LYNCH ELECTED SOCCER CAPTAIN

By Bob Baker

Wednesday, Ocotober 27th, the Andover soccer team held a meeting in Room 224 at which time they elected Dick Lynch as captain for the 1948 season. Sixteen lettermen cast their ballots with Lynch getting six votes, Mulconery five, votes and Baker five votes.

The players who will receive major letters for the 1948 season are R. Atwell, Baker, Burger, Burgett, Caple, Carpenter, Daley, Lynch, Milligan, Mulconery, B. Nye, K. Nye, Snyder, Sutor, Wheaton and Pelton.

Manager Fisher, Jackson and LaFollette will receive minor letters while Lehman, Hancock, Glover and P. Atwell will receive certificates.

THE NEED FOR TACT

One essential requirement for getting along with other people is tactfulness. Many times we find broken friendships which result from the inability of one person to say what he wants to say in a way that will not offend or embarrass another person.

A common character around many schools is the boy or girl who brags about the wonderful dance he or she is going to attend and to which no one else has been invited. Another example of tactlessness is the girl who talks long and loud about the high mark she received in some subject when the rest of her classmate's grades hit rock bottom. Equally annoying is the boy who boasts about his skill in hitting a homer to another classmate, who perhaps is not quilt as expert at baseball. The type of person who is always pulling a "boner" of this sort usually has a popularity vote among his schoolmates of about zero minus.

No matter what field we go into after graduation, whether we enter one of the professions or run a machine, we need to know the art of being tactful. One of the first stepping stones to success is the knack of knowing how to keep from "treading on other people's toes", and high school is a good place to learn this social art.

We can avoid being tactless by guarding our tongues and by thinking before we speak. Let's all strive to be tactful intsead of tactless.

A. C. S. STUDENTS SELECTED FOR LEGION CONTEST

Last week, the sophomore and junior and senior English students wrote essays of 1,500 words each on the Constitution of the United States and since then have been waiting patiently for Mrs. McFadden to post the results.

The Legion is sponsoring this contest and will award prizes to the three students who have the best essays. The seven pupils who were chosen to deliver their compositions before an audience early in December are as follows:

Maxine Baker, Rosemarie Baker, Caroline Briggs, Richard Lynch, Joe Smith, Ann Marie Green and Barbara Winteberg.

These seven people are required to memorize their essays. If for some reason they are unable to take part in the contest, one or more of the following students may have a chance at the prize:

Beverly Clair, Don Mulconery, Joan McAndrew, Ruth Curry, Evelyn Glover and Pat Sackett.

SENIORS PROFIT $15

Friday night, November 5, the seniors of Andover Central School held a game night at which approximately eighty or more students attended.

Various games were played and music for dancing was provided.

It was estimated that the seniors profited around fifteen dollars.

Realizing that to keep the night going until eleven o'clock would be too long and tiresome the seniors decided the doors should be closed earlier than planned.

The seniors wish to express their sincerest thanks to all those who participated in making the night a success. E. L. G.

SENIOR INTERVIEW

This week we interview Rosemarie Baker, daughter of Mr. Allison Baker of Hornell. Rosemarie was born in Andover on November 27, 1931. She is 5 ft. 6 in, has brown hair and brown eyes. At the present Rosemarie is living on Rochambeau Avenue with her brother Max Baker. Rosemarie has four brothers, Max, Bruce, Robert and Roger Baker and one sister, Mrs. Felix Congelli.

Her favorites are:

Hobby: Playing piano and sports.
Subject: Driver education.
Color: Green.
Car: Chevy.
Dish: Baker ham.
Actor: Robert Mitchum.
Actress: Claudette Colbert.
Book: "Gone with the Wind."
Author: Leslie Charateris.
Radio Program: Amature Hour.

Rosemarie started school in Wellsville and went there until 1944 from where she moved to Alred-Almond. Attending school there until 1946.

Since coming to Andover Central School Rosemarie takes an active part in most activities. She served as editor of the Hi-Herald Staff, plays piano in the orchestra, is a member of the chorus, jazz band and the F.F.A.

Rosemarie hopes to attend college but her plans are not definite as yet. BI

F.F.A. TO PRESENT HEANY, THE MAGICIAN

The members of the F. F. A. of Andover Central School are sponsoring the appearance of Heaney, the Magician, in his full evening stage show "Mystery Time" at the Andover Central school auditorium on Friday evening, November 19.

Heaney presents two hours of amazing and startling entertainment.

