WE ARE JUDGED BY OUR ACTS

by Evelyn Louise Glover

Our manners are always under examination. We are being watched by committees that we know nothing about and these committees are awarding or denying very high prizes when we least think of it.

Who are the observers that pay such close attention to our behaviour? They are our friends and neighbors, our teammates, classmates, teachers or employers. They are the people with whom we associate day by day, the people who know how we act under all kinds of circumstances. They do not judge us by our thoughts, for they cannot see what goes on in our mind. They judge us by our acts, our behavior, our manners.

But what about the prizes which those who observe us award or deny? In a real sense we receive or lose prizes every day. Those who like our behavior reward us with their friendship and admiration, and that means a great deal, for we can't very well get along without friends. Popularity makes for happiness and success, so the prize of friendship and respect is not to be scorned.

One has a chance to practice good manners wherever he may be. The quality of our behavior certainly stands out clearly in the classroom. The ill-mannered student betrays his crudeness in many ways. He may laugh at the mistakes of others—he may wave his hand when a fellow student is speaking, or whisper, or fail to pay attention when a discussion is in progress. He thus advertises to the world that he does not respect the feelings of other people.

How different is the student who shows good will in every act—who is thoughtful, attentive, friendly and co-operative. Such a person is quite certain, sooner or later, to be rewarded with popularity and success.

We sometimes speak of "company manners," as if we should be more courteous to guests than to the relatives in the home. From the standpoint of happy living, however, it is more essential that kindliness and courtesy prevail in the family than among outside acquaintances.

ANDOVER BOYS ATTEND ANNUAL SPRING DAY MEET

Last Saturday, May 15th, the Annual Spring Day Meet welcomed 300 entries on the Wellsville track.

The highlight of the meet in the eyes of the Andover people was the exhibition relay race in which four ACS junior high students ran against the junior high team of Wellsville. "Jim" Conde started for the local four and it was here Wellsville had placed their strong man, who had the edge on Conde. Conde passed the baton to Dale Pelton who tore up the cinders and was gaining all the time. Pelton made a beautiful pass of the baton to "Dick" Fulton, who immediately took the lead and Kent Harder, running anchor man, held this lead and finished victorious.

Corning Free Academy won the meet as a whole with 33 points. Hornell was in for a close second with 32 points and Wellsville scored 29 points for a third and Olean copped 25 points for fourth.

AG. DEPARTMENT REPORTS ACTIVITIES

The boys in the ag. classes are learning the fundamentals of potato planting.

The fellows who indulged in tree planting invested part of the money they earned, amounting to $140 in a Kodak 35 camera and exposure meter which they plan to use taking pictures of projects and various activities.

Harold Dodge, Bob Burger, Teddy O'Dell and Carl Clark attended the 23rd annual convention of the New York Association of Future Farmers of America.

Hall of Fame

Early this year the Hi Herald voted to sponsor the "Hall of Fame" which will include each year five members of the Senior Class. These selections were made and will continue to be made by a vote of the faculty on the basis of scholarship, sportsmanship, and mental, physical and moral development. Since Rose Mary Baker's name appears first in alphabetical order, her picture and acccomplishments appear first:

Rose Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Baker of Andover and she has three brothers James, Mickey and John and one sister, Patricia attending this school.

Throughout her high school years Rose Mary has been prominent in various activities and has several times displayed her abilities. This year she was chief editor of the Hi Herald. Having served as reporter on the staff three previous years, she was well qualified for this job. She is a member of this year's Student Council and besides being active in 4-H Club, Library Council, and Camera Club, she belongs to the National Honor Society.

Rose Mary Baker

Rose Mary has written many fine essays and several times was a Dairymen's League Essay contest winner.

Rose Mary also possesses musical talent and acting ability. She was a member of the band for three years and in chorus and orchestra four years, besides being a member of last year's string trio and this year's string quartette. She played a leading role in the Senior play "Aunt Tillie Goes to Town," is on the Senior yearbook staff, is secretary of the Senior Class, has received a school letter for outstanding achievement and possesses more than the required credits for graduation.

