Library News

Recent books of interest:

"The Boys from Sharon," by Louise Cooper. An amazing, gentle but acid account of a museum, a domineering woman, two misunderstood small boys and a shy young girl in love with a morose young man.

"Each Bright River," a novel of the Oregon country by McNeilly. A fascinating story of beautiful Kitty Gatewood, who leaves her South Carolina home and makes the six months voyage around the Horn to join her lover in the new Oregon country. Of the tragedies she encounters, of the massacre at the mission of Dr. Whitman and his wife Narcissa, of "Fifty-four forty or fight," and the struggle with the British about the boundary line.

"Animal IQ," by Vance Packard. An amusing report on the "human" side of animals. Stories of elephants, chimpanzees, white rats and other beasts to prove that animals are not morons.

"I Married a Dinosaur," Lilian Brown. A delightfully amusing book about a young girl, fresh from convent school, who meets and marries a bone-digging Dr. Brown and goes with him to India on a prehistoric honeymoon among the fossils.

Andover Memorial Day Observance Well Carried Out

The Andovevr American Legion and its Memorial Day committee, Roger Tuttle and J. E. Burgett are to be congratulated on the fine manner in which the Memorial Day observanse was carried out in Andover this year.

Features of the parade were the crack Andover Legion Drill Team, Commanded by Howard Gath, who made a fine appearance in their natty grey and white uniforms and fine marching drills. Scoutmaster Mulholland with his uniformed Boy Scouts and Cub Master Pelton with the Cub Scouts in their blue uniforms also added much to the parade.

The Andover Central school band under the direction of George Holden, as the music of the day accredited themselves in both appearance and playing.

The speaker of the day, Rev. John R. Shea, gave a very appropriate Memorial Day address and "In Flander's Field" and the "Gettysburg Address" were masterly rendered by Miss Annabelle O'Dell and Robert Carpenter.

Following the decorating of graves by the Women's Relief Corps, Legion Drill Team members fired the salute to the dead and taps and echo taps were sounded by Marion Milligan and Thelma Mickle of the school band.

The parade then reformed and marched from Hillside cemetery to Legion Park where the flag was raised from half-mast by Legion Commander Carlyle Myers while the band played the Star Spangled Banner.

Following the flag raising the Legion Drill Team put on a drill exhibition on Main street.

The Legion committee wish to express their appreciation to the Andover Firemen and Auxiliary, the townspeople, the school and all others who assisted in this years Memorial Day observance.
