Farm and Dairy.

Edited and conducted by W. A. Ambersonn, of Rhode, Secretary of the State Grange.

Communications from farmers upon subjects pertaining to Agriculture will be cheerfully received.

Better Farming.

It is necessary to preach 'economy' to farmers. "They do not squander money on mere luxuries, nor do they indulge a taste for gewgaws. They do not drive the finest equippages and their horses always carry the full complement of hair. It does not exaggerate the splendor of farmers' apparel, to say that Solomon in all his glory was never arrayed like these industrious workers of this busy age.

But with all these negative virtues farmers do not always spend their hard earned money wisely, and they do often withhold it when they might put it to very profitable use. It is the popular belief that they have chronic itching for more land, and in this belief there is something very much like fact. If their happiness depends upon the acres they number, it is rare that the measure is completely full. We cannot establish a fixed rule for the size of a farm, but we can show by very conclusive arguments that any extension of the farm which involves excessive increase of labor and care, and weary years of interest payment is not wise. There is not one farm in a hundred which is so developed that it yields the full profit of which it is capable, and until this period be reached, there is poor economy in adding territory unless there be special reasons in the way of promoting improvement of the original possessions. It is often alleged even by good farmers that their business does not pay. The expression is common and we venture therefore to use it without a clear understanding of what it means, for the very kinds of business with which comparisons are made, carry their followers often into bankruptcy, and it is well known farmers seldom get there. If it is meant that farming seldom pays large profit, the statement is full of truth. The question to consider then is, how can the profit be increased? Not by higher prices for the products, because no farmer—no community of farmers in this country can establish rates. It must come by increased production so wisely wrought that the relative cost shall be diminished, and this in turn comes through increased fertility and better development of resources unused in the acres in hand. To be timely, we shall say that more thorough tillage is the great need in our American farming. Of course always giving due thought and care to excellence in quality, and then attending to increase in that wise way which brings out of the soil the largest measure of the crops attempted. A great stout weed growing by the side of a hill of corn, will cost an ear or two of valuable grain. Destroy the weed and get the extra ear or two. It is a better policy than to buy more land on which to raise other weeds and insufficient hills of corn. We cannot even hint at the separate ways in which increase of production is to be obtained, but everything tending in that direction is improvement and results in better pay to men who honestly earn all they get.

Farm Records.

It is a very easy matter to keep farm accounts in such a way that the exact cost of any particular crop can be as accurately determined as the cost of shoeing a span of horses for a year. It is easy because it does not involve the solution of any intricate problem, nor take much time to keep full and complete. The sole difficulty with the average farmer in his unaccountable aversion to writing. He will hold a letter until the corners are worn through before he can summon resolution enough to sit down to the task of answering.—There are even many who transact business to a large amount and keep no record besides that which memory stores. Perhaps there is a compensation for such negligence in the surprising development of memory in these men.

But the record of crops—such record as shall settle the vexed and vexatious question, "Does Farming Pay?" cannot be trusted to memory, because no impress of the fact is ever made. Let us suppose five acres are to be planted to corn—every days plowing goes into the cost of the crop—the dragging, the marking, the seed, the planting, and the after cultivation, are these not easy to estimate, and just as easy to put down? Take every process to the end thus computed and the sum of all is the total cost of all. Now take out of this the estimated value of the stalks and divide the remainder by the whole number of bushels, when it will appear just what the actual cost per bushel is. Of course all this work can be complicated somewhat by consideration of interest on capital employed, insurance charges on fire risks, taxes, and all the et cetera. But never mind them. Or if they rise to vex the mind pitch them all into a gross sum and deduct from the profits.

It is the duty of every farmer to adopt something like the simple plan proposed, and then attend faithfully to its execution to the end that some positive knowledge may be had upon which to base future plans. It would hardly seem necessary to present any argument in favor of a course so manifestly proper—even imperatively necessary. And yet we shall continue to hear farmers themselves guessing at the cost of their crops and stoutly maintaining the proposition that farming does not pay. How puerile the complaint from the lips of those who neglect the easy means of ascertaining the facts, general and particular! It is simply absurd to say that the very staples of life are produced at a loss.—It is equivalent to saying that life it-self is a losing game. And yet there are many ladies on the farm continued through series of years, giving the color of truth to the general charge.—They are fairly chargeable to lack of system—to insufficient knowledge—to culpable negligence in not aggregating facts to prove a given policy true or false.

