Honored at Party

A going-away party was given Miss Phyllis Burdick by the choir of the Methodist Church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clark last Friday night after choir rehearsal. Although a member of another church, for going on two years Miss Burdick has assisted the Methodist choir with her fine musical ability.

At the party words of esteem and appreciation were expressed for her presence and help and the choir presented her with a gift of acknowledgment and remembrance.

Miss Burdick enters the Fredonia Teachers College next Monday to take a course preparatory to becoming a teacher of music. She goes with the good wishes of a host of friends.

A gift was also presented to Harold Huffcutt in recognition of his fine service to the church as a director until recently of the choir.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Do Not Pass Stopped School Bus

(At Least Not Andover Bus 6)

It was again proven Tuesday that it's a bad policy to pass a school bus when passengers are being discharged.

A group of Hornell joy-riders piloting a 1931 LaFayette sedan sailed by Andover Central School Bus No. 6 driven by Police Officer Albert Rogers just as the last two pupils on his run were being discharged Tuesday afternoon on the Andover-Alfred Station road and as Officer "Cupe" was unable to take the license number of the offender due to the smoke screen put out by the ancient vehicle, he took after the car with the bus, overtaking it farther down the road toward Andover village. The driver was transferred to the bus and the ride continued joyfully (?) to Andover Town Hall where the driver was arraigned before Justice C. L. Jackson and paid a fine of $10 when he pleaded guilty to the charge.

WANDERING with "WILLIE"

WE'VE BEEN worried about "flying saucers" over our fair village ever since the little devils were first noted flapping about other places but until this week we never dreamed we'd see one until we received the following letter calling our attention to the discs. (We supposed what we were looking at during the week was a new type of "new look" that the ladies hadn't got the nerve to show until our friend "Atomic Abe" set us on the right track.) Abe states:

Dear "Willie":

Just thought I'd drop you a line and set you straight on the latest rumor.

Due to the fact that we are now on the verge of the Atomic Age, everybody is on edge, and they let their imagination get the best of them.

Maybe you have heard that flying saucers have been sighted in our fair village. If you have, come out from under the bed, calm your nerves and I'll give you the dope.

If you have been around about dusk for the past two weeks, especially on Tuesdays, you might have seen numerous women staggering down the street with their arms loaded. At first glance you'd probably think that they had cut out and wrapped up the bottom of a wash tub. But you'd be dead wrong there, Willie, because they are just aluminum trays that the girls in the Home Bureau have been making.

Probably some of the husbands who have been left at home to do the dishes and put the kids to bed, got fed up and fired a few of those trays off the back porch . . . . some of the neighbors must have spotted them sailing overhead and spread the alarm about seeing flying saucers.

Funny how things like that get started, ain't it, Willie?

Your only friend,
"Atomic Abe"

DUE to a split deer season this year we see we have a Northern Party already looking for early lodging quarters in our village, the party, so we hear being headed by Raymond Baldwin and associates from Fulton, N. Y. (There's nothing like getting in on the ground floor when it comes to deer hunting, what with the way lodgings were in the past few years).

WOMEN are never satisfied. They are trying either to put on weight, take it off or rearrange it.
