

Republican National Nominations. FOR PRESIDENT, GLYSES S. GRANT, of Illinois.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT, HENRY WILSON, of Massachusetts.

STATE NOMINATIONS FOR GOVERNOR, JOHN A. DIX.

FOR MEMBER OF CONGRESS, HORACE BOARDMAN SMITH, of Chicago.

HORACE GRESELY.

Horace Greeley, the Democratic nominee for President, is just now swirling around the circle.

There is but one way that this can be understood, and that is, that Mr. Greeley would have the country repudiate the patriots who fought and saved the Union, and deliver the government over to those who done all in their power to destroy it.

On any of our readers remember any time during the war that the worst of the Democratic party ever had terms of more bitterness and hatred towards the Union soldiers.

sentiments in 1860, and again in 1864? We rephobish them: "Whoever a considerable section of our Union shall deliberately resolve to go out we shall resist all coercive measures to keep them in it."

This letter was published over Mr. Greeley's name in the Tribune at that time. And at Pittsburgh, the other day, the coalition candidate in defining his position in 1860, said:

"I demanded that there should be a fair open, free discussion before the Southern people, and an honest, unfettered, unobstructed vote, and if they approved, if the people of the South said they wanted disunion, I would consent to it."

It is but little over a year since the Tribune made ostentatious boast that "there is no office in the universe that would be any impediment to Horace Greeley to forgo or postpone his advocacy of protection of home industry."

We have spoken elsewhere of the nomination of the Democrats for Governor. The other important position was that of Representative at large, for which the Convention nominated Mr. S. S. Cox, now a Representative in Congress from this city.

Mr. Cox in his speech alluded to his competitor, Mr. Tremain. When the war was peaking, he said, he stood upon the floor of the House and told the Southern gentleman "that if they touched one hair upon the head of General Anderson, the North will be one man in its defense."

Chicago crying for surrender to the rebellion and cheering the great hearts George N. Saunders and Jacob Thompson, but at Baltimore, helping to nominate Abraham Lincoln. By all means let us forgive, but we will not forget.

The Wellsville Times in speaking of the county nomination, thus compliments Dr. W. W. Crandall: "W. W. Crandall has been nominated as member of Assembly by acclamation, showing he is appreciated by his constituents, and that the political wire pullers, who for years introduced contentious into Republican Conventions, have left us leaving behind them peace and accord."

The Congressional Ballot. It is well enough to remember that a new election law will go into operation in November, which applies to the selection of Members of Congress.

The Buffalo Express says: Utah has more than one attraction for aspiring knights. They hold one not only permitted to "lay hold of one man" according to the record of Holy Well, but the professions are open to them upon the same terms which are imposed upon the lords of creation.

The Washington veterans, while passing through Baltimore, on the way to the Pittsburgh Soldiers' and Sailors' Convention, were attacked by a mob of Greeleyites. One soldier was struck by a brick, which badly smashed his face.

Did you know Horace Greeley said in his speech at Vickburg last fall: "I hope the time will come that the soldiers that fought with Lee and Johnston will occupy as proud a position in the hearts of the American people as the soldiers that fought under Grant and Sherman?"

Hon. Fred. Horn, one of the most influential Democrats in the State Wisconsin, has come out in a grand announcing himself an Independent, anti-Greeley candidate for Congress, in opposition to the Greeley nominee in the Fourth District.

The heaviest rain storm, ever known in the vicinity of Milwaukee commenced Monday night, and continued until Tuesday. The streets and cellars were flooded, and considerable damage was done.

"Sunset" Cox is a heavy load for Greeleyites to carry. His record, like the "darned spot," will not "dare" in 1864 he figured in the Chicago Convention, which declared the war a "failure." At that time he made a speech in which he asserted that for less offenses than Mr. Lincoln had committed, he would have shot Charles I. and in his opinion Lincoln and Davis ought to be brought to the same block together.

It is believed that a strong force of cavalry will be sent into Southern Arizona to prosecute a vigorous war against the Indians.

Cox's extensive paper mills in Shawangunk, Ulster county, were destroyed by fire on Friday night last, loss $30,000.

Hon. Garret Davis, United States Senator from Kentucky, died at his residence in Paris, Ky., at 1 1/2 past 5 o'clock Sunday evening, after an illness of four weeks, of gurgulous affection of the lungs. He was seventy-two years of age.

A young man in Chicago has just invented an improvement for all Sewing Machines, which will do the work as fast and as easily as an ordinary hand made one. The same implement is also a practical Blender and a good Hammer.
