VETERANS' News Letter

New York, Jan. 19.—Real property purchased with the special dividend now being paid by the Federal Government on National Service Life Insurance is entitled to exemption from taxation, Leo V. Lanning, director of the State Division of Veterans' Affairs, announced as he warned veterans to "beware of get-rich-quick schemes."

"Past experience shows that every time our veterans receive a bonus, pension or other mass payment from a grateful government, they are besieged with get-rich-quick schemes from unscrupulous sources," Mr. Lanning said. "It is my earnest hope that our veterans consider their needs carefully, and that if they decide to spend this money, they do so judiciously and constructively."

The State Board of Equalization and Assessment recently ruled that this special NSLI dividend comes within the scope of Paragraph 5 of Section 4 of the State Tax Law which provides for the exemption of " . . . real property purchased with the proceeds of a pension, bonus or insurance granted by the United States or by this state for military or naval services and owned by the person who rendered such services, or by his widow, or dependent father or mother, or by his minor children. . . ."

Director Lanning suggested that veterans seeking the exemption contact their local Veterans' Service Agency or New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs Counseling Center for further advice.

County Sealer of Weights And Measures Annual Report

The News office is in receipt of a copy of County Sealer of Weights & Measures, A. W. Corwin's annual report, the front cover of which shows pictures of the Belmont Borden's milk plant and inside is an interesting account of the history of Allegany County milk.

The report shows 900 scales tested with 83 incorrect; 1,169 gas pumps and liquid measures tested showed 43 incorrect. All 98 linear measuring devices tested were correct. Fifty smaller weighing devices of 1,609 were condemned. Commodity reweighing and measurements gave 126 short and 45 over leaving 3,241 correct out of 3,412.

Maple Syrup Producers To Meet in Wellsville

The Annual Maple Sirup Producer's meeting will be held at the Nancy Howe Library in Wellsville, January 31, at 10:30 a. m. according to H. Ira Blixt, County Agricultural Agent.

The event this year is to be held jointly with Steuben County producers and Prof. J. A. Cope, of Cornell University, has been secured as discussion leader at this all day event.

Mr. Blixt invites all producers of the area to attend and suggests that producers bring with them labor saving and home-made devices for display at the meeting.

There will be a panel discussion of producers on a current subject and discussions on such problems as the use of more suitable and smaller containers; a county label; the establishing of a uniform price, etc.
