Price of June Milk Estimated At $4.77

New York, June 28—A uniform price to dairymen of $4.77 per hundredweight for their June deliveries to pool-approved plants in the New York milkshed was forecast today by Dr. C. J. Blanford, Market Administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area.

At the same time he estimated that the producer butterfat differential for June would be 7.4 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 percent standard.

The price forecast, Dr. Blanford said, is based on an estimated production for the month of 624 million pounds. This would mean an average of 460 pounds a day by the estimated 45,183 producers in the milkshed.

Soil Conservation Groups Plan Field Day at Alfred

Agricultural groups in Western New York will sponsor a Soil Conservation Field Day to be held on the New York State Agricultural and Technical Institute farm at Alfred Wednesday, August 4. This is believed to be the first locally sponsored affair in Eastern U. S.

Soil conserving practices—diversion ditches, contour strip cropping, reforestation, farm woodlot improvement—will be demonstrated along with existing improvements. Heavy machinery, provided by cooperating Districts may be seen in action building diversion ditches and farm ponds removing hedgerows and improving pastures. This work will be under the supervision of Soil Conservation Service technicians and Hugh Wilson, Cornell Soil Conservationist.

A contour plowing contest is scheduled with contestants from nine Western New York counties. Agricultural engineers from Alfred; Roy Babcock of West Valley and H. J. Evans of Georgetown. They will be assisted by an official representative of the Ontatio (Canada) Plowmens' Association.

Fred Winch of Cornell, Extension Forester, will demonstrate improvement practices in the woodlot and show visitors the reforestation plans as part of soil conservation work.

Pasture improvement, diversion and meadow seedings will be discussed by Cornell Extension Agronomists, Ernest VanAlstine. Use of various mixtures and seeding methods are to be demonstrated.

All agricultural organizations are cooperating. They include Soil Conservation Service, state and county extension services, Radio Station WGR, Soil Conservation Districts of Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauqua, Erie, Genesee, Livingston, Orleans and Steuben counties.

Junior Legion Win Six In a Row

Last Friday the local Junior Legion team slammed out its fifth straight win, when they downed Canaseraga here by a 2 to 1 score. Andover collected a total of three hits due to three successful bunts off Sleggs, the losing pitcher. Mulconery, the winning pitcher with a 4-0 record so far allowed the losers only two hits. Sleggs struck out 14 men while Mulconery downed 11 via the strikeout route.

Wednesday night the Legion boys played Whitesville there, winning by a score of 9 to 2 for their sixth straight win. D. Lehman and Joe Smith were the Andover battery. Lehman struck out 13 Whitesville batters and allowed nine hits. He also collected three hits from four trips to the plate. Crittenden, pitching for Whitesville, allowed 11 hits and struck out two.

This Friday night the locals meet Wellsville here to determine the first place position. Andover and Wellsville are the only undefeated teams in this section.

Almond Trio Come to Grief in Brawl Here

Much excitement was caused on Andover Main street Wednesday evening when three Almond people: Mrs. Avis Cudick, 24, Charles Beaver, 42, and Edward Dixon, 48, engaged in a public brawl and fist fight about 7 p. m.

The trio were arrested by Police Officers Albert Rogers and Harold Rice charged with disorderly conduct and taken before Police Justice Harry Kemp.

Mrs. Cudick and Dixon pled guilty to the disorderly conduct charge and were fined $10 each and were released following payment of the fines.

Beaver, charged with disorderly conduct and public intoxication, drew a $10 fine and was sentenced by Justice Kemp to 90 days in Monroe county penitentiary. He admitted having served two previous terms in State prisons and a term in the county jail at Bath.

He was taken that night to the penitentiary by Police Officer Rogers.
