CHARLES SUMNER.

The veteran Statesman, Charles Sumner, died at his residence in Boston, yesterday afternoon at half past two o'clock. For want of space we shall defer further comments until next week.

DEATH OF MILLARD FILLMORE.

Hon. Millard Fillmore died at his house in Buffalo at ten minutes to 11 P. M., Sunday. The previous night he passed restlessly, and new and dangerous symptoms were disclosed. He was conscious to the end, and his last words, in reply to a question, were that the nourishment given him was palatable.

He was born at Summer Hill, Cayuga county, Jan. 7th, 1800. While a mere child his parents removed to Livingston county, then almost an unbroken wilderness. While quite young he was apprenticed to a wool carder, and for four years he industriously pursued his calling. But already he had learned the necessity of obtaining an education, and was a hard student. When nineteen years of age he began the study of the law, teaching school at times to obtain a livelihood. In 1821 he removed to Buffalo, and two years later was admitted to the bar and began the practice of his profession at Aurora, Erie county, where his parents then lived.

In 1828 he removed to Buffalo, which has since been his home. The following year he was elected to the Legislature, and in 1832 he was sent to Congress, and again in 1837, and served in the 26th and 27th Congresses, declining a re-election to devote himself to his profession. In 1847 he was elected Controller of the State, and while occupying that position he was nominated for Vice-President and elected on the ticket with General Taylor. In 1849 he resigned the Controllership, and took his seat as the President of the Senate. Gen. Taylor died in July, 1850, and Mr. Fillmore became President. After his retirement in 1853, he visited Europe, and was particularly honored by the notice of foreign governments. Returning home, he married, for the second time, a wealthy widow, Mrs. McIntosh, of Albany. By his former marriage he had two children, a son and daughter. The latter died while Mr. Fillmore was President. The son, M. Powers Fillmore, is Clerk of the United States District Court.—Mr. Fillmore was a Whig while the party had an organization. He was the American, or Know Nothing candidate for President in 1856, with Andrew Jackson Donelson for Vice-President, against the first Republican candidate, Gen Fremont, and James Buchanan, the Democratic candidate, who was elected.

While he was an earnest Union man during the war, his political affiliations have been with the Democratic party. However, since 1856, Mr. Fillmore took no active part in politics, devoting his attention to a special class of law practice. Mr. Fillmore was active in all social, benevolent and public affairs of Buffalo, and was a warm friend of the public schools. We shall not more than revert to one historical episode of his career—his signing the Fugitive Slave law, an act which the people of the North neither forgot nor forgave. That act sealed the political fate of his party, and of many of the prominent Whigs who acquiesced in it. It hurled Fillmore and Webster from the pinnacle of popularity. It destroyed their party, handed over the government to the imbecile administration of James Buchanan and the Secessionists, aroused feeling of resentment toward the too overbearing and insolent slave holders which culminated in the triumph of the Republican party, the secession of the South, and finally the war and the abolition of slavery.

That Mr. Fillmore regretted that fatal act is well known, and it is the only stain upon an otherwise blameless and useful life. Intellectually Mr. Fillmore was of a substantial rather than a brilliant character. He was a sound lawyer, and a delightful orator.

His life, with whatever of blame may attach to one act, is an example to all the world of what the American youth may achieve, without extraneous advantages of birth or fortune, and with no aids but his own talents and integrity.

CONFIRMATION OF SIMMONS.

Upon the resignation of Col. Russell, the collector of the port of Boston, the country was surprised at the nomination of W. A. Simmons, as the Supervisor of Internal Revenue for that district. It does seem that no man could have been nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate, that would have given greater dissatisfaction than did Mr. Simmons. Both Senators of the State opposed the appointment, as well as a large majority of the best Republicans. But Butler carried the point, which confirmed his leadership of the Republicans at the head of government.

THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT.

For some weeks past we have been receiving news of the progress of the women war upon whiskey in the Western States, which has resulted in much good cheer. The ball has been set in motion in this State. In Watkins the rumsellers have gone to work with a will and are carrying everything before them. In Minot the ladies are aroused and are pushing the cause forward. In Bradford county they have got fairly at work. In Elmira the matter is under discussion, and the women have decided to make the matter in a way which will tell. They have strong opposition in the way of the rum seller [illegible] Thomas K. Beecher, who [illegible] ought to stop and [illegible] the fiery goods dealer as well [illegible] Mr. Beecher's position (peculiar to the breed) has been severely criticized. In the Elmira Advertiser of Monday, Rev. A. C. George, Pastor of the 1st M. E. Church of Elmira, takes Mr. Beecher to task in the matter in such a way that he must see the folly of his position. We hope to see the movement inaugurated in every town in the State, and in the world.

