Andover Central School Holds 75th Commencement

Twenty-seven Seniors Receive Their Diplomas at Monday Night's Exercises

The 75th Commencement of Andover Central School began with the Alumni Banquet Saturday night and closed Monday night with the annual Commencement exercises.

Alumni Banquet

Past graduates and guests to the number of 110 gathered at the Masonic Temple Saturday evening to enjoy the annual Alumni Banquet.

After a fine baked ham dinner, Paul Kilbane, president of the Alumni Association welcomed the members of the senior class as members of the Association with Robert Carpenter responding for the class. President Kilbane then introducted Stanley Ruger, who very capably took over as toastmaster.

Dr. H. O. Burdick, Dean of the Liberal Arts College at Alfred University was the speaker of the evening and gave the Alumni a very interesting talk. Remarks were also made by Principal Kessler and Miss Audrey Baker rendered two musical selections.

At the business meeting William Dougherty was named president for the coming year, Rosemary Mead, vice president and James B. Mulholland, treasurer.

Baccalaureate Speaker Tells Class to Have Faith in High Goals

At the Baccalaurate Service held in the Andover Central School auditorium Sunday evening, Rev. Chester Whitt delivered an address, "The Challenge of the Unfulfilled," in which he told the seniors that maximum progress in life will result from setting their goals high and from having a faith that can not be destroyed by failure.

The speaker stated that most people cripple their own advancement by setting their goals too low that they are too soon and too easily reached with the result that the individual stops striving for the star ahead.

He further added that the possibility of a third world war grows stronger because people are willing to accept the fact a third world war is inevitable. On the other hand, he advised the audience to have faith in peace and to practice peaceful solutions of all difficulties.

Rev. Whitt expressed the confidence that, if people look for the worst, the worst will come.

The Invocation and Lord's Prayer was led by Rev. Edward Poser, two musical selections were sung by the High School Girls' Chorus and the benediction was given by the Rev. John R. Shea.

The High School Orchestra played the processional and recessional.

Commencement Monday Evening

Monday night, June 26, the 75th Commencement exercises of Andover Central School were held in the school auditorium to honor the 27 pupils who had successfully completed their work in A. C. S.

As the seniors marched into the auditorium the high school orchestra under the direction of George Holden, played "Entre de Procession" by Batiste.

Rev. Albert N. Rogers delivered the invocation, after which Robert Baker gave his Salutatory address "The Next Three Years."

The High School Girls' Chorus entertained with two selections "This is My Country" and "The Bells of St. Mary's." The chorus selections were followed by Barbara Wintemberg's Valedictory address "The Road Ahead."

The speaker of the evening S. E. Gerard Priestly, an Englishman addressed the seniors on "The Need for Truth."

The speaker stated that the people of England under Socialism, have more food, more education and a better economic system as well as improved health which would grow better after the perfection of the program of socialized medicine. He further added that Americans owed their democratic way of life not to 1776 in America, but to England before that date.

In addition, Mr. Priestly expressed the confidence that Americans could not make a world filled with hunger and illiteracy understand the meaning of democracy until they seek the truth by which all humanity can receive ample food and education, since in such countries as China the average worker earns only $19 a year, and more than half of the people of the country are always hungry. The speaker left the thought that the word democracy means nothing in countries where the span of life is only 39 years and where the people suffer from hunger and deprivations at all times.

In closing, the speaker asked the graduates to bear in mind that their beautiful and comfortable surroundings were not the possessions of more than half of the peoples of the world and that they must strive to seek the truth in an effort to relieve the hunger and suffering of humanity everywhere.

Awards were presented by Principal James H. Kessler and S. B. Crandall, president of the Board of Education, presented diplomas to the graduating class.

Rev. Rogers delivered the benediction which was followed by the recessional for which the orchestra played the "Grand March from Aida."

Those receiving their diplomas were:

Andover Wins From Canisteo Here Sunday

The Andover Legion team won one of the best baseball games ever played on the local diamond Sunday when they defeated Canisteo 2 to 0.

Heady, aggressive base running gave the locals both of their tallies. Mulconery struck out ten Canisteo batters, walked two and allowed only five hits to register his third shut-out game in four starts this season. Andrus of Canisteo had five strike-outs, gave up one base on balls and was touched for eight hits.