Rose Mary has been accepted to Alfred University where she will prepare to be a science and mathematics teacher. Her co-operative attitude toward students and teachers alike, and her willingness to be helpful and congenial are qualities which helped the teachers vote her into the Hi Herald's Hall of Fame.

ACS MUSICIANS TO PRESENT SPRING CONCERT

The students of Andover Central School will hold a spring concert Tuesday night, May 25 at 8 o'clock in the ACS auditorium. This will be directed by the music instructor, Mrs. Eleanor Briggs.

The band, orchestra and chorus will provide very good entertainment. There will also be a trumpet solo by Kathryn Joyce, trombone solo by Phyllis Nye, violin solo by Ann Marie Green, and a brass quartet with Phyllis Burdick and Theodore Smith playing the baritones, Kathryn Joyce and Kenneth Nye playing the trumpet.

I'm sure everyone will be anxious to find out just how much local talent can be found in Andover Central School.

The public is cordially invited to attend, and remember, there is no admission charge. LO

THANKS

The Senior Class wishes to thank every person who in any way made our play the success that it was. This includes Mrs. Gath and Mrs. Recktenwald who we wish to thank for their fine direction; Mrs. Briggs for furnishing music, Mrs. MacFadden and Mrs. Conde for their fine help behind the scenes and Mr. Bartz for advising.

GRADE NEWS

The Junior High grades had a party May 17th.

A new pupil, Opal Tanner, has entered the eighth grade and her sister, Betty Tanner, has entered the seventh grade. Both girls are from Troupsburg.

The sixth graders are making bird booklets. They have seen the objects of Mr. Bartz, from Japan.

Miss Church's fifth and sixth grade pupils are expecting a visitor from India on May 21st. He will tell of many interesting activities. They also had a skating party May 10th and they wish to thank the people who furnished cars.

The fifth graders are now studying Canada and they have just finished with the possessions of the United States.

The fourth grade has a new student, Vivian Tanner from Troupsburg. They entertained the third graders with a program.

The Red spelling team of the third and fourth grades has eight scores against the Blue team, which has none. They are studying about the Eskimos. Ruth Kemp is their new class president for the month.

Jimmy Mulholland, in the first grade, had a birthday party. The first grade also welcomed a new pupil, Mary Whiting from the Wellsville Brooklyn school. The group in reading has finished the book "Our New Friends."

The kindergarten children are making a circus unit. They have cut out and stuffed animals which are put in cages. They are reading circus stories and singing songs. They have a new pupil, Susan Demming from Wellsville. They also have a new record "Circus Goes to Town," which both groups are using.

A.C.S. FACULTY ENTERTAINS SCHOOL BOARD

Monday evening, May 14, the faculty of Andover Central entertained members of the school board and Mr. and Mrs. William Garwood in the Legion rooms.

After the dinner card games were played. Prizes were won by Miss Doris Church, Mrs. Richard Harder and Mrs. Fred Green.

PANTHERS DEFEAT ALFRED-ALMOND

by Bob Baker

The Andover baseball team took their fifth win of the year from the Alfred-Almond nine by a 10-2 score. Andover played heads-up ball and knocked out 11 hits.

Mulconery pitched three-hit ball for Andover and struck out five. Lorow and Biehl shared Alfred-Almond mound duties and Lorow was charged with the loss.

Mulconery, Richardson, Lynch and J. Smith each tallied two hits for Andover with Mulconery getting a double for the only Andover extra base hit. Loper hit a home for Alfred-Almond.

SENIOR PLAY PROCEEDS NET $100

The class treasurer of the Senior class added $100 to the cash on hand column after receiving a net total of $100 from the class play enterprise.

This money will be used for the graduation activities.

STUDENTS ATTEND CONFERENCE

Wednesday, May 12, four students of Andover Central school attended the Student Government Conference of Western New York, held this year at Geneseo Central School and Geneseo State Teachers College.

