IT'S TIME FOR RESOLUTIONS

Rosemarie Baker

Are you making any resolutions this year? If you do, and keep them, you probably are as abnormal a human being as anyone could be. Resolutions are made to be broken, it seems, and although we do have good intentions when we make them, they usually end up being as useless as last year's Christmas tree.

However, we can and should be able to follow a few rules thruout the new year of 1949. Therefore let us each resolve:

1—To make the coming year a more profitable one by keeping ourselves better informed on world events and by taking a sincere interest in current affairs.

2—To keep ourselves from saying unkind words and doing things which might hurt the feelings of others.

3—To work a little harder at whatever we do and try to take a real interest in it, whether it be at school or at home.

4—To be more courteous and well-mannered to our families and the people we meet and to develop an attitude of cheerful co-operativeness.

These few rules are not difficult to follow if one really wants to follow them. This New Year of 1949 can be a time for "turning over a new leaf" if we make it so. Will we try to make it a better new year, or will it follow in the paths of the old one? It is up to each one of us to decide.

ACS

LING OUR IDEAS

you ever approached a student or friend with the idea of offering some "good advice", only to have him become resentful instead of grateful? Your idea was undoubtedly a good one, but one thing was probably wrong—your approach.

Because we are human, we hate to have someone hand out good advice to us. We like to think that we have better ideas than someone else, therefore we often resent suggestions made by our friends or acquaintances.

There are three guide posts to follow in trying to sell our ideas to another person which can be applied to any occupation imaginable—whether it be in teaching, business, engineering or in a profession.

Rule 1—Make it appear as if the idea was the other fellow's, not your's. Substitute "Do you think this would work?" for — "Here's what we should do."

Rule 2—Let the other fellow argue your case: Give him a chance to disagree with you, by presenting your own objections.

Rule 3—Ask, don't tell. Avoid trying to sell your idea by positive statements. Use questions instead and you will find less disagreement on the part of your listener.

Benjamin Franklin, in speaking of selling one's idea, once said: "The way to convince another is to state your case moderately and accurately. Then say that of course you may be mistaken about it, which causes your listener to receive what you have to say and like as not, turn about and convince you of it, since you are in doubt. But if you go at him in a tone of positiveness and arrogance, you only make an opponent of him."

PANTHERS BEAT BOLIVAR 41-38

The Andover varsity came from behind in the final moments Tuesday, December 14 on the home court to triumph over a tough Bolivar team 41-38. The locals were behind 35-26 with three minutes left and came through with 15 points while holding Bolivar to three. It was one of the greatest scoring surges seen this year by Andover fans. The Andover passwork was exceptional and both teams played a great game.

The leading scorer for Andover was Dick Lynch with 16 points and he was followed by Bob Baker with eight points and Don Mulconery with seven. Wallace led Bolivar scorers with 12 points.

RICHBURG EDGES PANTHERS 32-27

by Bob Baker

Thursday, December 16th, the Andover Panthers lost their first league game in three starts to the Richburg Bearcats 32-27.

The Panthers lagged behind almost the entire game and could not score when it was needed. The locals are now tied for second place in the league with Richburg and both teams are closely pressing Whitesville, the league leaders.

Kenyon of Richburg was the game's high scorer with eleven points and was followed by Dick Lynch with 10 markers.

The next league game for the Panthers will be January 7 when they journey to Allentown.

ACS

WILDCATS DEFEAT RICHBURG 40-24

The Andover Wildcats went on to their fifth win of the season Tuesday, December 16th by defeating the Richburg J.V.'s 40-24. The locals led at the end of the initial period 10-4 and then made it 17-10 at the half. Going into the final quarter it was 30-20 and the Wildcats outplayed the Richburg team 10-4 in the last period.

Vic Daley was the leading scorer for Andover with ten points and was closely followed by Sonny Lehman with eight counters. Ron Sutor and Jack Wheaton had seven and six points respectively.

ACS

WILDCATS LOST TO BOLIVAR J.V.'s 27-23

The Andover J. V's lost their first game in five starts this season on the home court Tuesday, December 14th, to the Bolivar Junior Varsity 27-23. The Wildcats were trailing by nine points at the end of the third quarter and rallied to come within four points of Bolivar before time ran out.

Jack Wheaton paced the local scorers with nine points and Lounsberry led Bolivar with eight points. Both teams exhibited much defensive strength but were weak in scoring.

MEET OUR TEACHERS

This week I interviewed Coach Lynford Chaffee to find out a little about him. Coach is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Chaffee of Portville and was born there on July 7, 1915. He lives with his wife, Carolyn on East Avenue.

Coach's hobbies are reading non-fiction books and traveling. While in the army, he served in the South Pacific, the Phillipines and the Fiji Islands. He has also been in all of the forty eight states.

Coach attended Portville High School and was graduated from Perdue University, after which he received his Master's Degree at Syracuse University. From Syracuse University he went in the Army where he did some coaching of Army teams.

Among his favorites are:
Color: Blue.
Car: Oldsmobile.
Food: Ice cream.
Actor: Alan Ladd.
Actress: Ingrid Bergman.
Movie: How Green Was My Valley.
Book: Peace of Mind.
Author: Charles Linderman.
Radio Program: Once In a Life Time. (Sports)

Coach's duties at school are coaching and teaching Physical Education. After school hours he stays to help the boys practice basketball. His spare hours at home are spent reading. On Saturdays he works in his father's store in Portville.

"Been Charged"

Miss Shoup: What's your cats name, Joan?

Joan McAndrew: Ben Hur.

Miss Shoup: How in the world did you ever happen to choose that name?

Joan: Well, we just called him Ben until he had kittens.

ACS SENIORS BREATHE AT LAST

The Seniors of Andover Central School can once again return to a normal, everyday life as their greatest achievement, while being a senior, is at last completed and marked. If you have not guessed by now what I am referring to it is the theses, of course.

Sincerest congratulations should go to the following seniors for being recognized as having the best theses: Rose Marie Baker, Evelyn Glover, and Hattie Wahl took the first three places with honor grades of 95. Margaret Jackson, Joan Woodruff and Ann Marie Greene brought up the last of the first six best theses and obtained honor grades of above 90. Honorable mention went to Ella Mae Clair and Beverly Clair with honor grades of 85.

Everyone dreaded to begin such a task, but now that everyone is finished, I think some of them say it wasn't half as bad as they expected.

Each booklet contains a preface, table of contents, index, bibliography, glossary and footnotes.

Some of the various titles of the theses, each of which includes the history, advantages, disadvantages, educational and personal requirements, salaries, cost of preparation, duties, opportunities for employment and advancement, are:

"My Career" by Rose Marie Baker, which includes the history, qualifications, advantages, disadvantages, requirements and cost of attending a school of journalism.

"Yes, Boss," by Evelyn Glover includes private and social secretaryships as a career, difference between secretary and stenographer, general qualifications, types of secretaryships and how to secure a position as a secretary.

"My Goal," by Hattie Wahl, which contains a handbook of vocational information and facts about getting along in the world as a secretary.

"My Career As?" by Margaret Jackson, which contains information about stenography.

"My Career" by Joan Woodruff, includes various information about business and the secretary.

"Expression Art" by Ella Mae Clair, which includes conditions and characteristics in becoming a commercial artist and factors considered before making the decision to enter any art field.

"In the Business World," by Beverly Clair includes facts about various office machines along with information about the secretary and business.

"Right This Way," by Mary Alice Horan which concerns the medical secretary.

"Sky Hostess" by Louise O'Dell.

"N.R.O.T.C." by John Connors which includes the required in-
