ATTENTION, RADIO LISTENERS!

Radio fans have something to look forward to on September 26. Academy Award winner Jimmy Stewart returns to the ABC network at 9:30 p. m., to star in the comedy "That's Gratitude." He plays the role of Bob Grant, a small-time theatrical producer who receives a casual invitation from a man he once befriended. Grant accepts but stays on and on, eventually causing his host's hospitality to diminish to zero level.

This is Stewart's third appearance on the program "Theatre Of the Air" sponsored by U. S. Steel Corporation. He is currently seen in the Alfred Hitchcock thriller, "Rope" which will doubtedly be a success as has his other films such as "Magic Town," "A Miracle Can Happen," "It's a Wonderful Life" and "Call Northside 777." He recently gave a splendid characterization of Edward P. Dowd in the Pulitzer prize winning "Harvey." RMB

GRADE NEWS

Mrs. Connor's first grade pupils are working with colors and number names. They are giving experience stories for reading readiness. There are twenty-five pupils in her class.

In Mrs. Hall's first grade, Richard Baker, James Carver, Marjorie Eccleston, Mary Gath, Lucille Riffenberg, Sara Jean Smith and Micheal Vincent can count to one hundred. Mary Freeland entered school this week.

In Mrs. Vangalo's second grade elected officers. The President is Carolyn Clark, Vice President is Sally Clark, Secretary is Sandra Joyce. The Treasurer is Mary McAndrew.

Miss Jordan's fifth grade is studying maps and making them. They show land, mountains and farms.

In Mrs. Schwarzenbach's sixth grade their terrarium is growing. It has insects ad snakes in it. The pupils are sending a basket of fruit to Yvonne Clements. In social studies they are studying about the solar system.

In Miss. Schmerhorn's third grade, the pupils are making a list of reasons for being indebted to the people who originated Indian Summer. They wish to know if we can add to their list:

1. His warning the hunter to be cautious and quiet.
2. Fire from a dry block and a stick.
3. That good corn bread.
4. The melody of names like "Oswegatchie."
5. A superb flavor we recreate each Thanksgiving. Turkey and cranberries.
6. Early hockey.
7. Using the hunted animal to serve many needs.
8. Making the soil more productive.
9. The mysterious strains of the Tom-Tom.
10. The decided advantage of knowing your weather.

And can you find their pets. Among the stars? Weave such baskets or make prettier rugs?

CHIT-CHAT

The freshman class elected their class officers as follows: President, Jo Ann Marsh; vice-president, Wayne Atwell; secretary, Beverly Hackett; treasurer, Ronald Ellis.

Dale Green and Janice Hall have become good friends.

Clarice Nye's glasses are very attractive.

The Sophomore girls were disappointed that only boys were elected as class officers. Jack Whetson, Charles Snyder and Vic Dow were elected.

We all welcome "Barney" Bosick back to school.

Agnes Davis and a few other girls from Andover were in an accident Saturday night.

What is your main interest in Olean, Donna Nobles? Could his name be Don French?

We wish to congratulate Bob Carpenter as the new junior class president for the coming year.

We saw Betty Smith and one of our old classmates, Duane Hackett, having a "swell" time at the Senior dance Friday night.

We wonder what Aquinas Lynch will do now that Don Scott left our midst?

We've heard many aches and pains from some of the boys. So far all that we've discovered is that it is now the beginning of soccer season.

ELAINE WELCOMES A.C.S. LETTER

Dear Elaine:

Here goes your old pal again. We're back to school and there are many new faces mixed in with the familiar ones.

Friday there was a very familiar sight around the halls and in the classrooms. The girls came to school with their hair set in preparation for the senior dance.

Seniors were busily decorating the gym for their first dance of the season. Everyone was on pins and needles waiting for that big night at eight.

Many of last year's couples are still seen together such as: Teddy O'Dell and Nedra Burrows, Ann Greene and Wayne Sherwood, Fran Baker and Marlin Mather, Rosemary Mead and Jim Burgett, Evelyn Glover and Jim Smith and many others. We also saw many new couples.

