MY THANKS TO YOU ALL

Rose Mary Baker

Since my term as editor of the Hi Herald is over, I can only say that during my time as editor I found a great deal of pleasure in working with a most efficient staff and it is to them that the credit for these publications is given. I know that they have done their best during this year.

I think that by working together we have accomplished what we set out to do. We have published a paper which for the most part was satisfactory to all who read it.

No organization can function without the full co-operation of all members. This is one reason we have been able to do such a good job this year. We had co-operation among ourselves.

The Hi Herald has this year started a Hall of Fame which was not in Andover Central School before. This year's staff in the decades to come can look back and say "The staff I was on started that." It is a real goal to have reached as part of the student body.

The frolics and gossip were this year combined as one under Chit-Chat and will be heralded by many as an improvement.

The staff went about this task with few objections. It was difficult to get used to the change and more work was involved but it was done and always on time.

This year's staff totalled about 40 members, a large number, but in spite of its size almost all assignments were handed in. It is sometimes easy for members of a large staff to think that because there are so many one little assignment won't be missed, but it is often those few lines which count most. This attitude did not prevail this year.

I consider myself to have been a most lucky editor to have such a staff to work with. Everyone took his turn at news and features alike and it made my job quite a bit easier knowing I could depend upon the assignments being in on time, and done to the best of the reporter's ability.

The person who has done perhaps the most work of all this year is our adviser and head of the English department of ACS, Mrs. Marie McFadden.

I thank Mrs. McFadden for all she has done to help me all through the year. Editing the paper would have been a much harder task without her advice and guidance.

I wish to thank the staff for the excellent work they have done this year and last but not least I wish to thank the public who have offered suggestions as to ways of improving the paper.

Mr. Claire Backus and his staff also are indispensable to publishing this paper. Our thanks to them will be found in the high school yearbook.

I am sure the editor for next year, who ever it may be, will do as good and probably better job than I and I can assure you she will find a staff who co-operates to the fullest extent.

ANDOVER FFA REPRESENTATIVES TO ATTEND CAMP

At the F.F.A. meeting Monday night the boys talked about the State F.F.A. Camp. The program at camp this year will be based on leadership training and recreation. The Andover boys plan to attend camp the week of August 12-18.

The boys voted to buy new official F.F.A. jackets with half the cost being paid by the members and half being paid by the chapter.

There was a county F.F.A. meeting held in the Andover Central School cafeteria last Wednesday evening for election of county officers and the giving of county awards. Robert Baker and Carl Clark were the boys from Andover who received the county awards.

Hall of Fame

The second member of the Hall of Fame in alphabetical order, and selected by the faculty of A.C.S. for his outstanding accomplishments is John C. Bridge, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Bridge of Andover.

He was born in Hornell, N. Y., on May 21, 1930 and is the oldest son, having only one sister, Lena Elizabeth, who is now a member of the Freshman Class. He has attended Andover Central School for the past eight years.

John was the secretary of the 4-H Club during his Freshman year and has been an active member of many other school organizations in recent years. He was on the varsity staff of the Hi Herald during his Senior year; a member of the Camera Club during his Senior year and also Salutatorian of his class. John is now the editor-in-chief of the class yearbook and played as Luther Lorrimer, one of the leading roles in the class play. He was also the sales manager of the magazine campaign and took part in intramurals during his Freshman and Sophomore years.

Besides all of these extra-curricular activities he also wrote a play entitled "Decision for Kathy," for his English IV project. The play was characterized by other members of the Senior Class for the benefit of the school students. It was well written and required a talented person to produce such an outstanding creation. John has received many appraisals for this outstanding production and any one who saw it will agree with me when I say that the play was exceedingly well written and produced under his direction.

John C. Bridge

Throughout John's eight years in the Andover Central School he has made many friends, most of whom will always remember his fine personality. He has always been known to lend a helping hand whenever it was at all necessary.

John's ambition is to become a teacher and he expects to fulfill his dreams by attending Geneseo State Teachers College.

