John L. Lynch Fatally Injured in Auto Accident

Francis Horan Seriously Injured; Heavy Fog Is Blamed For Accident Near Andover.

Death claimed one of Andover's most popular young men in the passing of John L. Lynch Sunday morning about 2:55 at Jones Memorial hospital, Wellsville, following an automobile accident on the Andover-Wellsville road early Saturday morning.

Seriously injured in the crash was Francis Horan, 21, also of Andover, who received a fractured pelvis and severe bruises. He is in the Jones hospital.

The two men were riding in the 1931 Ford coupe of Mr. Lynch when the machine went out of control in the dense fog of Saturday morning, leaving the highway and overturning in front of the Mrs. Charles Robinson residence a mile below Andover. Mr. Horan was thrown clear but Mr. Lynch was pinned beneath the light car.

Due to the fog considerable difficulty was experienced in locating the accident as Police Officer Albert Rogers was summoned from the Charles Lynch residence near the village when the family heard the crash and after scouring the flats between the Lynch farm and the Robinson farm the accident was discovered. Mr. Horan was found near the side of the road by Lyle Beil of Andover who was driving toward Andover. Mr. Beil took the injured man to the Horan home and later he was taken to the Wellsville hospital in the Embser ambulance. Mr. Lynch was immediately removed to the Wellsville hospital in the J. B. Mulholland ambulance in an unconscious condition where he died of a cerebral hemorrhage resulting from a severe concussion of the brain.

"Johnny" as he was popularly known, had been a donor at the American Red Cross Bloodmobile here Friday afternoon and later in the evening had participated in a softball game on the Andover Atthletic Field.

Allegany County To Furnish Four Men In First Draft

Allegany County is slated to furnish four men in the tentative first draft call issued today by State Selective Service Headquarters. A total of 623 men are slated for call in upstate New York outside of New York City.

Tentative calls for other area boards include: Elmira, 8; Penn Yan 2; Bath 9; Geneseo 4; Batavia 5; Salamanca 7; Jamestown 5.

Brig. Gen. Ames T. Brown, State Director of Selective Service explained he issued the tentative call so that local boards would have an indication of the number of registrants they will be required to send for the first preinduction physical examination.

Brown said local boards already were mailing questionaires to eligible draft registrants, starting with 25-year-old men and working down to younger men.

National Selective Service Headquarters has announced the first draft call will come in November.

Brown said that unless the local board grants an extension a registrant is required to return his questionaire within 10 days of receipt.

"Registrants who appealed their classification and then receive a notice to appear for preinduction physical examination are not being denied the right of appeal," Brown said.

"If the preinduction physical examination finds the registrant physically unable to perform military or naval training and service, he will be reclassified in Class 4-F and the need for an appeal will cease," he added.
