VETERANS' News Letter

Raymond F. Shear, director of the Allegany County Veterans' Service Agency, announces that the Veterans Administration has ruled that veterans who have started G. I. Bill studies and interrupt them to go back into active military or naval service will not be bound by the July 25, 1951 cut-off date for returning to training.

Shear pointed out that instead, they will be allowed to resume their training within a "reasonable period" following their release from active service, even though they got out after the deadline date.

Under the ruling, a veteran will have to meet these three requirements:

1. The conduct and progress in his G. I. Bill course must have been satisfactory.
2. The amount of training he may obtain after he gets out of uniform will be limited by his remaining G. I. Bill entitlement.
3. His course may not extend beyond the wind-up of the G. I. Bill program on July 25, 1956.

Mr. Shear further stated that under the law, the July 25, 1951 cut-off date applies to World War II veterans discharged before July 25, 1947. For those few discharged afterwards, the cut-off date is four years from date of discharge.

Further information or assistance on this or any other veteran's benefit may be had by calling at the headquarters of Richard J. Dzimian, State Veteran Counselor, located at the Court House, Belmont, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

High Quality Aim of State Potato Growers

Potato growers will be emphasizing better practices this fall that will help in the harvesting and marketing of a high quality product.

Some fo the practices have been outlined by Prof. E. V. Hardenburg, Cornell extension specialist in vegetable crops. First comes harvesting of a mature crop, which means a number of things: better cooking quality, less bruising and skinning, better storage quality, and maximum yield.

Proper timing of the harvest is also important, he says. Apply chemical vine killers a few days ahead of the rotobeater and wait a few days for tuber skins to set. This should lessen stem end discoloration. Another point, to lessen damage, is to harvest earlier if tubers are infested with wireworms, grubs, scab or scab gnats. Do not harvest an immature crop to protect against late blight rot if this is present. Wait until the plants are dead or the fungus is inactive.

Growers are also planning to give special attention to digging and handling operations to avoid bruising and skinning the potatoes. They'll carry enough soil on the digger chain to cushion the tubers, for example, and pick up potatoes in baskets instead of crates, and handle bags carefully when loading and unloading.

They'll be careful, too, to avoid sunscald of tubers by not harvesting when the temperature is above 80 degrees and the wind is blowing. Similarly, immature potatoes will not be exposed to bright sunshine for more than 30 minutes.

HAPPENINGS of Local Interest

A reception to welcome the new teachers to the faculty of Andover Central School was held at the school Tuesday evening. This has been an annual event of the Andover school.

Mrs. Anna L. Benjamin of Wellsville has undergone an eye operation at Strong Memorial hospital, Rochester. She is now convalescing from a successful operation at her home in Wellsville.

The Allegany County Potato Commodity committee is having a potato field day on the afternoon of September 13. The event will start at 1:15 p. m., on the Cecil Hurd farm, Hurd Hollow road, just east of Wellsville off Route 17. The committee is sending a special invitation to all civic groups with the aim of establishing better producer-consumer relations. The general public is also invited to attend.

New cases of poliomyelitis reported for the week ending August 26, totaled 137, the New York State Department of Health announces. In comparison, the total of new cases reported for the week ending August 27, 1949 was 293 cases. Cases of polio reported in the upstate area since January 1, total 695 cases. In 1949, a total of 960 cases of polio had been reported up to August 27, 1949.

Charles Chipman, Bolivar oil producer, was reelected president of the New York Oil Producers Association at the annual meeting and clam bake held at Wellsville August 24. J. P. Herrick, one of the founders of the association, was named honorary president.

Fred E. Miller of Cuba, R. D. 1 was seriously injured August 27 when the car he was driving left the road near Scio. He was taken to the Olean General hospital, later being removed to the Buffalo General hospital.

Mrs. Cecile A. Beeman has been appointed dean of women at Alfred University. Mrs. Beeman comes to Alfred from Beverly, Mass. Two other appointments to the Alfred faculty are Kevin Bunnell of Medina as instructor in English and Frederick C. Englemann as instructor in political science. For the past two years Mr. Englemann has been assistant instructor at Yale University.