SENIOR DAY PLANS ARE COMPLETED

At last the day which all Seniors have been looking forward to for several years has been planned and the date set. Yes, I'm referring to Senior Day, June 11th, a traditional day in which the members of the Senior class take over the running of the school and classes. On this day they execute their authority and for once their word is another's command.

School will be run as usual, however, the Seniors will be under faculty supervision, with the following people filling the designated positions:

Ray Smith, principal.
John Bridge, secretary.
Doris Atwell, 7th and 8th history and English.
Rose Mary Baker, math.
Phyllis Burdick, music.
James Burgett, science.
Lila Childs, 7th and 8th history and English.
Madge Collins, biology and study halls.
Harold Dodge, agriculture and shop.
Pat Dolan, girls physical education.
Karl Fisher, history in A.M., English in P. M., Latin II.
Harriet Herring, study hall.
Lawrence Hoyt, janitor.
Kathryn Joyce, homemaking.
Kevin Lynch, history in P. M., English in A. M., Latin I.
Philip Mascho, janitor.
Philis Mascho, study hall and nurse.
Phyllis Nye, art.
Earl Richardson, boys' physical education.
Dolores Snyder, commercial subjects.
Helen Yannie, history in P.M., nurse in A.M.

The day will be one of many surprising happenings as are all Senior days, but I'm sure it will be one both profitable and enjoyable. At night the junior-senior banquet will provide a splendid ending for a perfect day. JCB

The Water Cure

Brown: "I'm sorry to see you so ill, John. Have you seen the doctor?"

John: "Yes, and I'm having three baths a day."

Brown: "What ever for?"

John: "Don't know; doctor's orders. He gave me some medicine, and told me to follow the directions on the bottle 'One tablespoon to be taken three times a day in water'."

The Andover high nine triumphed over Belmont by a 12-0 score on the Andover field May 25. Mulconery, the Andover harler, pitched a no-hit no-run game while striking out six and walking none. Neiss started for Belmont but was relieved by Greene in the sixth inning after giving up all the Andover runs.

Although handicapped by an injured hand, Joe Smith caught a fine game and led the locals at bat with four base hits. Mulconery smashed out a homer, triple and single for three hits while Richardson and Bostick collected a triple and double respectively.

SENIOR INTERVIEW

This week the pride of the Senior class is a boy born January 25, 1931 in Greenwood, N. Y. He is five feet ten and a half inches tall, with black, wavy hair and green eyes. He has been very active in the field of sports, having played basketball two years and baseball for the past three years. His chief ambition is to become a four-star general in the Army, since he thinks he will soon be rendering his services to Uncle Sam. If you haven't already guessed the name of this lad, we'll add another clue. He is president of the Senior Class and his favorites are:

Food: Dog biscuits with warm water.
Subject: Bookkeeping.
Book: Gentlemen's Agreement.
Author: John R. Tunis.
Movie: Pride of the Yankees.
Actor: Gregory Peck.
Actress: June Allyson.
Pet peeve: Long assignments.
Car: Anything on four wheels.
Sport: Baseball.

By now you should recognize the boy as Robert Gerald Smith, better known as "Ray," who during his four years of high school has pursued a college entrance course.

In whatever career Ray chooses we wish him much success.

We are also introducing another popular and active Senior girl, who is five feet seven and one-half inches in height, has blue eyes and pretty blond hair. She was born in Avoca, Pa., on May 24, 1930 and came to Andover in her Sophomore year. Marjorie Jean Collins, better known in ACS as "Madge" has been an active cheerleader at the basketball games and has written many types of articles for our school paper, the Hi Herald. Among her favorites are:

Subject: Biology.
Song: Laroo Laroo Lillie Balaro.
Car: "Chevy."
Hobby: Going out.
Food: Spaghetti and meat balls.
Movie: "Undercurrent."
Actor: Walter Pidgeon.
Actress: Katherine Hepburn.
Sport: Basketball.
Pet peeve: Gossip.

"Madge's" ambition is to live a long and happy life, which we sincerely hope will be filled with much success.