The Patent Office may be far advanced into a new department which shall lead to definite results through the treasured lessons of experience. Even now members of Congress, to call up for the record the large space in each Agricultural Report given to the corn and the seed. Set it down. And to it every one which may be mixed, and the dose of the mixture to be given. And [illegible] a growing taste for the [illegible] which [illegible] benefit to all

VINEGAR BITTERS

R. H. McDONALD & CO. CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorator that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Tumors, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial affections, Old Sores, Fistulous Ulcers, Scaly Skin Diseases, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many human beings, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuge, no anthelmintic will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

The Ayer's Hair Vigor is a dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Thus cleansed, deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit, but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

which can be cured by a timely resort to this standard preparation, as has been proved by the hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors. It is acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most reliable preparation ever introduced for the relief and cure of all Lung complaints, and is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years. When resorted to in season it seldom fails to effect a speedy cure in the most severe cases of Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Asthma, Colds, Sore Throat, Pains or Soreness in the Chest and Side, Liver Complaint, Bleeding at the Lungs, &c. Wistar's Balsam does not dry up a Cough, and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs, and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.

No other Bitters in the universe can equal them. I lack space for detailing the availability of these Bitters, but will briefly state its powers and effects on the human system, as follows:

It Exhilarates Purifies the Blood. It speedily corrects all morbid change in the Blood. It equalizes the circulation of the Blood. It regulates the supply and quality of the blood. It prepares the food to furnish a proper support to all the vital properties. It enriches the constituents of the blood upon which the vital energy of the system is dependent. It induces the proper degree of animal heat in the system. It purges from the system the morbid humors which retard its natural functions. It imparts vitality and elasticity to every organ of the body. It corrects all dyspeptic, nervous trivial, which are the first origin of insomnia. It promotes the operations of the digestive organs. It improves the appetite and removes all disagreeable feeling after eating. It perfects digestion, rendering it natural and easy. It acts as a mild and efficacious stomachic. It elevates the nervous fibres and diffuses a calm throughout the nervous system. It destroys all morbid secretions of the mind. It disperses dullness and languor. It promotes buoyancy of spirit and feeling. It harmonizes those clogs upon pleasure which produce dyspepsia. It drives away those distressing symptoms which rob us of happiness. It revives the physical energies by infusing new life and power into the system. It fortifies the system against the dangers of malaria, fluctuations of the temperature, changes in the climate, &c. In short, it prepares the system for the radical change to be effected in its functions, and restores it to perfect health and natural vigor.

Our Boys and Girls.

The Little Hero.

BY AMELIA CLEMENT.

I imagine I see a little of the "Spirit of '76" firing the eyes, of these lads, at the title of this little story.

Boys do admire heroes, and what so grand as to merit the appellation? Still, there are many ways of becoming a hero; and in every instance so many obstacles to overcome, so many conflicts to win, so much of courage and bravery required, that may flee to the rear at the first onset, and never rise to the rank and title. Others, forced into the strife they would gladly shun, by strong determination win their way to name and fame; heroes as truely as those who with natural courage and boldness, are found always in the front, ready to face every foe, and "conquer or die" in every strife.

You will find, my dear little boys and girls, as the years go by, that this will apply in the struggle of life, as well as in the contest of sports; and it is to this first class of heroes that my little friend belongs.

I have been reminded of him by the coming of the warm sunny days; watching from my window boys with long poles resting on their shoulders, and trophies of fish in their hands; hearing the echo of mallet and ball in the fascinating game of croquet; catching a glimpse of a paper kite, sailing gracefully toward the sky, and listening to the shouts and laughter rising from the throats of these lovely, happy-hearted children, in other out-door sports. And I think of my little Hero, to whom the summer has no such charms.

You would hardly believe my dear young friends, that a little boy, only ten years of age, could have lost a limb in battle. Yet it is even so. Not a big battle, however, where the booming of cannon and crash of arms were heard; but a battle with disease, which has rendered useless one of his little limbs, wasted his form, and made his little hands almost transparent in whiteness. And yet would hardly believe that a boy, who learned to walk and run, skip, jump and play, as merry as any of you, could possibly be made happy, when obliged to live year after year, and when engaged in none of these sports, which sum up the enjoyment of your daily lives. Would the reasons come and go; winter rolls around, and summer finds again the same little white-faced boy, with a little more of suffering written upon his countenance, and his little heart patient and brave through it all. And this is why I call him a hero; because he catches the sunshine which falls across his path, and finds so many ways of being happy, and even useful.

