Erie delivers the goods...

and Attracts New Industries to Erie Communities

To keep raw materials coming in . . . to keep finished products flowing out to consumers, manufacturers must have adequate railroad transportation.

For more than a century, the Erie has provided its local industries with safe, dependable freight service that is constantly being improved by new, progressive methods. This is one important reason so many new industries have located in the Erie Area.

Locating more new plants in the Erie Area means greater employment—greater prosperity to your community.

New industries anywhere on the Erie bring your local industries closer to markets for their products or closer to sources of supply.

The Erie will continue to tell industry about the many benefits of locating in the Erie Area. And to match this industrial expansion, the Erie will continue to improve its service through progressive railroading.

VETERANS NEWS LETTER

World War II veterans who have applied for automotive vehicles have until June 30th to submit their supporting papers. The VA advises veterans to apply for their cars at least 15 days before the deadline to allow ample time to process their applications.

The law provides an automobile or other conveyance, at a cost not to exceed $1,600, for veterans who have lost the use of one or more of a foot or above the ankle.

As of March 1st, a total of 13,205 veterans had received vehicles under the "autos for amputees" law.

Members of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps are entitled to the New York State veterans bonus if otherwise qualified. A decision by the State Attorney General dated May 4th ruled that the WAAC were members of a component of the armed forces of the U. S. before the Corps became part of the Army itself as the Women's Army Corps.

Vacancies for 100 retail students in the next registration, July 6, have been announced by the New York State Institute of Applied Arts and Sciences at Utica. In addition, the Institute has vacancies for 30 students each in the mechanical, textile, and electrical divisions for registration October 4.

Further information may be obtained at the Allegany County Veterans' Service Agency, Court House, Belmont.

The executive secretary of the Allegany County Civil Service Commission has requested that attention be called to the recent ruling made by the New York State Civil Service Commission in conformance with the decision and opinion of the State Court of Appeals. It has ruled that on future certifications, a veteran with less than a ten per cent service-connected disability shall not be certified as a disabled veteran. Heretofore, the law has been interpreted as including those veterans with service-connected disability, even of zero per cent.

The Court of Appeals' decision of April 22 finally settled an issue that had been battled up through the State's courts for the past year or more.

Asparagus, a Common Luxury

Did you know that asparagus is one of the world's oldest cultivated vegetables? It is believed the Greeks and Romans used it as a food long before the Christian era—a luxury food, available only to the privileged few.

Today you can grow it in your own backyard, or buy it now in the market. You don't have to be a plutocrat to eat asparagus today.

It's a good vegetable. One serving gives about 10 per cent of the iron, 20 per cent of the vitamin A, and 25 per cent of the vitamin C allowance for an adult for one day. It also contains some calcium, iron, thiamine, riboflavin and niancin.

Buy with care, for asparagus is highly perishable. Its flavor changes rapidly after it has stood around for a while, unless the stalks are cared for.

Select stalks that are firm, fresh and bright green, with moist cut ends. Select straight stalks with tightly closed tips; and don't buy more than you can use in one meal.

Store in the refrigerator. Stand the cut ends in a glass of water. Cover with a moist cloth and place in the vegetable compartment and it will keep fresh for a few days.

It's time to put asparagus, peas and green beans [illegible] along soon.

Have you heard that pressure sauce pans are being used successfully for canning? The sauce pans must be a type that will hold a pint jar and which has a gauge that allows the pressure to be accurately controlled at 10 pounds. And because the sauce pan heats more quickly than does the pressure cooker, and cools off more rapidly, vegetables must be processed about 20 minutes longer in the sauce pan than in the pressure cooker.

A Housecleaning Hint

You can make hard work of housecleaning or reduce it to an efficient routine, depending on the way you plan. Here's one short-cut suggested by the College of Home Economics at Cornell. Use a basket to carry dust-cloths, furniture polish, soap and cleaning powders. Then they'll be where you want them when you want them.