It seems strange not to see "Bill" Holt escorting one of his girls and not to see Don Scott and Aquinas Lynch on the dance floor Friday night.

Enough about the senior dance for now. We hear from listening through keyholes that the F.H.A. girls are having a "Game Night" September 24.

All the girls are excited about the new driving class. Many will have an opportunity to drive who wouldn't otherwise have the chance.

In the chorus we have a lot of new faces. The chorus is working on the beautiful "Homing." The girls do a good job on this selection but since practice makes perfect as the old saying goes, perfection will follow later.

There is a confirmed rumor around that the FHA and FFA are going to have a fair September 30th. There will be exhibits from both organizations and should be of interest to everyone.

The senior class rings, for which the seniors are impatiently waiting, should be here soon.

You'll be surprised to hear that "Jim" Burgett has come back to ACS mornings for P.G. course. Everyone was pleased to see Jim around the halls especially Rosemary Mead.

Will close now.

LOCALS TO PLAY AT CANASERAGA THIS FRIDAY

by Bob Baker

The Andover soccer team will journey to Canaseraga Friday, September 24th for their second non-league game of the year.

This is the second year of soccer in Andover and there is a fine chance for the team to go to the playoffs. Many mistakes were discovered in Tuesday's game with Wellsville and some of these will be remedied before Friday. The starting lineup will probably read: Mulconery, left wing; Milligan, left inside; Burgett, center forward; Daley, inside right; Lynch, right wing. In the backfield the starters will be Snyder, left halfback; Burger, center halfback, and Sutor, right halfback. At fullback positions will be Baker and Wheaton with Joe Smith holding down goalie position. Canaseraga is experienced but with good teamwork we should win.

FACT OR OPINION

Rosemarie Baker

Life at the present time is complicated and bewildering. The people of the world are so confused that they don't know what to believe in. These conditions make it easy for propaganda to thrive, because when people are confused in their thinking, they are easily taken in by some doctrine which they think will solve all these problems.

Not all propaganda is bad. For instance: the preacher in his pulpit, the teacher behind her desk, the politician at the microphone, even parents with their children are all trying in some ways to influence the minds and emotions of someone in a certain direction. It is when this method of influence is used in the wrong way that it becomes dangerous.

Propaganda is pushed at us from all directions through the radio, the movies, newspapers and other types of printed matter. We come in contact with so much of it that we find it difficult to separate that which is good from that which is bad. How can we keep our minds free from this type of influence? There is no easy solution, but each of us can do our part by using our intelligence and learning to ask questions about everything we read, see, or hear. We should ask ourselves when reading the newspaper: Does this article present both sides of the story? Does it contain facts and statistics to back up its arguments? When we listen to the radio or see a motion picture we should ask: Is the news commentator sticking to the actual facts or is he slipping in personal opinions of his own? Does this motion picture present the facts as they really are, or are they dressed up or twisted to suit the producer's purpose?

Most propagandists try to influence the public by playing on their emotions. When the soapbox orator tries to rouse the emotions of the people listening to him, he is counting on the mob reaction of the crowd to put over the doctrine he preaches.

Let us remember that emotions are a poor substitute for thought. When we act under the impetus of emotional appeal or as a result of blind prejudice, we have resigned from our responsibility as thinking persons and are ruled by emotion.

AG. AND HOME EC. TEACHERS HOLD BANQUET

The annual banquet of the Agriculture and Home Economics teachers of Allegany county was held in the school cafeteria Monday evening, September 20 at 6:30. The teachers enjoyed a ham dinner, approximately 40 attending the banquet.

After the dinner the agriculture teachers went to the ag. room and the home economics teachers went to the Home Economics room for the evening.

This banquet was sponsored by the seniors to help raise funds for their treasury.

Chairman of the banquet was Mary Ellen Driscoll; co-chairman was Evelyn Glover. Those on the committee were: Joan Joyce, Ruth Halsey, Rita Goodridge, Rosemary Mead and Mary Alice Horan.

LOCALS WIN OVER WELLSVILLE 2-0

by Bob Baker

The Andover High soccer team took a hard fought 2-0 win from Wellsville on the Andover field Tuesday, September 21st. Although Wellsville was inexperienced, they put up a good battle and allowed only one goal. Wellsville's backfield showed up well with goalie Jim Marsh being outstanding.

