MOTHER'S DAY

By Eunice Hall

During these past few days you have probably overheard someone saying that he was going to buy some flowers or candy for his mother for Mother's Day. Most mothers love to receive new things on Mother's Day and enjoy it. But did you ever stop to think of all the things she has done for you. She has given up opportunities to go out so you could go. She has gone without much for you.

Mother likes to feel that she is loved and that you appreciate the things she does for you.

Instead of trying to get out of as much work as you can, ask if there is something you can do. Also do what she tells you without asking questions or trying to get out of it.

Mother all day long, like other folks, bears the burden and wears the yoke, and yet when you look into her eyes at eve., she is lovlier than ever.

FRESHMEN WIN CANCER DRIVE PRIZE

In the cancer drive beginning May 1 in Andover Central, the freshmen class, under the leadership of Charity Howland and James Conde, will receive the prize as highest contributors in the school with a contribution of $11.21.

The second highest contributors were the fourth graders of Miss Ruth Baker, with a contribution of $5.69 and the third place in the drive goes to Miss Jordan's fifth grade with $3.87 in donations.

total contribution of the school was $106.00, of which $45.50 was given by the student body and $60.50 by the faculty.

"What's our prize?" ask all the freshmen. Since this information was not available at press time, the prize will be announced in next week's paper. MCB

ORCHIDS AND ONIONS

Here we are again. The onions this week are quite strong and there's a few tears showing, but can't we wiggle out a slight smile?

Orchids to LeRoy Caple for becoming 18.

Onions to Mary Lou Clark and Joyce Spicer for not having a sweater that would fit Beverly Sutor.

Orchids to Mary Brown for getting rid of a cold.

Onions to the boys for throwing artificial snakes at Mary Fowler.

Onions to Barbara Wintemberg for getting a parking ticket.

Onions to Lois Ruger for screaming at Michael Connor, who threw a snake in her face.

Onions to Marcella Smith for wearing such tight skirts that she can't run.

Orchids to Gerry Green for reporting that he caught some fish.

Onions to the seventh and eighth grade boys for not square dancing at the dances.

Orchids to Mr. Holden for teaching the band and orchestra members their left and right feet.

Orchids to Mr. Conde and the track team for working so hard on the track.

Onions to Skeet Milligan and Ron Atwell for getting those flashy suspenders.

Orchids to Anna Beil for doing the dishes after the faculty party.

Onions to Jim Jackson, Ronnie Howland, Eddie Harkenrider and Butch Vickers for getting such strange haircuts.

Orchids to the F.H.A. for making the dance successful.

Orchids to Eunice Hall and Colleen McAndrews for securing the new positions as Hi Herald editors.

Orchids to the baseball team for winning their two starts. — Keep it up fellows!

Orchids to the "Howlands" and "Condes" for their good word in the cancer drive.

EUNICE HALL TO EDIT HI HERALD

by Marion Milligan

After much deliberation on the part of Mrs. Marie McFadden, the Hi Herald adviser, and a committee composed of the senior Hi Herald members, it was decided that Eunice Hall of Elm Valley would be our new 1950-1951 editor while Colleeen McAndrews was chosen to be assistant editor.

The competitors were Dean Fisher, Caroline Briggs and Danjaan Crandall, all of whom edited excellent Hi Herald issues.

Eunice, who has been a member of the Hi Herald one year and has attended Andover Central for two years, is now taking English III, history, typing, Latin III and elementary algebra.

Eunice has written many articles on "Your Manners Are Showing" and "Around the Town" as well as many special assignments.

Colleen who has attended A.C.S. for ten years and has been on the Hi Herald staff for two years has written many articles on "News of Homemaking Department." She is now taking business law, English III, history and bookkeeping.

The new editors will begin their work on the Hi Herald with next week's edition of the school paper.

TOT SPOT

I am once again back on my old job gathering news flashes that have happened among the tiny tots.

We regret to hear that the following "tots' have been absent: Kay Bostwick of the kindergarten, Karen Stocking, Sharon Strouse, David Kemp, Lynford Bledsoe and Barbara Hawks of the first grade and Paul Glover and Mary Gath of the second grade.