Whitesville Library Association has been given temporary rent-free use of two rooms over the Leach garage by Ronald Leach of that village. Membership in the association at the close of the 1947 membership drive was about 185 persons.

Wellsville Baseball Booster Club is near the $4,000 mark toward the $8,000 needed to insure organized baseball staying in Wellsville, it is announced. The sale of booster tickets will continue through this week.

Cars Crash on Greenwood Road

Cars driven by Mrs. Lawrence R. Klein of Ann Arbor, Mich., and Mrs. Winifred Donaldson of Andover came together Wednesday afternoon at the Lane school house intersection.

The Kline car in which Mr. and Mrs. Klein were riding, was traveling west on Route 17 and the Donaldson car, with Mrs. Winifred and Mrs. Anna Donaldson passengers, was turning off Route 17 toward their home.

Both cars were considerably damaged and Mrs. Klein suffered lacerations of the lower lip, which were treated by Dr. Scott of Andover.

Charles Covill Named Civil Defense Director For Allegany County

The appointment of Charles E. Covill, Wellsville oil produrer and retired jeweler, as director of Civil Defense in Allegany County was approved at Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Supervisors.

The appointment was made by Chairman Ferd Shear of Willing after the August meeting of the Board, but was not made public until approved at Tuesday's meeting. After conferring with Chairman Shear, Mr. Covill had attended a recent meeting of county defense heads in Albany. The Board voted to reimburse him for expenses of the trip since the position carries no salary.

One Peer

The judge eyed the quaking defendant.

"Do you wish to challenge any of the jury?" he asked.

The defendant shifted uneasily. "Well," he finally ventured. "I think maybe I could lick that little guy on the end."

Increases In Social Security Explained

Seven thousand and six men, women and children in Chautauqua, Cattaraugus and Allegany counties who are already entitled to receive monthly Social Security old-age or survivors insurance checks will get automatic increases in the amount of their checks within the next three months, Chester R. Norman, manager of the Jamestown Social Security field office said today. The increases, effective with checks covering the month of September, are provided in the recently amended Social Security Act.

Mr. Norman suggested that those already on the Social Security beneficiary rolls refrain from contacting their local Social Security office in this particular instance. He explained that the task of re-writing some three million monthly benefit checks is handled by certifying offices throughout the nation, and that the local field office has no means of advising beneficiaries of the exact amount of their new benefits or of the specific date the increased amounts will be reflected in their checks.

In addition, current recipients of monthly Social Security payments will receive letters from the certifying offices explaining the provisions of the revised Social Security law and assuring beneficiaries that their increased checks will be in the mail as rapidly as it is possible to complete the re-figuring job. The complete re-writing task is expected to be finished within three months.

However, Mr. Norman pointed out, there will be no delay in receipt of monthly Social Security checks in the original figure. These payments will continue to be mailed to current beneficiaries on regular schedule. Those who do not receive the increased amount in their first monthly check will find it added to benefit payments they receive in immediately succeeding months. The increased amount will be retroactive in each instance to September 1950.

Payments under the amended law will range from a minimum of $20.00 for a retired insured worker to $150.00 for family benefits. Mr. Norman requests beneficiaries in this locality to wait until the receipt of their September checks to find out the exact amount of the individual increased benefit payment. The following will assist persons now receiving benefits to figure the approximate amount of their increase. For example, beginning with September 1950 a wage earner who has been receiving $10.00 a month will receive $20. If his benefit has been $20 he will receive $37, if he has been receiving $30 the new rate will be $54 and if he received $40 he will receive $64. Those persons now receiving the maximum payment of $45.60 will receive $68.50.

Payments to wives, widows, children and parents will be increased proportionately according to the increased amount of the wage earner's benefit. The wife and child of a living wage earner entitled to benefits will receive one-half of the worker's benefit, and the widow, child and parent will receive three-fourths of the deceased worker's benefit.
