HAY FEVER

Those who think that a hay fever victim's attack of sneezing is a cue for smiles are ill-advised.

Hay fever is no laughing matter. In addition to the uncontrollable sneezing, burning throat, running nose and weeping eyes, the sufferer may have his general health undermined through loss of sleep and appetite. Hay fever can also lead to infection of the sinuses, throat and bronchial tubes and is sometimes accompanied by asthma.

Hay fever is an allergy, or sensitivity, to pollen, dust or other substances which affects the eyes and nasal passages.

The allergy known as perennial hay fever, which can strike at any time of the year, is sensitivity to house dust, animal hair, feathers or certain foods. Seasonal hay fever is caused by certain trees, is prevalent during April, May and early June. Summer hay fever, coming with the spread of pollen from such grasses as timothy and redtop, starts at the end of May and continues until the middle of July.

The most widespread type of hay fever is caused by ragweed pollen. Known as fall hay fever, it lasts from about the middle of August to the time of the first frost in Fall.

Hay fever is serious enough to call for medical treatment. Its victim should consult his family doctor for relief. The doctor may prescribe treatment or he may send the patient to an allergy specialist.

By a series of allergy tests, the doctor may discover what substance is causing hay fever and then prescribe specific remedies that may partially or completely cure the sufferer's sensitivity.

There are vaccines that prevent or make milder certain types of hay fever, and the doctor may recommend a series of injections with one of them during the months before the hay fever season begins. Injections during the attack may also bring relief. Removing pollen from the air, particularly in the sufferer's sleeping room, is another form of treatment. For this the doctor may advise an air filter, perhaps in an air-conditioning unit, or an electric pollen remover. Or he may suggest a filter mask or small filter which can be worn in the nose.

There are also medicines and drugs used in treating hay fever. These drugs, of course, should never be used except under medical advice. Those who are using old prescriptions to relieve hay fever should ask the doctor about some of the improved remedies which have been discovered more recently.

IT TAKES SO LITTLE

It takes so little to make us glad,
Just a cheering clasp of a friendly hand,
Just a word from one who can understand;
And we finish the task we long had planned.
And we lose the doubt and the fear that we had-
So little it takes to make us glad.

Stage All Set For PONY League Game at Wellsville

The stage is all set by the Allegany County Shrine Club for their big benefit game in the Pony League between the Wellsville Red Sox and the Jamestown Falcons on August 13th at 7:30 o'clock. Members of the club have already sold a large number of tickets throughout the county. To take care of the crowd, extra bleacher seats will be provided, but when the capacity of the park is reached, no more seats will be sold. Anyone planning to see this game is advised to procure tickets without delay.

Preceding the game a parade will be held on Main street consisting of the Shrine band and units and officers of Ismailia Temple of the Shrine in Buffalo, a color guard from Boy Scout troops in the county and the Allegany County Shrine Club. It will start at the Masonic Temple, march to the ball park and parade around the diamond where the band will play for the fans during the evening.

As an added attraction preceding the game, contests will be held between the ball players of the Wellsville Red Sox and the Jamestown Falcons. There will be races and batting and ball throwing exhibitions for which cash prizes will be awarded.

This is a scheduled Pony League game and the proceeds will be used by the Allegany County Shrine. Club to erect a permanent building at the Seneca Council Boy Scout Camp.
