WANDERING with "WILLIE"

OUR CROW STORY came to a sad ending during this blankety-blank weather of the past few weeks. Young Joe Crow, last of the family of four Joe's of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Crow, who has been a resident at the East Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jackson for the past year, turned up his toes, opened his mouth, and without further ado slipped into wherever crows go when they take their final slip. "Joe" has been the pet of the street and his greeting will be missed by many residents in that neighborhood—and there will probably be a surplus of clothes pins up that way also as one of "Joe's" passions was the collection of clothes pins which only he knew their hiding place.

WHY pick on a volunteer fireman is more than we know, but the following was mailed to us some time ago and as there are no firemen in Andover like the one herein, maybe there is one some other place:

A minister was to conduct the funeral of the town wastrel whose life had been such that not a great deal of good could be said of him. Even his widow understood that. Nevertheless, the pastor wanted to say something on the complimentary side if he could, and it occurred to him to scan the floral wreaths with their cards of sympathy. The man had been a volunteer fire fighter and the hook-and-ladder boys had sent a beautiful floral piece. "This ought to have something if anything does," the preacher thought. He was sadly disillusioned. Worked neatly into the design of red roses was this statement: "Gone to his last fire."

Elm Valley 4-H News

The 50th regular meeting of the Elm Valley Hustlers was held at the Alfred Grange hall recently. Seven boys in the club went on the cattle judging tour April 29 on which David Payne and Daniel Perkins received their plaques.

We had two guests, Mr. Dedrick and Carrie Robison. Mrs Dedrick showed two movies.

Shirley Baker and Gladys Pierce are going to give a demonstration on how to make graham bread. Refreshments were served and a very nice time was enjoyed at the Grange hall.

Catches Big Trout

Walter Wightman of Wellsville caught a brown trout in Dyke's Creek over the week-end that was 26 inches long and weighed six pounds. The trout, which was displayed in George Debarbieri's window in Wellsville is claimed by local fish experts to be a German brown which was stocked in this area some 40 years ago. According to authorities the fish had a freak head, which was claimed to be in proportion to a trout of 32 inches in length.
