Better Health For Children

A Community Service issued by Children's Hospital of Buffalo, N. Y.

One of the big hurdles young mothers face comes when their child is no longer content to be confined in his carriage or playpen. Pediatricians at Children's Hospital recommend that when this time comes mothers lay the foundation for self reliance by allowing the child freedom. Their natural fear for his safety can lead to an over-protective attitude which causes more adjustment problems than anything else.

Only by personally investigating the many "mysteries" around him—waste baskets, doors, furniture—can a child develop a sense of reality. Many people think that by keeping a child in his playpen and carriage as long as possible he will develop independence by playing alone. Actually it is the opposite. Such confinement makes him timid and dependent. Given freedom, he develops self-reliance, resourcefulness and sociability.

As soon as a child can walk he should have shoes and be allowed to walk during his daily outing. Let him explore the things he sees, the sense of touch is important. Until he touches things he can't know much about them. A little dirt, even if it gets in his mouth, won't hurt him. When it's necessary to remove something harmful or unsanitary from his mouth, a calm, even playful, attitude should be assumed to avoid making the child rebel and delay its removal. In exploring things, children are bound to get a bump or two until they can gauge distance. This should not cause alarm or too much pity. Let the child know you're sorry, but don't exaggerate the importance of the incident.

It's a good idea to take your baby where he can watch other children, even if he's too young to play with them. Also taking him to the grocery store or on other errands where he will come in contact with strangers is advisable because it helps him overcome suspicion of new acquaintances and encourages sociability. Grown-ups are awesome to small children. They sometimes stare for a long time at an adult before getting enough courage to make a friendly gesture. None of us likes to be handled by strangers, we instinctively retreat. Children react the same way. If adults would refrain from making advances to children, they would make friends more quickly.

Bath Poultry Auction Proves Successful

The farmers first poultry auction which was held at Bath Tuesday, October 24th was termed a great success by Charles Wightman of Almond, chairman of the Allegany county Farm Bureau poultry committee.

He stated that over 500 crates or 6,000 birds were brought in to the first auction. A good representation of buyers were present and the chairman said he felt that buyers were well pleased with the operation of the auction, which was handled in cooperation with the Empire Livestock Marketing Cooperative.

Mr. Wightman also stated that a poultry convention, the first in Allegany county, will be held at Belfast Central School December 6th.

Several layers of thin clothing are warmer than one layer of heavy clothing. Air held between the layers does not allow the body heat to escape.

(Political Advertisement) (Political Advertisement)

Attention!

Republican and Democrat Voters

WANTED: 500 MEN & WOMEN Must be 21 or over (no old age limit), able to judge a man of Ability, Integrity, Thriftiness and of Forcefulness, to work for ROBER L. FLEISCHER and vote for him for District Attorney of Allegany County.

LOOK FOR HIS NAME ON THE BALLOT!

Go to the polls and VOTE as your judgment dictates! In Joe Stalin's country men and women do not have this precious right! Our forefathers gave their lives for the right to vote; our boys of yesterday fought to preserve it; today our boys, and girls too, are fighting with blood and sacrifice to protect this right for us. Therefore, it is our duty to vote! Compare the qualifications of your candidates then vote for irrespective of your party affiliation.

ROBERT L. FLEISCHER for District Attorney,

VETERANS NON-PARTISAN COMMITTEE OF ALLEGANY COUNTY
For the Election of ROBERT L. FLEISCHER for DISTRICT ATTORNEY

SAD NEWS that I mentioned in this column last week was almost prophetic: we could not have known how saddened would be Grange folks and farmers of the whole nation, by the sudden death of Albert S. Goss, our National Master.

Just a year ago, almost to the day, we devoted this entire space to an interview we had just had with Mr. Goss. It was not the first time we had had the privilege, nor was it our last, to discuss agricultural problems with this kindly, understanding man.

Grange leaders, by the very nature of the cause they embrace, are men of the people. To them we tell our problems, give them our suggestions and support, and expect that they will not fail to carry the grass-roots story into the high places, wherever it needs to be told.

Born at Rochester, N. Y., just 68 years ago, Albert Goss went West, and didn't stop until he reached the Northwest coast. It was from here that his voice resounded across the country and into the agricultural councils of other lands. As a young man he was a farmer and a dairyman. He pursued other tasks related to the rural life of a newly stirring West. (We always wanted to ask him about the time he ran a country store.) Cooperation, in farm finances, in marketing, in meeting the problem of farm surpluses; cooperation, the very essence of the Grange, was the word which dominated his life.

Shortly after he was first elected Natioonal Master in 1941, he gave us the Three Grange Guideposts. We predict they will stand in living letters through many ages more. They are simple, fortright and a beacon for our nation to follow: (1) All prosperity springs from the production of wealth. (2) The compensation of each should be based on what he contributes to the general welfare. (3) The prime purpose of government is to protect its citizens from aggression—both physical and economical.

We wish he could have lived, of course, but mostly we wish he could have lived to see his Grange Farm Plan come to fruition. At least he planted the seeds. It is not always given to mortal man to gather in the harvest.

The American people — not just the farmers — have lost a great friend.

She Shouldn't Beat That

"You say your wife is bound to have the last word?"
"I never knew an occasion except one when she didn't."
"What beat her then?"
"An echo."