Performer G. I. Heaney presented his act in France, Germany and Japan during the war. He states that magic was a favorite form of entertainment for the troops.

The "Floating Lady" one of magic's most unusual illusions high lights the Heaney show.

Proceeds of the entertainment will go to the F. F. A. which has tickets now on sale.

CHIT-CHAT

Dear Mary:

Have you heard about the new sweater fad finally reaching Andover? Bill Lehman and Betty Isaman are sporting two snazzy twin wool shirts of brown and white plaid.

Hattie Wahl has been unwilling to tell us anything about that certain you-know-who? He seems to have a decided talent for drawing.

Ruth Halsey disappeared rather suddenly after the F. H. A. initiation, and we're wondering whom she disappeared with.

The budding romance between Norma Perry and Russell Monahan seems to be withering slightly.

The guys and gals in Driver Education class are having a lot of fun testing their reaction time. Some of these students can really step on that brake. By the way, everyone has been calling the instructor "Mr. Dobson", and they just found out that its really Mr. Dodson. Everyone makes mistakes in driving class once in a while, by mispronouncing names, clashing gears, running into people's front yards and driving the car in circles. Oh, well, practice makes perfect.

Mrs. Joyce has two new students, David Brown from Arkport and Rowland Sweet from Canisteo who were cordially welcomed by their classmates.

The Junior high boys have organized a basketball team which will play other teams, the same as the Varsity and Junior Varsity.

Ann Marie Joyce and Carol Nye are having a "Sadie Hawkins" race for Dick Clark.

There is a new romance between Ray Halsey and Ann Wood.

Beth Whitaker is writing her daily letter to Bob Page at Alfred-Almond.

Phyllis Perry and Bob Demming are still getting along fine.

As we look in on the Juniors Monday morning we saw a rather sleepy expression on the face of Teddy Vankuren. That's what happens when you have to get up early in the morning to do your homework.

We're wondering who is the inspiration for the poems Frances Baker has been writing lately. We have however found a clue. Marlin Mather has also been writing some.

Lois Honegger is the lucky girl who is the cause for that sparkle in Joe Smith's eye.

We heard that Nedra Burrows had a fine time at Happy Land Saturday night with Teddy O'Dell

Gloria Clair has a very attractive new hair-do.

Doris Atwell gave Danjaan Crandall and Colleen McAndrew good cause to worry by visiting Dick Hancock.

I'll have to run along now, Mary, if I want to get this in in time for publication.

Write soon and let me in on some of the current gossip.

Love, Alfred

GENERAL MOTORS PRESENTS "PREVIEWS OF PROGRESS"

General Motors "Previews of Progress" was presented at an Assembly at Andover Central School on November 9th at 3 p. m., to an audience consisting of the fifth and sixth grades and high school pupils who were not taking tests.

"Previews of Progress' is a stage presentation that tells the story of America's greatness. It is a non-commercial demonstration that is professional in approach and dynamic in presentation. "Previews of Progress' is presented without charge by the General Motors Corporation and has been witnessed by more than a million and a half people in the past year.

Previews tells in a simple fashion how open minds and willing hands made America great. It serves, too, as a reminder to studentss and teachers alike, that many new scientific frontiers must still be explored and conquered if America is to remain great.

Witnessed by millions of Americans in prewar years. Previews of Progress have presented many of the most recent developments in scientific research which will contribute to a more enjoyable and comfortable life in the years to come.

Startling demonstrations were given of jet propulsion, the manufacture of butyl rubber, artificial illumination, sound recording, and other up-to-the-minute discoveries and refinements from the research laboratories of the nation.

Following the demonstration on jet propulsion, models of a P-80 Shooting Star pursuit plane and a buzz-bomb were driven at high speed the entire length of the auditorium, propelled by tiny but powerful jets of compressed gas.

The auditorium was awed as the commentator conducted a phantom orchestra, moved to laughter as an egg was ceremoniously fried on a cold stove; and craned its collective neck as models of a pursuit plane and a buzz-bomb were driven the length of the hall at high speed by jet propulsion.

The students lauded the assembly and showed much interest in the scientific proceedings.

CHINESE MING TREE INTERESTS A. C. S. STUDENT ARTISTS

The other day I cornered the busy Mr. Bartz long enough so he could tell me the latest happinings around the art room of A. C. S. The subject he considers most important is that of the Chinese Ming Trees. Mr. Bartz has made one which is on display in the showcase by the office.

"Is it growing?" "Well, don't stand there and wait for it to grow. Even though the Ming Tree looks like a real tree bark with foliage growing on it, it is not real." We are anxiously waiting to see the Ming Trees that the thirteen high school students are going to make for Christmas presents.