We have some newborn artists! The kindergarten children are working with clay. An especially good model was a snapping turtle made by Gary Lee O'Dell. The class has also been cutting original designs from paper and mounting them.

Congratulations to the first grade boys in Mrs. Hall's room. They have had four days perfect attendance in the past week.

Mrs. Connor's first graders have been studying turtles. The class also made poppies for Decoration Day and carnations for Mother's Day.

The Brownies of Mrs. Tompkins' second grade have finished both second grade readers. They are now going to dramatize "Animals That Make a Home." The Fairies are starting a new unit called "New Storybook Friends."

What's this! From Mrs. Carmody's doorway I see some branches overlapping in the hall. Investigating further I find a tree branch with bird pictures which the children made. That certainly proves that summer is on its way here.

Miss Baker's fourth grade held an election and here are the results: Lois Pelton, president; Patrick Padden, vice president; Corrine Schoonover, treasurer and Olin Elster, secretary.

The fifth grade class of Miss Jordan welcomes Harriet Dean back to school.

The class has just finished the United States and are beginning the United States Possessions in social studies.

Miss Church's fifth and sixth grades held a skating party Friday night, May 5. They wish to thank Mrs. Loescher, Mrs. Carl Clarke, Mrs. Charles Clarke and Mrs. Loel Lusk for driving cars.

That's all the news flashes this week, but be sure and read the Tot Spot next week to hear from our tots. GFR

PANTHERS WALLOP ALFRED-ALMOND

by Bob Baker

The Andover Panthers took second win in as many starts by trouncing the Alfred-Almond Eagles here Thursday, May 4. The final score was 14-0 as Don Mulconery threw a three-hitter at the visitors. The locals again opened up strong in the early innings as they garnered four runs in the first, one in the second, and eight in the big third inning.

Mulconery had four for four to lead the hitters and Smith had three for five also for the locals.

The next league game for the Panthers will be at Whitesville today (Thursday) May 11.

YOUR MANNERS ARE SHOWING

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

by Eunice Hall

It is proper for a girl to visit a boy she knows when he is sick in the hospital, if he is receiving visitors. If you would like to call on him, do so.

It's better for the girl herself to greet her date at the door when he comes to get her for their first date instead of her parents. The boy is more comfortable if the girl is there to introduce him to her parents and he isn't forced to introduce himself. Also, he is flattered when his date thinks enough of him to be ready when he calls.

If a girl has gone to a party with a new boy friend and he wants to stop some place on the way home, but her mother has told her to come straight home, what then? Well, tell your friend that you appreciate his invitation, but you can't accept. Nine times out of ten a new boy friend will be favorably impressed with a girl who knows her own mind. Then, the next time, ask your family if you might stop on the way home from a party. You can refuse in a nice way, and he will respect you more if you don't go ahead and do something your parents have asked you not to do.

If your friend comes over to dinner and she eats slower than you do, what do you do? First of all, a good hostess remembers her guests at all times. You want your guests to be comfortable and it's embarrassing for them to find themselves eating after their hostess has finished. So, when your friend comes to dinner, try to eat as slowly as she does, and wait with the second helping until you see she's ready for one.

At a party when refreshments are served, and there are little cookies that you like very much, it isn't wrong to take more than one the first time, for most hostesses expect you to take more than one. If, after everyone else is served, the cookies are put where the guests can help themselves, a second helping is in order. Don't forget to let your hostess know that you enjoyed them.

PANTHERS DUMP ALLENTOWN 15-2

by Bob Baker

The Andover Panthers won their first baseball game of the season as they dumped the Allentown nine there Thursday, April 27 by a 15-2 score. Six runs in the first two innings gave the Andover pitcher, Don Mulconery, a comfortable lead with which to work. The locals then added three runs in the fourth, two in the fifth and four in the seventh to win going away.

