Wellsville Has $12,000 Fire Sunday Night

Fire of undetermined origin did an estimated $12,000 damage to Ralph P. Hamilton's cement block garage building and the V.F.W. rooms in the upper story. The fire apparently started in the V.F.W. club and spread rapidly to the ceiling and plaster board partitions.

Cars in the garage below were removed and tools and parts covered with salvage covers. The damage is estimated as $7,000 to the building and $5,000 to the contents.

West Greenwood Grange

Flora Lounsberry, Lecturer

Oh!! What's that? It's a ghost rattling his chains of an invitation to a Hallowe'en party at the West Greenwood Grange Hall Friday evening, Oct. 27. Bring your family—bring your friends. Come dressed to scare the "Old Witch" herself. If you don't you'll wish you had. Old Mother Hubbard will take you to her cupboard. Cider and doughnuts (you bring the doughnuts) will be there. The Old Tramp's Hat (donation please) will be in his hand and he will go round till his feet are nearly bare.

Each family please bring doughnuts. Come and enjoy the fun. Music, cards, games.

At the Grange meeting, Oct. 20, plans were started for an oyster supper sometime around Thanksgiving. Watch the paper for the date.

Potter—Scoville

Miss Hazel Verna Scoville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Shear of Wellsville and John Richard Potter, son of the late Dr. John G. Potter and Mrs. Evelyn Potter of Andover were united in marriage by the Rev. George W. Keeling in the Methodist church at Wellsville at 1:30 Saturday afternoon, October 21.

The bride selected a white slipper satin gown made with lace apron and chapel length train. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown decorated with seed pearls. She carried a Colonial bouquet of roses.

Mrs. Lucille Ennis, matron of honor, wore a pink gown made with lace bodice, capped sleeves and net skirt. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

John P. Richardson of Andover was best man. Donald Baker and Earl Richardson, both of Andover were ushers.

Mrs. Hazel Shear, aunt of the bride, played traditional wedding music at the piano.

Mrs. Shear, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue dress with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Potter, mother of the groom, wore a plum colored dress with black accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Guests were present from Scio, Andover, Genesee, Pa., Rochester, Buffalo and Friendship.

Following the ceremony a reception for about 100 guests was held at the Gold Room. Greens wreathed the three-tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom which was flanked by candles. Mrs. Lavena Voorhees, Mrs. Betty Kennedy and Miss Patricia Neary were assisting hostesses.

Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls for which Mrs. Potter chose a long-sleeved gray wool dress with dark green accessories, and a corsage of Fall flowers, Mr. and Mrs. Potter will reside at 106 Madison street in Wellsville.

Prenuptial events were a tea including the women employed by the New York Telephone Company, given by Miss Julia Walker and Miss Evelyn Krusen and a personal shower given by Mrs. Lucille Ennis. Mr. Potter was entertained at a stag party by the New York Telephone Company and a stag party by the Andover Amercian Legion.

Library News

New Books You Will Like

"Kon-Tike", by Heyerdahl. This is the account of six young men, risking their lives daily for months, drifting across the Pacific on a primitive raft. They do this not in bravado, but in order to prove a scientific theory.

"Elephant Bill," by Lt. Col. J. H. Williams. An affectionate story of the remarkable elephants who work in the Burma teak forests, written by the man who spent 25 years directing elephants in peace and war.

"A Book About American History," by George Stimpson. Colorful stories and little known facts about America's past. Why did New York State offer a reward of 100 pounds for Ethan Allen, dead or alive? What Civil War general apologized for fighting on Sunday? Who was Sergeant Jasper? Why did Russia sell Alaska to the U. S.? — These are typical of the hundreds of interesting questions answered in this book.

October Milk Price Is Estimated At $4.58

New York, Oct. 25—Dairy farmers will be paid a uniform price of $4.58 per hundredweight for their October deliveries to pool-approved plants in the six-state New York milkshed, according to a forecast released today by Dr. C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area.

He estimated at the same time that the producer butterfat differential for October would be 5.6 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

Dr. Blanford said the forecast is based on a production estimate of 510 million pounds for the month. This would mean an average daily output of 323 pounds by each of the estimated 50,900 producers in the milkshed.
