CHAP. 12.

AN ACT prescribing the officers and employees that may be elected, appointed, or employed by the Senate and Assembly, fixing the salary and compensation thereof, and regulating the proceedings of investigating committees, and providing for the payment of the expenses thereof.

Passed P. January 1, 1873, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The senate may elect or appoint a clerk a stenographer, a sergeant at-arms, and an assistant, who shall act as postmaster, an assistant postmaster, a door keeper, and six assistants, one person who shall act as janitor and keeper of the Senate chamber and its ante rooms, and one assistant; not more than sixteen persons to serve as clerks of committees, and not more than eighteen pages, including those who serve as messengers and pages to committees. The president of the Senate may appoint a clerk and a messenger, and the clerk of the Senate may appoint an assistant clerk, a journal clerk, four deputy clerks, one of whom shall act as clerk of the committee on engrossed bills; a librarian, an assistant librarian, a superintendent of documents and three messengers.

§ 2. The Assembly may elect or appoint a clerk, a stenographer, a sergeant-at-arms and an assistant, a postmaster and an assistant, a superintendent of documents, a door-keeper, and ten assistants, one person who shall perform the duties of janitor and keeper of the Assembly chamber and its ante rooms, and an assistant, a mail carrier, who shall carry the mails for both the senate and assembly, not more than sixteen persons to serve as clerks of committees, not more than six general messengers, and not more than thirty pages, to be in employ and drawing pay at one time, including pages who shall act as messengers to committees. The speaker may appoint a clerk and messenger, and the clerk of the Assembly may appoint an assistant clerk, a journal clerk, and not more than nine deputies, one of whom shall be clerk to the committee on engrossed bills, a librarian, and an assistant, and not more than five messengers.

§ 3. The following salaries shall be paid for the annual session of the legislature:

To the clerks of each house, three thousand dollars; to the assistant clerks and journal clerks, each fifteen hundred dollars.

To the deputy clerks, each twelve hundred dollars, except to clerks assigned to the committees on engrossed bills, to the clerk of the journal of the Senate and to the speaker's clerk six hundred dollars.

To the sergeant-at-arms, the assistant sergeant at arms, the librarians, the assistant librarians, the postmaster of the Assembly, the assistant postmasters of the Senate and Assembly, and the door-keepers to each of them six dollars per day; to the assistant door-keepers, the keepers and janitors, the assistant-keepers and janitors and superintendent of documents of the Senate and Assembly each five dollars per day; and each of the officers in this section above named shall receive the same mileage as is now allowed by law to the members of the Legislature.

To stenographers, fifteen hundred dollars each.

To the clerks of the committees, each five dollars per day.

To the mail carrier, three dollars per day.

To the messengers, each three dollars per day.

To the pages, each two dollars per day.

And no extra allowance shall be made to the officers and employees above named on any pretence whatever.

The mileage, salary and per diem allowance in this section provided for shall be paid on the warrant of the Comptroller upon the certificate of the president of the Senate for the officers and employees of the Senate, and on the certificate of the speaker for the officers and employees of the Assembly.

§ 4. No other person not a member of the Legislature shall be appointed to any position, or employed for any purpose, in either house, other than such as are hereinbefore provided for, except that whenever, in the judgment of either house, an emergency shall arise in which additional employees or assistants shall be required, such additional persons may be temporarily appointed or employed, as either house may deem actually necessary, but no such person shall be appointed, employed or paid, unless a resolution of such house authorizing it shall be first adopted, by the affirmative vote of a majority of all the members elected to such house, and on such vote the ayes and noes shall be taken and entered at large upon the journal of such house, which resolution shall distinctly and fully specify the emergency that has rendered the employment of such additional assistants necessary, the name of the person proposed to be appointed or employed, the rate of compensation to be allowed him, and the duration of such employment; and such employment shall cease at the time specified in such resolution, or sooner, if the purpose of such employment shall have been accomplished.

§ 5. Whenever any standing committee of either house shall be charged with the duty of making any inquiry or investigation, such committee shall have power to appoint a sub committee to consist of not less than three of its own members to make such inquiry or investigation, and to take testimony in relation thereto; and such committee or sub-committee shall have all the power and authority that is now conferred by law upon any committee, which, by the terms of its appointment, is authorized and for persons and papers, and the chairman of any committee or sub-committee shall have all the power and authority that is now conferred by law upon any committee of which by the terms of its appointment is authorized to send for persons and papers, and the chairman of such committee and of such sub-committee shall be authorized to administer to all witnesses coming before such committee or sub-committee for examination the oath prescribed by law to be administered to witnesses in legislative investigations. Every witness attending upon any committee or sub-committee, and every officer and employee of either house who shall be required to attend upon any committee or sub-committee, shall receive the same compensation as is allowed by law to witnesses attending upon committees of the Assembly, which compensation shall be audited and paid upon the certificate of the chairman of such committee, and duly proved, by affidavit or otherwise, to the satisfaction of the said Comptroller. Whenever, by resolution of either house, a committee shall be directed to conduct an investigation, or take testimony in any other place than the city of Albany, the Comptroller shall draw his warrant for the payment of the actual and necessary expenses incurred thereby by such committee or the sub committee having in charge such investigation inquiry or taking of testimony, together with the actual and necessary expenses of such officers and employees as shall be authorized to accompany them; but no such expenses shall be paid until a bill of the items thereof, in detail, shall be rendered to the Comptroller, and the correctness thereof shall be certified by the chairman of such committee, and duly approved by the president of the Senate in the case of committee of the Senate, and by the speaker of the Assembly, in the case of a committee of the Assembly, and duly proved by affidavit or otherwise, to the satisfaction of the Comptroller.

§ 6. All laws and parts of laws inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

§ 7. This act shall take effect immediately.

CHAP. 146.

AN ACT to authorize corporations to hold and convey real estate, for business purposes, in other States, with the consent thereof.

Passed March 26, 1873.

The people of the State of New York represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. It shall be lawful for any corporation organized under the laws of this State, and transacting business in several States, to acquire, hold and convey in such States, with the consent thereof, such real estate as shall be requisite for such corporation in the convenient transaction of its business.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.
