Why He Hurried

An Irishman was painting his barn and was hurrying his work with all his strength and speed.

"What are you in such a hurry for, Murphy?" asked a spectator.

"Shure, I want to get through before me paint runs out," replied Murphy.

Mystery Moose on Loose In New York

Albany, Oct. 2—Something new has been added to New York, the state that has everything. It's a mysterious moose on the loose.

The big animal, a thousand-pound bull with a 40-inch spread of antlers, suddenly showed up recenty at the Troy city limits. From then on it began to meander north at the rate of about eight miles a day, leaving a trail of amazed farmers.

Conservation Department officials who saw the moose said today that it seemed heading for the eastern fringe of the Adirondacks but might go up the east side of Lake Champlain into Vermont. How it ever got to Troy without being reported along the way was nothing less than amazing, they said.

Where it came from also was anybody's guess although Conservation field men said at least two moose, chased by dogs, were known to have crossed the St. Lawrence River from Ontario last spring to a point east of Ogdensburg. But that's 200 moose miles from Troy, they added, with plenty of people along the way.

Meantime, warnings were issued not to shoot the animal—which could only be confused "with a huge mahogany-colored horse with horns." New York hasn't had an authenticated record of a wild moose for nearly 50 yars but it keeps them on the protected list—just in case.

The Empire State hopes its hospitality now is paying off.

Fly Battle Cry

They say fighting a war is a man's job—but there's a war that women fight the year 'round—the war on moths and flies and all the hundreds of insects that do so much damage to homes and health.

Right now there's a nation-wide war on flies. Health officers and sanitarians feel that flies are such a serious health menace—especially during this season—that many communities all over the country have started campaigns to spray insecticides on all fly breeding places they can reach. But no city-wide campaign can be fully successful unless women do their share by getting rid of flies in their homes.

These new insecticides in cans—the kind you can spray right from the can—are so easy to use—it's a simple matter to knock out the houseflies that act as carriers of disease—and are just a plain nuisance, besides.

Health authorities have discovered that where a city follows through on a thorough "get-rid-of-flies" campaign, the incidence of several diseases drops sharply. In Indianapolis, for instance, health officials have reported a sharp drop in most intestinal diseases after the city-wide war on flies began.

Dread polio seemingly hits its peak season at the same time the housefly hits its own peak season. Medical men haven't yet proven that the fly carries polio, but flies do carry tuberculosis and a number of other diseases.

The noblest of all dogs is the hot dog—it feeds the hand that bites it!

HEALTH FOR ALL

Acne

The skin ailment known as "acne vulgaris," characterized by the chronic appearance of facial pimples and blackheads, is a fairly common affliction. Doctors estimate that more than half the population in this country is subject to it at some time or other.

Acne occurs most frequently, and with greatest severity, in boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 25. At one time, acne was considered just "part of adolescence," and ignored as something that would be "outgrown" eventually.

Doctors feel today that acne, especially when neglected, can be very serious. Even when acne is only a temporary facial disfigurement, it can do a person permanent harm, leaving "mental scars" as well as physical ones. A person, particularly a sensitive adolescent, who suffers from the facial blemishes of acne, might develop feelings of shyness, extreme reserve, or inferiority which can carry into adulthood and cause him much misery and unhappiness.

Acne is the medical term for chronic inflammation of the oil glands and hair follicles of the skin. The formation of numerous pimples and blackheads is the skin's attempt to wall in these tiny infections and keep them from spreading and getting into the bloodstream.

There are different types of acne, due to various causes, and the doctor or dermatologist is the person to determine the cause and prescribe the right treatment. The sooner the condition gets medical attention, the better the chance of arresting or curing it. "Home care" or neglect frequently spread the blemishes or even encourage the development of more serious infection.

Acne is often stubborn to cure but medical research is constantly uncovering improved treatments for it. A recent effective treatment, studied in a mid-west hospital, combined simple diet restrictions and rules of skin cleanliness with daily applications of a cosmetic-like antiseptic lotion. The simplicity and economy of the treatment, practicable for the medical doctor as well as the skin specialist, offers new hope to the acne victim. But again, all treatment of acne should be under the supervision and advice of the doctor.

No one has ever died of acne, but thousands of people allow it to make them miserable because they do not realize that simple medical care can help or cure the unsightly condition.

The absentee ballot was first used during the Civil War, when 11 Union states permitted men absent on army duty to vote, according to the Encyclopaedia Brittanica.

Seventeenth Pond Is Completed at County Forest

The 17th farm pond, all of them scattered throughout the 1,459-acre county forest in the towns of Allen, Amity, Angelica, Birdsall and West Almond, was completed recently by the Allegany County Soil Conservation District, reports District Conservationist, Robert A. Reed.

These ponds vary in size from about one-tenth of an acre to one acre and in depth from six to eight feet. The average cost of these ponds was about $310. They are planned for fire protection, to help with flood control, to check excess water during heavy storms, provide watering places for wild life, as well as recreation, boating, fishing, etc.

All these ponds have been stocked with fish and fertilized with the commercial mixture 8-8-4 to produce plankton on which the fish feed.

These ponds are open to the public for fishing but not for swimming so long as persons visiting them do no damage. Persons not living up to the law will be prosecuted, said Mr. Reed.

Mrs. Regan Named Chairman In Drive To Enroll Voters

Mrs. Marie Regan of Wellsville, state committeewoman, has been appointed chairman for Allegany county in the state-wide registration drive which is being conducted by the Women's Division of the Democratic State Committee, Miss Angela R. Parisi, vice chairman, has announced.

The drive will have as its goal 100 per cent registration of voters in each county. It will work not only with Democratic organizations but with any non-partisan organizations it can contact.

"Our consideration is to get everybody registered, regardless of party," Miss Parisi said. "Elections these days are too important for anyone to fail to vote."

Every possible channel to reach the voters will be used—newspaper publicity, radio, television, flyers, house-to-house canvassing, churches, women's clubs, and other non-political groups.

State chairman of the drive is Mrs. A. J. Gurevich of New York. Working with her are members of the Women's Division State Advisory Committee, which consists of one woman from each judicial district. They are: Mrs. Edna Lee of Norwich, Mrs. Mary Marcy of Albany, Miss Gertrude Moore of Troy, Mrs. David J. Fitzgerald of Glens Falls, Mrs. John J. Walsh of Utica, Mrs. Cortland Wilbar of Binghamton, Mrs. Stephen J. Leatham of Rochester, Miss Mary Louise Nice of Tonawanda, who is also a candidate for Congress, Mrs. Kathleen Dowd Bryce of Salamanca, Mrs. Marjorie Indzonka of Newburgh, and Mrs. Marion Groves of Garden City.

The American's Creed

The American's Creed, by William Page, is being published in local papers throughout the county at the request of Miss Phoebe Fuller, Belmont, National defense chairman of the local D. A. R. Chapter.

The American's Creed

I believe in the United States of America, as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support the Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies.