The Illinois Legislature has passed a bill abolishing solitary confinement in penitentiaries, and is now discussing the propriety of abolishing capital punishment. Some of the papers out that way are urging that an early day be fixed for adjournment lest punishment for crime be abolished altogether.

There is a mistaken impression that the sentiment of the West is all for inflation. The facts not sustain it. In Michigan there twenty-nine newspapers against inflation and only eight for it. The former are not only the strongest in numbers but decidedly the largest circulation and the weightiest in influence.

CUSTOM HOUSE FRAUDS.

Below we give the experience of a Rochester importer, which, in plain words, will give our readers a correct view of the way in which importers are robbed. The letter is addressed to the Rochester Express:

Eds. Express: From time to time I have noticed your remarks on Custom House frauds, and I thought a few facts might be interesting to yourselves and the people. My opinion is that the government through its officers is guilty of the gravest frauds upon the people. Every possible advantage is taken of any little technicality to obtain money unjustly, and the importers are almost forced to pursue the same course in self-defence. A look at one of the importer's bills passing through the New York Custom House would enlighten you on the point. The charges for storage, cooperage, &c., are enormous. The last importation I had through that establishment cost me about thirty dollars for "cooperage," while there was not a barrel or case in the lot, all being sacks. Goods that are spoiled on the passage are not expected to be passed with duties. A few years since I obtained a lot of goods that arrived in a damaged condition. This fact was apparent to every one in the New York Custom House. My agent wrote me the facts and thought they were not worth the freight to Rochester. Hoping to save a portion I had them sent on, paying about eight hundred dollars in duties. My agent in New York wrote me to open the case in the presence of the Collector at Rochester, and if worthless, thought he could get the duties refunded. This I did, and sent his affidavit to New York that the entire lot was hopelessly ruined. The response was that the Custom House would not refund a penny, but if I would commence a suit against the government I would recover. I preferred to be robbed.

We import a bill of goods, say of ten thousand dollars, and pay twenty per cent. duty. By some error in the invoice one item is charged at three dollars less than the proper price, by which the government loses one dollar. Some watchful detective notices this and says nothing about it. Soon, however, he makes a charge of fraud, the merchant's books are seized, and the error found. The importer claims, justly, that there was no intentional fraud; that the saving of a dollar could be no temptation. This makes not the slightest difference. The government claim now is not a dollar, but the confiscation of the whole invoice, ten thousand dollars, and ten times that more as a punishment, and caution. Of this is pocketed by the detective. Then the fine and cry is raised by the press of the whole land that Peculiar Dodge & Co., say, are on a plan, has defrauded the revenue, and that the Government claim is twenty thousand dollars. Time is the judgment—not only robbed, but his reputation ruined.

Again, some article is stated across to take all the tin that a certain mine in Cornwall produces, or I agree to take all the seeds and a certain seed grower in Essex can raise, at certain prices, and as low as usually sold to the London seedsmen. The seeds arrive with a correct invoice—just what I agreed to pay. The Government says this is fraud—it is not the market price. The market price is what the second-hand London jobber sells for, and not the grower's price. Then confiscation is talked of, and a great ado made about fraud. To avoid this, if he makes a good bargain with the producer in Europe, the importer must have two invoices sent out, a low one which he pays by and a higher one to satisfy the Government, and to pay the duties by. Is not this whole thing a shame and a disgrace to a civilized people, and enough to make free traders of us all?

I would advise all Rochester importers to have their goods sent to Buffalo, in bond, by the Merchants' Despatch, for there we are treated fairly. J. V.

Bad Bills.

The Albany Post calls the attention of the press and the people of the State to several bills now before the Legislature that ought to be nipped in the bud.

One of these allows mortgages to be foreclosed without advertising the intended foreclosure in any newspaper. It will not do for any member of the Legislature to vote for that bill, and allow his constituents to know it.

Another bill authorizes Boards of Supervisors to appoint two papers only in each county to publish election notices. This bill would affect many of the best papers in the State. In New York, the Evening Post and a dozen others of the high toned journals would be thrown out in favor of the Transcript or any other obscure journal that happens to have the favor of the Supervisors; in Albany, the Argus would be excluded from patronage, and in other cities like injustice would be done and a majority of newspaper readers would never be officially notified of elections.

