Farmer's Field Day Saturday At Greenwood

Plans are rapidly shaping up for a fast-moving, interesting Farmer's Field Day which will be held in Greenwood on Saturday, August 5, according to Virgil H. Hussey, general chairman of the event. Actual field demonstrations of the latest farm machinery will take place including hay baling, plowing, fitting, etc. Tractors of all kinds will be in use. These demonstrations will take place in the afternoon starting about 2 p. m.

Many farm machinery dealers have already accepted the invitation to display and demonstrate, and more are expected to do so before the end of the week. Farm machinery of all kinds will be on display. In addition, invitations have been extended to dealers to show freezers, milk coolers and milkers, power saws, power scythes, silos, barn cleaners, etc.

Other features of the day will include a woodchopping contest at 11 a. m. and a tractor driving contest at 1 p. m. A demonstration of wingless chickens, bred and raised by an Olean firm is something that must be seen to be appreciated. These chickens will be in Greenwood for the Farmer's Day. Negotiations are also being made for actual demonstrations of the work of a trained sheep dog with a flock of sheep.

The evening program will feature a big horse-pulling contest under the lights. In this contest $300 in prizes will be given away—$100 in each class. It is expected that teams from some distance will be entered as well as local horses.

Games and refreshments will make the day complete. Preparations are being made to handle a large crowd.

County Over Top In Bond Drive

Allegany county topped its Independence Drive quota of $160,000 in series E. Savings Bonds by $83,725, it is announced by George B. Rooth, Jr., chairman of the Allegany County U. S. Savings Bonds volunteer committee.

Final sales figures communicated to Mr. Rooth by Philip M. Light, New York State Director of the Treasury's U. S. Savings Bonds Division also show that the state as a whole exceeded its quota by more than ten per cent. Series E Bond sales in the state for the drive period were $88,135,962, an excess of $8,250,962 over the state quota of $79,885,000.

Mr. Light expressed the Treasury's thanks to Mr. Rooth and his committee "for the splendid job you have done in support of the Independence Drive" and for their continuing cooperation in behalf of the Savings Bond Program.

"By continuing to invest in Savings Bonds, residents of Allegany County are serving their own and their community's interests and are demonstrating clearly their faith in America and its free way of life," Mr. Light said.

Lawn Fete at St. John's Church in Whitesville

The newly-established Catholic church in Whitesville is preparing for its first lawn fete to be held on August 13, from 1 to 4 in the afternoon.

There will be a ham dinner at the Legion Hall to be followed by games on the church grounds.

General chairman of the fete is Louis Loughlin, assisted by Mrs. Ernest Flamini, dinner chairman; Robert Flannigan, games chairman; and Mrs. Louis Loughlin in charge of tickets.

THE GREAT RUSH

The pioneer of '49 had the covered wagon and traveled one mile per hour. The next generation had the stage coach. They traveled 10 miles per hour. Now, 100 years later, we burn up the road at more than 100 miles per hour. It seems strange that the fastest cars are on vacation trips and are in a great rush to get there, and in a still greater rush to get home, overlooking the time that is lost if recklessness causes a serious "holdup."

Catholic Children Enjoy Outing

At the close of the session of the religious vacation school at the Blessed Sacrement Church the children were taken on a trip to Lackawanna, N. Y., to visit the Bacilica at Father Bakers. After their lunch they were taken through the Bacilica and listened to a talk given by the Auxilary Bishop Burke after which together with nine hundred children attended field day on the ground at Father Bakers' where they enjoyed games races merygorounds. The Semenaries of St. Bonaventure College instructors of the class and Mrs. James Cannon, Mrs. Gilbert Barrett and Mrs. John Joyce chaperoned the children on the trip.

Amethysts were once thought to prevent drunkenness.

German Teenager at Carl Phillips' Farm

Through the National Granges' Rural Teenager program which is a part of the U. S. Government's re-education program in Germany a young German farmer is staying on the farm of Carl Phillips, R. F. D. 2, Andover. He is Hans Hermann Pundt of Oldenburg, Germany. He is 19 years old and can speak and write fairly good English, having been taught English in school in Germany.

Hans will remain in Andover for a year, attend the Greenwood school and help Mr. Phillips on the farm. He would like to join the Grange so he may get better acquainted with the farmers and learn more about the American way of life.

The young Danish farmer, Frede Larsen, who was with Carl Phillips last year at this time was here for a visit from July 9th to July 12th. He was on his way to New York City to take a Swedish ship to Denmark which sailed July 15. During his year stay in the U. S. A. he worked in greenhouses in Washington state, California and Colorado. He was also brought over here under the "Young Farmer" program sponsored by the National Grange.

HEALTH FOR ALL

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by the Allegany Health & Tuberculosis Association, 44 Schuyler St., Belmont, N. Y.

Protect Children Against TB

Tuberculosis, which kills more Americans between the ages of 15 and 34 than any other disease, is considered a disease of adults. Few of us connect it with childhood or with children's deaths.

Yet 1,636 children under 15 years of age died from tuberculosis in 1948—699 of them from the pulmonary form of the disease. Of that total, 1,138 were preschool children under five years of age.

The picture becomes more serious when we realize that annual deaths from tuberculosis among children are not declining as rapidly as among adults. Whereas the number of deaths from tuberculosis among persons of all ages declined nine percent between 1947 and 1948, deaths among children under 15 declined only four percent.

The best way to cut down on these annual deaths from tuberculosis among children is obviously to step up our efforts to protect them from the disease.

No baby is born with tuberculosis. The disease is a communicable one, spread from person to person, and the child who contracts it gets it from his parents, his relatives, or someone else with whom he comes in contact.

On the surface, it might seem that the best way to protect children against tuberculosis is to keep them away from anyone who has the disease. But this is no simple matter. It is not always possible to tell who has tuberculosis because early tuberculosis has no obvious symptoms and many people have the disease without knowing they are ill.

And tuberculosis can be easily spread in all its stages—even in the earliest stage. So it is possible for a mother, a father, or a teacher to have tuberculosis without realizing it and to be innocently spreading tuberculosis among the children with whom they come in contact.

The search for these "unknown cases" must be made, therefore, among apparently healthy people. The best way to detect tuberculosis is by a chest X-ray which can show up damage to the lungs even in the early stages of the disease. If a chest X-ray shows suspicion of disease, other tests are made to determine whether or not the person has active tuberculosis.

Chest X-rays are doubly important for those who have close contact with children—parents, teachers, nurses, and "baby-sitters." It is a dreadful thought for any adult that he might be giving tuberculosis germs to young children. To play safe, every adult should have periodic chest X-rays, along with their physical examinations, to keep a check on the health of their lungs.
