

Here is what Mr. Greeley said in a speech at Vicksburg: "That he hoped to see the time when Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson, and those men that fought with them, should have the same satisfaction in the minds and hearts of the people of the country with the men who fought with Grant."

Loyal men, how do you like that? We do not believe that this expresses the sentiments of the masses of the American people who were loyal to the Union during the war. Though they may be quite as willing as Mr. Greeley to forgive, they cannot so far forget the crimes of these men—men who were traitors to their country—so as to ask us to be proud of them, more than the most ardent rebel would expect from patriotic men. Even the conception of such a degree of forgetfulness was only possible to such brains as that of Horace Greeley. It would be an ill omen for the Union of any country if treason should find therein the honor due to patriotism alone, for not only would it destroy the chief incentive to political conduct, but it would indicate a fatal confusion in the moral perceptions of the people. To forgive may be sublime, but to do honor to the wrong-doer would be to demoralize the public conscience, and sow the seeds of corruption and decay.

Ruben E. Fenton. The Free Press publishes a speech of Ruben E. Fenton, which he delivered in Chautauque County a short time ago. We fall to find in the speech one word about the time he was confined in jail for stealing a package of money which was intended to him to carry to Albany. Nor does he say anything about the New York Central Railroad fare bill, nor a word does he say about the bill he got through Congress for the relief of O. B. and A. S. Latham of Buffalo, who claimed to be damaged by changes in plans and specifications in the Custom House at Buffalo and Oswego. This case had been in the Court of Claims for three years, and after a thorough investigation, the Court reported to Congress that the Lathams ought to be paid $36,000. Fenton was Chairman of the House Committee on Claims, at the time, and in the face of the report he introduced a bill to pay the Lathams over $100,000, instead of the $36,000 that had been recommended. This bill he managed to get through the lower House, but in the Senate it was cut down to $74,000, and it was amended form, and on motion of Fenton, it was passed by the House, and was signed the following day. It will be seen that Fenton tries to get for the Lathams over $100,000 instead of the $36,000, the amount that the Court of Claims allowed them, and succeeded in getting $74,000, or double that amount. This has a very suspicious look in itself, and the transaction has since been pronounced by the Supervising Architect of the Treasury Department as "a gross and willful fraud."

Mr. Fenton says much in his speech about reform, and would have the people understand that he is not a reformer. He is not a reformer, but a man who is content with the management of the Government. We leave our readers to say whether they think that this man Fenton needs reform or not. Every fact given above can be substantiated by records.

Vote for Hon. H. Boardman Smith for Member of Congress, and not allow that scoundrel Republican, S. T. Hayt, and the coalition to gain the march upon us.

Jeff Davis said last year in a speech in Georgia:

Wait patiently until we see them divided, and at issue with themselves, and join the party, and support the candidate and the platform that promises a restoration of constitutional liberty. It is then you will hold the balance of political power in your own hands, and it is then that all our rights will once more be restored and guaranteed.

Well, that time has come, so far as the division is concerned, and they have improved the opportunity and go to the support of Horace Greeley, because they know that he is for them, and that they are in heart and head. But they will find the people minus on the 5th of November.

Beware of these "Liberal Sharper's" who are going about betting a few dollars with Republicans so as to deprive them of voting on Election day. Make no bets until after you have voted.

California. It is only twenty-six years this fall, since the United States Government fitted out an expedition of one thousand volunteers, in the port of New York, to conquer and hold California, then a comparatively unpopulated country, now a rich and powerful State. The San Francisco Bulletin says the expedition sailed on the 26th of September, 1846, and arrived in the Bay of San Francisco in March, 1847, where the members found the American flag flying, the country having been taken possession of by the American inhabitants of California, organized as Fremont's battalion, and the sailors under command of Commodore Speight. The arrival of Stevenson's regiment settled all doubts of our ability to re-assert possession of the country; and its march incorporation into the American Union became a settled fact long before the close of the Mexican war. What changes have taken place in the Golden State since then! California's population is now not only felt in the Continental, but around the world.

At the election held on Wednesday of last week, the whole regular Republican ticket was elected by a large majority, four out of five Congressmen were elected by the Republicans. Thus the fight goes on.

The Coalitionists of Titusville, have sold out their Torches and Caps, to the Grant men, they having no further use for them.

There is no question now as to how this State is going on the 5th of November. It is conceded to Grant & Wilson by a majority ranging from 25,000 to 50,000.

An excursion, on a grand scale, is preparing at Columbia, Pa., under the auspices of Cyrene Commodore, Knights Templar, for a tour to Europe and the International Exposition at Vienna. They propose to start about the 1st of June next. Landing at Queenstown, they will travel through Ireland and Great Britain, and visit all places of prominence on the Continent. The details have all been arranged for carrying the party, and providing for them, at an extremely low rate. Number limited. Persons wishing to join this most magnificent excursion, should make it known before the 1st day of January next. For circulars, or full particulars, address the Committee, Rambo, Kaufman, and Eagle, Columbia, Pa.

Our principal joker, who is simply incorrigible, says that in one respect he thinks that Grant has the start of Greeley in this campaign, for Grant quietly smokes his cigar and Greeley takes the stump.