We trust our representatives at Albany will be careful how they place themselves upon the record with respect to these bills. The press is watching them.

GENERAL NEWS.

—Pittsburgh spends $2,000,000 yearly for intoxicating drinks.

—A Chester (Ct.) couple have been divorced and remarried three times.

—A Terre Haute (Ind.) Judge fined a man for keeping a dog that barked all night.

—The "Dutchess of Geneva," the famous $40,000 cow, died at New York Mills on Friday.

—Thirty-nine couples were married in twenty-seven days of last month, at Davenport, Iowa.

—William Steers of 106 Cherry St., New York city, died last Wednesday night of starvation.

—A Jacksonville (Ill.) man bought a fiddle last week, and his neighborn talk of moving to Chicago.

—An Iowa clergyman who had a donation party lately, has beans enough to last him seventeen years.

—A Georgia paper has for its motto: "It is not rank, nor birth, nor state, but get up and get that makes men great."

—Commodore Vanderbilt bought the million Lake Shore bonds sold at auction on Tuesday, in New York, paying 90 for them.

—Lake Erie will have a large account to render. Twenty thousand lives have been lost in that shallow sea, since its navigation began.

—A burglar who was found under a man's bed in Philadelphia excused himself on the ground that he was looking for his dog.

—A Western paper is dead. In its last gasp it gently whispered, "Two hundred subscribers, and only thirty-one of them paid up."

—The New York Times says that Jay Gould has paid into the treasury of Erie $1,030,000, in settlement of its claims against him for certain irregularities. The original bill against him was about $8,000,000.

—Caution! In our changeable climate, coughs, colds, and diseases at the throat, lungs and chest will always prevail. Cruel consumption will claim its victims. These diseases, if attended to in time, can be arrested and cured. The remedy is Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

—Two neighbors had a protracted suit at law concerning a spring which they both claimed. The judge became weary with the case and said, "What is the use of making such a fuss about a little water?" "Your Honor will see the use of it," replied one of the lawyers, "when I inform you that the parties are both milkmen."

—The man who answered an advertisement to the following effect had his curiosity satisfied: "If you would learn to make home happy, send 50 cents in postage stamps to A. B." &c. Upon receipt of postage-stamps, A. B. replied: "Your home would be more happy if you were less frequently there."

—Late in February, Mrs. Martha Coggeswell, of Chapmansville, Pa., died, and on Saturday was buried. Her husband was absent and only returned on Saturday last. He felt her loss deeply and insisted on seeing her remains. Upon opening the grave and removing the coffin her friends were horror stricken to find abundant proof that she had been buried alive. She had torn her flesh in her futile efforts to get out, and was found upon her face, her hair matted covered with blood.—Her husband was at first utterly dazed and has since become a maniac.

—An infallible pile remedy.—Sufferers with this painful disease who have tried electuaries lotions, ointments and a long list of nostrums for its relief, in will thank us for calling attention to SNARES, the happy discovery of Dr. Silsbee, an experienced and scientific M. D. Thousands of cases attest its virtue, it is a simple suppository, acts as an instrument soothing poultice and medicine, gives instant relief and cures permanently.—Price $1.00. Sold by Druggists everywhere. ANARESS Depot, 41 Walker st., New York. 4w270

—We take this amount of space to notify advertising agents, and others, that we cannot publish advertisements of Gift Concerts, for the laws of the state prohibit it. Gov. Thos. E. Brandette, of Louisville, Ky., the manager of the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library in that city, will save postage by not sending us his matter. We have no doubt that the prizes will be distributed as is set forth in his announcement. We have no doubt that the capital prize of $250,000 will be paid to some lucky man March 31st. And we are aware that this differs from others in that it is reliable; but we cannot, nevertheless, publish the advertisement for the law forbids. So please don't send them to us.

Execution of the Prussian Ecclesiastical Laws.

BERLIN, March 9, 1874.—The arrest of the Bishop of Treves last week caused much excitement among the Catholic population. It was followed to-day by the forcible closing of the Seminary affiliated to the Bishop's See, in accordance with the decrees of the Courts and the orders of the Government. Large numbers of people gathered around the institution and tried to prevent the officers from doing their duty. A riot followed which threatened to become serious. The troops came to the assistance of the authorities and quickly dispersed the mob. To-night the city is reported quiet.