For his hands are nearly always busy; and I know you would really be astonished could you see all the dainty and useful things his nimble fingers have fashioned. Scarfs and ties for the kind papa who buys so many pictures and story books to occupy his leisure moments; sewing bag ther bits of gay-colored cloth, until they grow into one great beautiful cover for mamma's bed—the mamma who is his "all in all," comfort and rest by day and by night; knitting cunning little mittens for the little black-eyed sister who amuses him with her quaint little sayings and questions; crocheting a breakfast shawl for the loving grandmamma, who tells him "he really puts grandma to shame, by the work he accomplishes;" and even knitting large socks for the honored and revered grandpapa, who recounts to him stories of his boyhood years and years ago, adventures with Indians, and many thrilling incidents of those early times.

And the endless variety of tidies, scrap-bags, toilet cushions, and other pieces of work which are formed by his fairy-like fingers, would puzzle many older heads to do, and remain "unsolved mysteries" to every boy, unless compelled, as he has been, to make this a pleasure and pastime.

If you were to visit one of the towns on the beautiful Ohio river you would doubtless have a glimpse of his bright, blue eyes, peering out from his little carriage, which, guided by some loving hand, is almost daily seen. And on the Sabbath he is carried to the neighboring church, where his earnest face appears regularly with other little faces in the Sunday-school, and wind and water does not intimidate him as I am quite sure it does some of the healthy little ones, who endure "week-day" storms undaunted.

Here is a little anecdote concerning him, which will, perhaps, be interesting to you.

One summer's day there came strolling up to their door two vagabond Italian boys, with harps, on which, with native talent, they discoursed such sweet music as to win the heart of our little hero, and he could hardly let them go.

"Oh, mamma!" said he, as they disappeared from sight, "I do wish papa would buy me a harp."

"Papa would be glad to," said his mother, "but he could not afford it."

"Could not afford" was a reason with which our little friend knew it would be useless to parley; so he sat thoughtful for some time, and then said:

"Mamma when I get to Heaven will I have a harp?"

"Yes my child, one much more beautiful than those a lovely golden harp."

"There was a little gold on those, mamma," said he, "and I think Jesus will be pretty good if He gives a better one."

And so he is waiting in perfect trust and faith for the "beautiful harp of golden strings," and the years of his childhood are going by. Whether his mission on earth will soon be over, and he will go to that bright land, of which he loves to talk, where the "lame leap and walk," and where "there is no more pain," or whether our kind Heavenly Father has still much for him to do or suffer, it is not given us to know; but certain it is, that by his brave, heroic spirit, he is teaching daily lessons to older hearts, and weaving, unconsciously to himself, his own unfading crown.

Dear boys and girls, this is a true story. Not just the kind of a hero you expected to read about, is it? But I think you will all agree that my little friend is a hero.

I think there is a moral to this story, but as I remember I used to skip morals, I shall not tell you this one, but leave it for yourselves to guess.

Valuable Information

Brewer, Dec. 12, 1873.

Gentlemen: By the advice of my physician I am induced to address you for information. Having been badly afflicted with vital Rheumatism, and the whole system at one time being prostrated with the disease, I commenced using the "Compound," and believe I feel entirely relieved. I know that I have tried many of the quack medicines. Consequently I followed on as it recommended. I have taken several bottles, and now feel well and hearty. I am sixty years old, and my skin is entirely clear from pimples and eruptions. I have every confidence in good health before, and I feel now as if I could live to be one hundred years. I am a carpenter by trade, and have been troubled with rheumatism a good deal of the time for the last twenty years. I have taken many preparations but with no effect until I tried your preparation. After taking a few doses I found it relieved the faintness at the stomach that always accompanies Cardiac Rheumatism, and by the time I had taken the third bottle my muscles were entirely cured. Have not been troubled much since that time, which is eight months ago. I have recommended it to several of my acquaintances, and every one speaks favorably of it, and with good effect. Yours truly, P. S. SARGEANT.

Report from a Practical Chemist and Apothecary.

Boston, May 1, 1873.

DEAR SIR: This is to certify that I have sold at retail, several cases of your "Compound," since the year April 12, 1870, and can truly say it is one of the best, if not the best, selections of any remedy for the complaints for which it is recommended that I ever sold. I have had a great many testimonials in favor of the remedy, but it is unnecessary to state mention them, as I am satisfied that the sale of the article will speak for itself. Several cases of Scrofulous Tumors being cured by Vegetine in this vicinity prove, to my mind, its wonderful power. Yours truly, M. GILMAN, 269 Broadway.

To H. R. STEVENS, Esq.
