plans completed for next fall, Rose Mary Baker having been accepted at Alfred University and Helen Yannie at the University of Rochester School of Nursing.

Madge Collins was walking on a cloud again this week-end. Guess why? Of course, Dick Benedict was here.

Pat Dolan has developed a cold as of last week-end.

What would happen if . . . Dick Fulton wasn't always seen by Annabelle O'Dell's locker? — Joe Smith wasn't so good looking?—Bill Holt wasn't always "mooning" over Bev Clair? — Betty Smith and Duane Hackett were not always together? — Albert Chamberlain stopped liking Joan McAndrew?—Bob Carpenter lost about 50 pounds?—Teddy Vankuren wasn't always cutting some one else's hair?—Barb Wintemberg wasn't always expecting a letter from Bob?

It might be profitable for Patty Sackett to get her Latin homework done every time.

We wonder if Ruby Ordiway caught any fish on Sunday when she went fishing.

How is "Abe" Davis getting along with Joyce Linza?

We hear that 'Vic" Daley has his eye on some blonde in the Junior Class.

Teresa Joyce has quite a time in third period study hall. Do you mind it, Teresa?

From the latest reports, Alice Bostick and Curly Benedict are still the best of friends.

How did John Dougherty celebrate his birthday on Sunday? We all wonder.

What happened between Marcy Smith and Franklin Cornish?

Teresa Joyce has a new addition to her picture collection. Who is it, Teresa?

Joan Joyce must have had a good time at Cortland Sunday, as she wasn't in school Monday.

Ruth Halsey, who were you with at the Nightingale Saturday night? Could it be "Benny" C. from Alfred.

Barbara Marsh and Ray Sisson are still good friends.

Louise O'Dell, Clarence Cady had quite a time finding where you lived Thursday night, didn't he? Next time he will be there earlier than 8:30.

TEACHERS ARE INTERVIEWED ON BUBBLE GUM

This week the teachers were asked what they thought about the pupils chewing bubble gum in classes. Here are a few of their answers:

Mr. Chaffee—"In gym classes it is perfectly all right if they are participating in activities, although gum chewing and the blowing of bubbles should be prohibited in class rooms or in lectures."

Mrs. McFadden—"Gum chewing is annoying to those who do not participate, it interferes with speech, detracts from physical appearance, and it also violates one of Emily Post's rules of etiquette which states that individuals should not chew gum in public places."

Mrs. Dahl—"I think it's about the filthiest habit a person could cultivate, either in class or in a public place. It also violates all rules of health anyone has ever been taught."

Mrs. Gath—"Personally I have no objections to inconspicuously chewing gum, it is most annoying to listen to smacking, cracking, and blowing, as well as disgusting to see one struggle with yards of bubble gum. From the standpoint of an English teacher, I find that it often times prevents a student from speaking distinctly and clearly."

Mr. Carmody—"If it can be done silently, all right, also if it doesn't interfere with speech of the pupils when I call on them."

Mrs. Conde—"Personally I think it very distasteful."

SENIOR INTERVIEW

This week we interviewed a Senior boy with brown hair, who goes by the name of Kevin Peter Lynch. Kevin was born October 1, 1930 in Hornell, New York. For three years we have seen Kevin participate with great skill in our competing basketball games. He also has taken track for one year. Some of his favorites are:

Hobby: Milking cows.
Color: Yellow.
Car: Chevrolet convertible.
Food: Steak.
Author: John R. Tunis.
Book: Miracle Of The Bells.
Movie: Saigon.
Actor: Bing Crosby.
Actress: Loretta Young.
Song: Beg Your Pardon.
Sport: Ping pong.
Subject: Typing.

Kevin has been accepted at St. Bonaventure College where he will take up a pre-dental course.

I'm sure all of you will join us in offering a good luck token to Kevin in his chosen career.