A Mormon Revival in Michigan.

BROOKFIELD, March 5.—There has been a Mormon revival held here during the winter, brought on by Prophet Jacob Palmateer. Some of the most wealthy families have been converted. Mr. Palmateer has been a prophet for the last twenty years. An emigrant train, headed by the prophet, will soon start by the overland rout to the valley of Salt Lake. It will be a heavy loss to this part of the country, as they will take about one million dollars with them. The prophet has sent Mr. Levi Williams to Missouri for two hundred of the best mules that can be bought, while Mrs. Heath and Mrs. Toplif are making arrangements for the comfort of the women and children.—Correspondence of the N. Y. Sun.

Proposed Escape from Sing Sing.

We take the following from the New York Times:

A letter dated from the city on the 5th inst., was forwarded to the Warden of the prison at Sing Sing, informing him that the writer overheard a conversation in Tenth avenue the day previous which was going on between three men, in the course of which it was stated that preparations were being made on the part of some of the prisoners to effect their escape. Theo. Allen's brother is one of the prisoners it is proposed to rescue, and the writer suggests that he should be removed to Auburn. It is thought the attempt will be made on a stormy night, when the friends of the prisoners will proceed up the river with a tug-boat to effect their object. It is said that the articles which recently appeared in the Herald describing at much length the manner in which the escape of prisoners from the Newcastle jail in Delaware was effected, has been the cause of setting the project on foot to effect a similar movement in connection with the prison at Sing Sing. There is a military company, however, organized in the village under the command of one of the night-keepers at the prison, and the Wardens tell us that they are well prepared to guard the prisoners committed to their care.

Some Snow in the Far West.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 8.—A dispatch from Elko, Nev., to-night, says that the Central Pacific Railroad is still blockaded by snow. Western trains are laying at Toano, waiting. About fifty miles of the road are to be cleared. It is improbable that any trains can be got through for two or three days either way.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9. All the freight trains caught in the snow blockade are abandoned for the present. In Summit Valley the snow is twenty-five feet deep on a level. Several snow plows and engines are off the track. One eastern-bound passenger train is still at Alta. A western-bound passenger train is at Pero. Other western-bound passenger trains lie at Toano and Halleck. At Osseo over six feet of snow has fallen during the present storm.

The Death of Cespedes.

HAVANA, March 7.—The report of the killing of ex-President Cespedes by some members of the San Quentin Battalion is confirmed.

It appears that on the 27th ult. the Spanish troops captured a negro and were ordered by their commander to shoot him. The negro promised, if his life were spared, to lead them to the spot where Cespedes could be found.

This was assented to, and the ex-President was discovered, with a few friends, five leagues from Accrrudero.

His companions succeeded in getting away, but he could not escape, and, while closely pursued by a detachment of troops led by a sergeant, he turned and fired off six shots from his revolver. This was returned by the troops, and Cespedes received bullets in the head and breast, causing instant death.

His body was brought to Santiago de Cuba and buried on the 1st inst.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York.

Hal "Jason" writes of a recent visit to the Grand Central Hotel, as follows:

During the winter, without disturbing the guests, rich decorations have been added in every direction. New designs in Fresco-work have been finished throughout the halls, parlors, principal staircases, grand dining-room, and exchanges. Standing in the rear of the grand exchange, facing Broadway, the TOUT ENSEMBLE is magnificent —unrivalled in Europe or America. The floor spread out before you, like a lake of marble, an entire block in length and many feet in width. Above, the richly-frescoed ceiling is supported by a dozen or more carved Corinthian columns, while the massive suspended chandeliers, gleam at night like a sheen, with the glitter of a hundred white globes of light. Wonder where you will all is in the ring with hats and beards. The Grand Central is hardly approached in style and magnificence by any other hotel in New York, and yet its rates are from one to two dollars less than other first-class hotels, being $3 00, $3 50 and $4 per day. Mr. Powers, its proprietor, seems to have solved perfectly, for the public, the problem of moderate rates and luxurious surroundings.

Education

THE spring and summer terms of this well-known institution will open on Monday, March 23d, 1874. Students can enter at any time, and will be charged only from the date of entrance. The necessity of a thorough business education is now so generally recognized that no further argument is required to induce young men and women to attend this school. Circulars containing full information will be sent to any address on application. E. G. FOLLETT, Principal. Rochester, N. Y. 4w231