Bob Carpenter played a fine game at goalie for Andover, although it was his first complete game at that post. Don Mulconery scored the only goal of the game in the second period on a pass from Ken Milligan. The team's next home game will be a week from Friday unless there is a change in the schedule.

"How much am I bid for this thoroughbred, prize Jersey cow?" thundered the auctioneer. "She's solid and hearty, gives two quarts of rich, creamy milk a day, has a calf every year, she's gentle"

"Vait, vait!" interrupted Ikey, "I didn't know vat a fine cow dot vas. I've changed my mind. I won't sell her now."

Mary McAndrew says:

THE 22ND PSALM

Andover, N. Y.—King David, discouraged and old, sat looking out across the plains. He was reviewing his life, and his bitter losses and betrayals seemed to outnumber his triumphs.

Nothing seemed worth while. Then he felt a faint warmth in his veins. His heart seemed lifted from its weariness. Something seemed to move him, that had stood by him in battle and had comforted him when the tide had gone out and all he'd loved had gone with it.

King David then wrote some words which still bring comfort to many weary hearts . . .

"The Lord ruleth me";

Many times he had gone thru days of hope. He'd wandered alone and lost, but there had been a purpose and a plan, a force behind his life.

"And I shall want nothing."

He had all a man might want of far-flung conquered lands and jewels and dancing girls. Now only one thing mattered. The faint warm stirring in his veins was the voice of God bading him to go on and live, to strengthen his weak soul.

"He hath set me in a place of pasture. He hath brought me up, on the water of refreshment":

The pastures of love are far greener than the earth pastures which wither in winter. The fountains of faith never know drought as do the earth waters after the springtime rains are gone.

"He hath converted my soul. He hath led me on the path of justice, for His own name's sake."

His wicked soul was converted, and there, alone with God, he dared be humble that he might live again.

"For though I should walk in the midst of the shadow of death I will fear no evils, for thou art with me. Thy rod and thy staff, they have comforted me."

He had faced many deaths—the death of dreams and loved ones. His pride and confidence had died. Still he had faith that all was well, and that he'd never fear evils because God was always with him.

"Thou hast prepared a table before me, against them that afflict me. Thou hast anointed my head with oil, and my chalice which inebriateth me, how goodly is it!"

His enemies weren't those against whom he'd fought on the field of battle. They were the foes that dwelt in his heart—his envy, hate, fear and greed. They often won the victory but now with God's help he'd see things in the light.

"And Thy mercy will follow me all the days of my life. And that I may dwell in the house of the Lord unto length of days."

His Father's house was not some far-flung place, but the place where he spent all his days. David could not go so far that He would be left behind, for all that he did or thought was part of Him. Where life went, he went, for he was a part of God's mystery.

Everybody Needs Recreation

For health and happiness, begin now doing something that you really enjoy! Too many women think they can't take time off for recreation, but it's time well spent. "Recreation is anything you choose to do in your leisure time which gives you refreshment of mind, body, Romney in his book, "Off the Job Romney in his book, Off the Job Living."

Let Milk Rate With You

Elderly people as well as babies need milk because of its calcium, Dr. C. M. McCay of Cornell states. During the later years of life, the tendency is to eat more bread, less vegetables and meat, and that means less calcium and protein for the body. So, old timers, when you urge the small fry to drink their milk, be sure you drink it yourself!

Pears and Peaches

September's the month of harvest and now every table can glow with the shiny yellow and green of pears, the soft pink bloom of peaches. The peach crop is ample and now is the time to freeze and can. Elbertas are appearing on the market in quantity, but the pear crop is short this year.

New York State Is Tops

Do you know what a great state you live in? In 1946 New York led all states in the production of hay, snap beans for commercial processing, cabbage, onions, and market sweet corn. It was second in production of fluid milk, buckwheat, maple products, apples, grapes, sour cherries, beets for processing, lima beans for market, snap beans for market, and cauliflower. So says a booklet, "This is New York State," recently published by the State Department of Commerce.