Mulconery fanned 12 and walked three in the seven inning game while the Andover sluggers were garnering 13 hits off the Allentown pitchers. Charles Snyder had four for four with a double, Mulconery had three for five with two doubles, and Harder had a perfect day with two singles in two official trips to the plate.

The locals played errorless ball while Allentown had five against them.

bins and Shirley E. Brown, the firm later becoming Phillips, Brown & Greene.

Governor Whitman in April, 1915, offered him the post of superintendent of insurance which he accepted. In the same year he was a delegate to the New York State Constitutional Convention, being chairman of its Committee on Library and Information and a member of its Banking and Insurance and Legislative Powers Committee.

It was at this Constitutional convention that Mr. Phillips first met Leroy A. Lincoln, then a successful young lawyer in Buffalo whose father had written a constitutional history of New York State and had been secretary to Governor Morton. Phillips admired the legal mind, personal integrity and all-around characteristics of Lincoln and the latter's appointment as counsel of the New York Insurance Department followed. It was the beginning of an insurance career for Mr. Lincoln which led eventually to his becoming president of the Metropolitan Life.

Opinion in the industry is that Mr. Phillips was one of the ablest superintendents of insurance which New York State has had. Inside of a year and a half he was elected president of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. He served three terms in all, his last reappointment being by Governor Miller. He continued as superintendent until November, 1921, when he resigned to go with National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters as general manager and counsel.

As superintendent Mr. Phillips did much to secure remedial and better legislation for the insurance business in New York.

One of Mr. Phillips' most constructive activities as superintendent was in his capacity as chairman of the committee on valuation of securities of the old National Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

It was the late Louis F. Butler, president of the Travelers, who was responsible for Mr. Phillips coming over to the National Bureau of Casualty & Surety Underwriters as general manager and counsel. That bureau, an essential organization for adequate and sound rate making, needed a pilot strong enough to make the organization click and to keep relationships between companies harmonious. There had been a lot of resignations. Mr. Butler was head of a committee that had as its goal securing the right manager. Phillips seemed the ideal man. Personally popular, he had also the acquaintance and friendship of all the state insurance officials, including the deputies, and the ability to get things done without friction. His long experience also gave him legislative know-how. He proved to be the right man for the job.

When interests identified with the Great American Insurance Company decided to organize a casualty and surety running mate they asked Mr. Phillips to head up the new company. His reply was that he would gladly do so if he could bring to the Great American Indemnity his right hand man at the Bureau, G. F. Michelbacher. This was agreeable to the directors. Mr. Phillips' first responsibility was to pick the original staff of officers and department heads. He started his operations in a room off that of the board of directors and made the appointments, appointment No. 1 being Mr. Michelbacher who at the present time is president of the Great American Indemnity.

Mr. Phillips was one of the original members of the advisory insurance board created in 1933 to come with the superintendent of insurance, and he has continued on the board ever since, his last reappointment being made by Governor Dewey a few weeks ago.

GRANGE NEWS from Washington, D. C., this week includes a statement to the effect that The National Grange favors Statehood from Hawaii. In his testimony before the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, Legislative Counsel J. T. Sanders commented on Hawaii's outstanding contribution to agriculture.

The proposed St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project also received National Grange backing. Sanders, in pointing out that the Grange has long favored such a project, said: "Estimated tolls would amount to over $2 million, and yield an equal savings to consumers and farmers alike." He stated that, in the long run, our whole economy would benefit from the expanded development of industry and agriculture.

NEW YORK State Fair is losing the services of Bligh Dodds as director. Mr. Dodds has been named executive secretary of the National Capital Sesquicentennial Commission. In commenting on Mr. Dodds' resignation and new appointment, State Agriculture Commissioner C. Chester DuMond said " . . . State fair is losing the services of one of New York's most outstanding showmen," but he pointed out that Mr. Dodds would continue to serve the state well in the nationwide celebration. Mr. DuMond named Earl C. Foster as acting director of the New York State Fair.

LECTURERS' schools continue this month with two being held at Gouverneur Grange, Gouverneur, May 9-10, and at Newtonville Methodist church, Albany, on May 12-13.
