We've got a headache
No aspirin will cure,
The price is too high
And the meat's darn poor—.

We scream at the Packers
And they stil stay aloof,
Reply, "Don't you know it's the Price on the hoof?"

The Customers holler,
"Your meat's too high,
Our wages won't stand it—
We just won't buy!"

It sure is a headache
This business of meat,
We'd get out of it quick,
But we still like to eat.

So we're still in here pitching
Selling some Meat
And trying to give you
The BEST for the LEAST!

"CARE" Packages Now Go to Japan

At the request of General Douglas MacArthur, Supreme Commander of Allied Forces in the Pacific, CARE announces the extension of its non-profit gift package service to Japan.

Negotiations for a further extension to the Philippines, Korea and Okinawa are also under way.

CARE, which has operated for two years in 15 European countries and delivered approximately five and one-half million parcels on order from Americans, thus becomes the only registered agency through which individuals here can send supplementary food to individuals and groups in Japan. All other relief agencies serving the country distribute supplies through LARA (Licensed Agencies for Relief in Asia), which determines the groups and institutions to receive them.

Information on CARE's service to Japan is available at CARE offices in major cities, or may be obtained by addressing CARE, New York or CARE, Los Angeles.