It was a very educational experience for those who attended: Ruth Shutt, Evelyn Glover, Robert Burger and Rose Mary Baker.

At this meeting which was a series of talks and panel discussions, methods of organizing, leading and keeping active student councils were brought up. Each Andover delegate attended a different meeting and consequently each brought home new ideas of what may be done along different lines to make our Student Council a better organization.

Rose Mary Baker entered into a panel discussion on "Letter Awards," in which she gave a report on our letters for girls' extra curricular activities. The students were given a chance to look over the grounds of the State Teachers College in their leisure and all returned home with the memory of a very worthwhile experience, having seen how the Student Council of ACS compared with others, how a Student Council should be organized and some purposes of a good Student Council and how it affects the life of the school. CHIT-CHAT

The big dance at Seberry's barn in Belvidere attracted quite a few Seniors Friday night and from all reports, a good time was had by all.

Doris Atwell is flashing around her new wrist watch which she received for graduation.

John Bridge hasn't yet removed all the talcum powder from his hair, likewise Lila Childs and Madge Collins. It's too bad to be gray headed so young.

The event of the year has just happened. Pat Dolan, when asked to help with this column, couldn't think of a thing to say.

The popping sounds which you will be hearing during the next five weeks will NOT be the sound of firecrackers but the cracking of books by some of the less ardent students who have rested during the past year.

Phyllis Nye is going to be sitting home since her fella has joined the Navy.

The Sophomore Class welcomes Aquinas Lynch back after nearly a two weeks' absence, during which she was hospitalized part of the time.

It must be nice having someone send souvenirs from France, isn't it, Barb?

We have discovered one lucky girl from the Sophomore class. Frances Baker has cast her charms over none other than Marlin Mathers.

Why is Teddy Vankuren always playing "Shine" on the jute box in "Freddie's"? Could it be because of Greenwood, Teddy?

Some of the Sophomores spent interesting times doing other other things. They are: "Skeet" Milligan, fishing—Duane Hackett, visited Richburg—Don Scott, ate, slept, visited Aquinas — Joyce Linza went to Silver Lake—Joan Jackson visited Wellsville — Bill Holt attended the dance at Seberry's—Mary Ellen Connor assisted at the bake sale.

We see Everett Davis and Joyce Linza are getting along pretty well in study hall.

We wonder why Mrs. Conde moved Franklin Cornish last Friday and told him not to sit there again.

We are wondering how Teresa Joyce and Dale Green are getting along? We see Teresa making eyes at Dale Green when he comes after the absence cards.

We are wondering who that girl is that Harry Foster sees at the skating rink.

Who was the girl you walked home from the skating rink with the other night, Dick Reisman?

Who is that boy in sixth grade that Ruth Curry is going with? It couldn't be Don Sutherland, could it?

Clarence Cady looked lonesome Friday night since he wasn't home with Louise.

Ruth Halsey, Evelyn Glover and Louise O'Dell had a nice time in Ithaca over the week-end.

Rosemary Meade attended the ball game in Wayland Sunday.

Where was Betty Isaman Friday night? We saw Bill, but no Betty.

We saw Jack Mason and Ruth Shutt at the dance Friday night. They seemed to be "on the top of the world."

Ann Marie Greene sure likes to fish. Catch anything Annie?

FHA GIRLS ATTEND STATE MEETING AT ITHACA

Friday morning, May 14, we, Louise O'Dell, Evelyn Glover and Ruth Halsey, accompanied by Mrs. Jennie Dahl, attended the annual state convention at Cornell University.

After riding for approximately five hours, we arrived at the university, and after riding about the large and beautiful campus consisting of 1,500 acres, we found the Martha Van Renssalaer building where we registered and received programs of the events to take place.

In the evening of the same day we attended an informal get together with the rest of the girls from all of the other chapters. At 9:30 we departed to our various lodgings for the night, ours being an inviting tourist home in Ithaca.