The Horse Distemper. This disease, which is so generally prevalent throughout the country, has already made its appearance among the teams employed about the Reformatory building and will probably be communicated to the horse stock in the city. Buffalo, Rochester, Boston and New York report the prevalence of the disease. So far, while attacking more than half of the horses, where it gets a hold, it is not said to be very fatal, but doubles the animals for some length of time. It seems to be a diptheritic swelling of the glands of the throat, assuming the character of an epidemic distemper. Those having valuable animals would do well, probably, to get them to some out of way place in the country, until the epidemic passes over.

The Rochester Union of Tuesday states that "the running of a street car was totally abandoned this morning, and our citizens are now given a taste of what they would have continually before them if our street railroads were abandoned forever. Yesterday the managers of the road thought that they could keep in operation, but the horses had to be changed every trip. A few days' rest will be likely to restore most of the animals so that they can be put to work again.

The livery stables have discontinued business in a great measure—some of them entirely, and it is but stating facts when it is said that it is with great difficulty that conveyances can be obtained for funerals.

Inquiry at the canal stables in the city shows that none of the horses kept therein have been affected by the disease. A few of one of the stables informed our reporter that they used as a preventive castor oil and tar, which is put upon the bridle and bit. Whether there is anything efficacious in this the reader must determine for himself.

The disease has made its appearance in the towns along the lake shore, and also in Wheatland and intermediate towns. We hear of a few fatal cases in the city. The Express Companies have been compelled to withdraw nearly all of their horses and the collection and delivery of goods have nearly ceased. The coal companies also feel the pressure, and they only deliver a quarter or half ton of coal at a time, and then only in cases of necessity. In all cases reported where bleeding has been resorted to by the surgeon the patient has died. It seems to be succeeded by all that rest, warmth, a mild laxative and the free use of diuretics, with liberal sponging of the nostrils and mouth, are the true remedies to be resorted to in all cases.

Another authority advises: First, stop working the animal; when in the stable keep the body warm by clothing give warm bran mash and chilled water; apply an exciting embrocation on the hind legs from the throat to the breast; in the early stages give stimulants, but when the disease gives stimulus and the pulse becomes quickened, sedative medicine will have to be given to relieve the inflammatory symptoms. Cathartic and sweating medicine should not be administered. Bleeding is dangerous and should not be practiced.—Express Advt.

"The Two Sides"
Greeley's insults to the loyal sentiment of the nation have aroused the indignation of loyal men everywhere. The Bridgeport (Conn.) Standard well expresses the general feeling when it says: "To hear Mr. Greeley talk one would think that there has been but one side to the late war and that the Confederates side; that there was nothing to forget and forgive save the fact that we had conquered the rebellion and drawn the teeth from the viper that would have stung us to death. Because the ex-leaders of the rebellion profess to be willing to forgive us, and will accept at our hands again the places and honors which they have betrayed and disgraced, we would clasp hands with them and give them all they ask. Seeming not to see the foolishness of such a course, he would allow the burglar detected in an attempt to rob and kill him, to depart in peace, and give him in addition the goods he would have stolen. That is Mr. Greeley's idea of amnesty. It is driven, and weakness, and imbecility instead. Are there not Northern soldiers as well as Southern, and is it justice to surrender that for which Northern soldiers fought, and suffered, and died, out of a manly sympathy for those whom they conquered? The American people cherish no animosity against the late rebellious States; they have no feelings of hate or revenge for the soldiers who they overcame; but they have not forgotten the great principles which triumphed through the blood and toil, and loss of that terrible war, nor will they surrender them or forget them, or lay them aside for a time even, to gratify the ambition of a vain old man, whose weakness has made him the tool of designing politicians."

We are right glad to know and to announce that in the counties of Steuben, Chemung and Allegany, comprising this Congressional District, very many of those who early went off to Greeley are now coming back to Grant. They have discovered that the movement was a mistake, and that the right place for all true Republicans is in the Republican party. They see that Liberal Republicanism has become straight democracy, which is not what they originally bargained for. They are that the people converted are those who went to Cincinnati, and not those who gathered at Baltimore. They see that Greeley has fallen from his high estate, and become simply the head of a faction which has made a corrupt political bargain and entered into an unprincipled coalition with the never ceasing coalition of Republican principles. They have come out of that crowd, and will henceforth act with the Republican party. Some of them will do it openly and others quietly, but the defection from the Liberal ranks in the three counties named, with the Democrats who will vote for Grant and these others who won't vote for Greeley, will make the Republican majority in this district so large that we dare not now estimate it or count it. Look out for breakers.—Empire Advt.

Tammany Thieves.
Mayor Hall's Trial commenced yesterday, and will be continued until the case is finished.

Wm. M. Tweed delivered himself up to the sheriff yesterday, and gave new bail.

The case of Thomas C. Field was called up yesterday in the Court of Oyer and Terminer. The accused was not forthcoming, and his counsel declared himself unable to produce him. Judge Brady ordered that his recognisances should be forfeited, and gave his bondsman thirty days to produce the criminal.

The Bath Courier sets down Steuben county as good for "two thousand for Gen. Grant." We are inclined to take that statement with some grain of allowance—that is to say, we allow the Courier is too modest. We were up at Bath last week when the Republican of Steuben paid their respects to Mr. Conkling. We have explored the matter all up, and the thing is fixed. There are to be "tremendous frauds" in Steuben this fall.

Greeley has concluded that he will not resume specie payments just yet. If Banks and Sumner should carry Massachusetts, he will then announce his double back saddle financial policy. Curtis will go West after the 5th of November.