After the ten week tests are over, the seventh graders will be changing classes. The groups now taking music will be taking art, and those taking art will be taking music. This is the final exam for those taking art.

The seventh grade boys have done modeling in copper and aluminum. H. W.

ROBIN HOOD PRESENTED BY MARIONETTES

November 5, A. C. S. students witnessed the first in the year's series of entertainments. Beginning at 1:30, the grades and high school enjoyed Robin Hood, a marionette show presented to us by the Williams Brothers from Ohio. After the play, Bruce Willaims demonstrated to the audience how the marionettet operated and by using Friar Tuck as an example, he showed us how they were put together. J. J.

Food for Fall

This is the time of year to plan your menus around such foods as squash, pumpkin, endive, turnips, broccoli, cabbage, spinach, cranberries and apples. They are the fruits and vegetables in season at present, and consequently, plentiful and inexpensive, says Cornell's Food Marketing Bulletin.

The Bulletin predicts that eggs will be some higher during the first part of 1949 than they were during the same period of '48. It announces also that a large crop of tree nuts is expected this fall, notably pecans, walnuts, almonds, and filberts. Particularly large yields of pecans are in prospect. So, your mouth needn't water in vain for delicacies such as pecan cookies, cakes and candy.

The Bulletin gives broccoli a big boost as "a vegetable that really packs a punch." Broccoli provides more calcium (the bone and teeth building mineral) than do most vegetables; and is a source of Vitamins A and C, iron, and riboflavin (a B vitamin). Besides, its tight, green buds taste good and look pretty on the plate.

Home Sewing

The National Needlecraft Bureau has come up with the astonishing fact that 94 per cent of the homemakers in the United States do home-sewing. Slightly more than half are creative sewers who make clothing or household items; the remainder do mostly mending and darning. The Bureau also claims that the amount of sewing done and planned by homemakers during 1948 is considerably greater than in previous years, and that it is on the increase among teenagers.

Among the many reasons given for this increased activity with needle and thread were: Need to economize; bigger demands owing to an increase in the size of the family; the availability of more and better fabrics.

Memorize "C" Numbers

numbers by the Veterans Administration will receive replies to inquiries in a much shorter period of time if they will memorize and use such "C" numbers when they write or call the Veterans Administration about their benefits.

A number is issued to each veteran applying for compensation, pension, schooling, on-the-job training or other VA-administered benefit. The number, appearing on the veteran's case folder, will identify him in VA records the rest of his life, and may be used by dependents after his death.

The Office "Manager"

When Smith walked into his friend's office, he found him sitting at his desk, looking very depressed.

"Hello, old man!" said Smith. "What's up?"

"Oh, just my wife," replied the other sadly. "She's engaged a new secretary for me."

"Well, there's nothing wrong about that. Is she a blonde or a brunette?"

"He's bald."

SPECIAL TRAINS are converging on Portland, Maine, this week carrying Grange delegates from all over the country to the annual session of the National Grange being held there. A great deal of business of national importance to all farmers and grange members will be transacted. The convention will end November 20th.

It is expected that a record 20,000 eligible members will take the Seventh Degree admitting them to the highest Grange ritualistic order, the Assembly of Demeter. Last week in New York State more than 1,400 patrons took the Sixth Degree, which is required before advancing to the final national degree. Very likely many of these are planning to attend the Portland sessions, and the state will have excellent representation.

SPEAKING of these Sixth Degree sessions which were held in the state last week, you may be interested in knowing how many took it. Poughkeepsie had the largest number with 672 Patrons receiving the degree in a beautiful ceremony, with a team composed of the State Officers, headed by State Master Henry Sherwood. Moving to Albany, 150 took part in the ritual. 94 were present at the Glens Falls session and 495 at Oneonta, making a total of 1,411.

GREENE VALLEY GRANGE No. 881, which captured the coveted first award for New York State in the Community Service Contest, was encouraged about its prospects of winning nationally when a delegation from Washington, D. C., flew up to Greene county the other day to inspect the seven projects the Grange had entered. Judges spent the afternoon at the town of Halcott and returned to the Capital later. The judging committee has been visiting each state winner by plane in order to be able to announce the national winner at Portland next week.

NEXT WEEK we want to give you full information about a new service to Granges offered by Rural Radio Network by which they may give announcements of meeting, coming events and other matters of local interest. A full list of stations and addressess of announcers will be furnished for the convenience of each Subordinate Grange.
