"The Child with the
SAVINGS ACCOUNT
Becomes the Thrifty Man"

A savings account is an ideal birthday gift for boy or girl. It fosters a sense of independence. It provides an incentive for thrift. It enables the child to save for the things he wants—and thus learn, through a small measure of temporary sacrifice, the relative value of possessions and of goals.

Rev. MacDougald Writes About Book on Grouse

The Andover Free Library has recently received a fine book that should be of great interest to bird and nature lovers and hunters. It is an attractively printed and bound book of 880 pages, published by the New York State Conservation Department, bearing the title, "The Ruffed Grouse, Life History, Propagation, Management."

Four authors, Gardiner Bump, Robert W. Darrow, Frank C. Edminster and Walter F. Crissey contributed their knowledge of, enhanced by their observations and experiences with, this wonderful bird. The book is profusely illustrated with fine photographic pictures showing the bird in all phases of its life.

The writer, as a young fellow heard upon many occasions, the grouse drumming but that was years ago. We had wondered if the bird had given up drumming or if, not having heard one in years, the specie was becoming too depleted. The book shows a number of pictures of the bird in the act of drumming.

This author had a unique, if not rare, experience this past summer. It was at the close of the trout fishing season in Pennsylvania. Driving along a woods road in Potter County we had to slow down the car for a nearly full grown male grouse. The bird was avoided but apparently it flew up and lodged somewhere on the car as a "thump" was heard. Proceeding probably two hundred feet we stopped beside the road. The bird was nowhere to be seen. While sitting upon an old plank drag, engaged in selecting a fly, a motion was seen beside the drag. Turning, we saw the grouse just as it hopped upon the drag not four feet away. Slowly and carefully it approached. Three times I held out my hand toward it, and each time, as my hand came too close, it ruffed its feathers and sprang a short distance into the air. All this time it was making a quiet clucking sort of noise in its throat.

Having finished stringing my rod I got up from the drag and started down the road. To my amazement the bird hopped off the drag and followed. For fully one hundred yards the bird followed, some of the time at my side but for the most part behind. Finally it left the road and disappeared in the bushes. If any one else has had a like experience with the grouse it would be interesting to hear about it.

The book above referred to was sent and presented to the library by Perry B. Duryea, Commissioner, with the compliments of the Conservation Department, with the explanation; "we feel it it our responsibility to make this work available to as many interested persons in this state as we can."

Good Bass at Andover Ponds

Charles Gleason brought to the News office one morning last week a bass which he had just caught at the Andover ponds that weighed three pounds and eight ounces. This is the second large bass to be taken from the Andover ponds this year, the other weighing three pounds and six ounces.

Local sportsmen have caught a goodly number of legal bass at the ponds this year and many small ones, which goes to show that the ponds if properly cared for can produce some good fishing.

Farmers Get 37 cent Price Boost

Leon A. Chapin, president of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association announced in Elmira recently that the price received by dairy farmers for milk sold in New Yory City will advance 37 cents per hundredweight as of October 1st.

The new price rise will bring the October Class 1-A (fluid) price of milk to $5.76 a hundred making a total of $1.62 a hundred that the price has increased since June 1.

"This higher price to farmers," said Chapin, "is warranted by the general rise in costs and the necessity of a price that will maintain production."

Fewer cows on farms in the New York Milk Shed this year has caused an average milk production drop of 15 pounds per day per dairy below last year, according to the league president. He explained that because of low milk prices and comparatively high beef prices farmers were selling dairy cattle for slaughter at the rate of 4,000 head a week last June and July.

Library News

"Deepwood" by Blanche Perrin is a light-hearted new novel. After Mrs. Janie Oliver and some of her friends visit Williamsburg they are inspired to restore a beautiful old Virginia mansion, which has fallen into a state of decay. They use their charms, wiles, energy and even blackmail to raise funds for their project. All this makes delightful reading.

"The Wall Between," by Elsie Barber, has been a very popular book. Her new novel, "Hunt for Heaven," is the story of Pastor John Bliss who became dismayed at the rioting and bloodshed in the streets of Chicago in the 1880's and set out to build the Kingdom of God in an old farm house in the green hills of Pennsylvania. His lovely daughter, Rebecca, was an unfailing support to her father. Handsome Dan Braden came to the colony to spy and destroy but learned to love the beautiful Rebecca.

"White Witch Doctor," by Louise Stinetorf. This novel, amusing and hair-raising, is based on the experiences of a spinster from a small American town who lived as a medical missionary in the Congo, armed only with a sense of humor and a love of humanity that paid no attention to the color of skin. You will like this warm, heart-filling chronicle.

Sprague Wins in Wellsville Stock Car Races Sunday

Twenty-five hundred fans and contestants watched Walt Sprague of Scio roll his Dodge stock car to four victories, including the two twenty-lap main events, at the Wellsville Raceway Sunday.

In winning the second feature race, Sprague set a new track record for a twenty-lap race when he roared across the finish line 11 minutes and 58 seconds after he started. This was 10 seconds better time than Murray Richmond of Wellsville recently made with the same car.

Because of the phenomenal performance of Sprague's car, the other drivers requested that it be torn down after the race to determine if the car had racing parts, in place of the standard stock parts required by stock car racing regulations.

The complete engine and transmission were disassembled in the presence of the contest board, a group of drivers elected by their fellow performers. It was determined that Sprague's car met all stock car racing regulations after examination of the gears, cam shaft, and crank shaft.

Sheldon Taylor, president of Corning's Atlantic Stock Car Racing Association, announced plans for the Atlantic championship feature to be held next Sunday. Approximately 50 drivers are expected to attempt qualification for this 40-lap (20 mile) title. A champion's cup will be presented to the winner.

Unpaid School Taxes Go To County Treasurer December 1

The attention of all property owners in Allegany county has been called to the fact that unpaid school taxes will be turned over to the county treasurer's office on December 1. All districts are compelled to follow this procedure.

In an effort to smooth out the operation, County Treasurer Frank Gere has asked that all districts set November 25 as the last day for collection of taxes by school collectors.

This will give time to make out the return sheets and balance the tax roll. It will provide a uniform date and prevent confusion for taxpayers who own property in more than one district.

When the unpaid items are returned to the county treasurer, they will be relevied with a seven per cent penalty and attached to the state, county and town tax roll which will be delivered to supervisors on January 1, 1951.

No school taxes will be accepted at the county treasurer's office. Mr. Gere pointed out that this rule is necessary as "We cannot make the extensions and collect taxes at the same time and still have the tax rolls ready for the town supervisors to deliver to the town tax collectors by January 1."

Thus, if school taxes are not paid by November 25, the bill will be turned over to the county treasurer and a penalty of seven per cent will be added. After January 1 the relevied school taxes will be paid to the town tax collector.
