Mary McAndrew Passes N.I.A. Test

Miss Mary McAndrew, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo McAndrew of Alfred received word last week that she had satisfactorily passed the Writing Aptitude Test of The Newspaper Institute of America.

A letter from the N. I. A. says in part: "The Copy Desk is emphatically of the opinion that if you will apply yourself to writing for publication, you have it in you to accomplish some worth while results. In general your Test shows that you appreciate the finer shades of the meaning of words, and since you already express yourself pleasingly and clearly, the consensus is that if you'll go at it in earnest, the way to success for you will not be difficult for long.

"You observe keenly with more than average instinct for significant details.

"There is plenty of evidence of dramatic appreciation in your general handling of the test. Therefore, Miss McAndrew I feel confident, that one of your stamp, who has the patience and persistence can go far."

The N. I. A. has a long established reputation for outstanding talent discoveriess, and it rejects more than 60% of the would be writers who take this annual talent test.

George W. Hess New Editor of Friendhip Register

The Friedship Register last week announced the resignation of Walter Baker as editor, to be succeeded by George W. Hess of Wellsville.

Mr. Hess is not a new comer to the newspaper field in Allegany county having been employed by both the Allegany County Democrat and the Wellsville Daily Reporter, and being a former Friendship resident is well equipped to handle the editorship of that paper.

Mr. Baker resigned to accept a position as editor of the Fredonia Censor and while the newspaper fraternity in Allegany county are sorry to see "Walt" leave us we wish him much success in his new field.