Now it's FLATLUX
WALLS & CEILINGS
Made with OIL
One Coat Covers
WALLPAPER
ECONOMICAL
Only $3.59 per gal.
WHITE'S
Wallpaper & Paint
22 N. Main St. - Wellsville

NOTICE

To Allegany County Voters:

Please be advised that it is not the policy or practice of the American Legion to officially endorse any candidate for public office.

It has not endorsed any candidate for office in Allegany County this year.

Any Legionnaire is perfectly free to use his own judgment as to the candidates for whom he may wish to vote.

ROBERT H. MILLER, Commander
Allegany County American Legion

RAG RUGS, 24 by 45 ..... 89c
Hand-made Drawn Work PILLOW CASES, pair in box $2.98
Brush and Comb SET in box $1.29
BLEACHED MUSLIN, extra fine quality . 49c

Men's Wool Socks - Flannel Shirts
Wool Hunting Caps - Leather Caps

All orders must be in by 10:30 a. m. for 11 a. m. Delivery, and by 3:30 p. m. for 4 p. m. delivery

THE H. H. WILLIAMS CO.
Open Evenings Until 8:30 P. M.

(Political Advertisement) (Political Advertisement)

VOTERS of Allegany County

The issue in next Tuesdays' election is:

Shall we continue the business-like government of Thomas E. Dewey, or shall we permit the New York City-Flynn-Tammany Hall machine to run our state Government?

This is the only issue in this election.

VOTE REPUBLICAN
Vote Row "A" for

Thomas E. Dewey, Governor
Frank C. Moore, Lieutenant Governor
J. Raymond McGovern, Comptroller
Nathaniel L. Goldstein, Attorney General
Joe R. Hanley, United States Senator
Raymond C. Vaughan, Justice of the Supreme Court
Daniel A. Reed, Representative in Congress
Austin W. Erwin, State Senator
William H. MacKenzie, Member of Assembly
E. Allen Mapes, District Attorney
Frank L. Gere, County Treasurer
F. Vanama Jones, Sheriff.

ALLEGANY COUNTY REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE

Notice to Corps M...

As a resu... fense Mar... new policies ... ista, several ... been delayed ... duty. Capt. ... local ORC in... the announcement ... that some local reservists ... failed to report for duty ... had received telegrams ... the week-end informing them ... to comply with orders until additional information was received.

Captain Gates said that the delay was selective. Because some skills are in urgent demand. Therefore reservists who do not receive amending orders from New York military district must ... during the next ... of whom have already received notices not to report. Also affected are 95 reservists who have taken physical examinations but have not yet been called to duty. Only the most urgently needed of this group will be called immediately. The balance will have four to six months notice prior to reporting.

Wearing apparel is the largest manufacturing industry in New York State, producing an estimated $6,000,000,000 worth of clothing a year.

... down at a ... "I want two ... very hard, two slices of toast burnt black and a cup of weak, lukewarm coffee," he told the waitress.

"Are you sure that's just what you want?" she asked, amazed.

"To the letter."

The waitress explained to the chef and managed to get the man exactly what he had asked for.

"Anything else, sir?" she asked as she put the order on the table.

"Yes, now sit down and nag me. I'm homesick!"

New York State has 64,000 miles miles of highways.

(Politiical Advertisement) (Political Advertisement) (Political Advertisement)

DON'T SWAP

HONEST GOVERNMENT for CONFUSION and CORRUPTION!

For Governor THOMAS E. DEWEY

Your Republican Candidates are Men of Proven Honesty and Experience.

For U. S. Senator JOE R. HANLEY

For Lieutenant Governor FRANK C. MOORE

For Comptroller J. RAYMOND McGOVERN

For Attorney General NATHANIEL L. GOLDSTEIN

This is the year of decision! You have to make the choice. New York State can go forward with honest, forthright government with Governor Dewey and the Republican Party.

... Or New York State's government can be turned over to the spoilsmen of Tammany Hall and the creeping socialism of the Democrat Party.

THE ISSUE IS CLEAR...

SO IS THE REPUBLICAN RECORD:

...AGRICULTURE: Broadened farm and marketing facilities. $146,000,000 ten-year town highway improvement program enacted over solid Democrat opposition in the Legislature.

...CONSERVATION: Greater reforestation. Improved soil and water conservation practices. Appropriated $82½ million to restore wildlife on 30,000 acres of state game lands. Expanded State Park system.

...CONSTRUCTION: Greatest construction program ever undertaken, including reconstruction and improvement of 90 per cent of the state highway system. 6,050 miles of highway completed or contracted for since V-J Day. State institutional building program expanded.

...EDUCATION: More than doubled ($252 million) state aid to public schools. Established State University. Individual teacher's salaries increased by $300 to $800. Increased number and value of State Scholarships.

...HEALTH: Established a superb public health program that guarantees to every man, woman and child in New York State the best medical and hospital care in the world.

...VETERANS: Created the Division of Veterans Affairs. Emergency housing in 40 communities and at 53 colleges. Created 4,800 War Service scholarships.

...FINANCES: The state has lived within its means, reduced tax rates, reduced the state debt, accumulated tax reserves, appropriated over $800 million for capital purposes, yet tax rates are lower than under the Democrats.

YES, THE REPUBLICAN RECORD SPEAKS FOR ITSELF! Will You Swap It For Democrat Confusion and "Flynn-Tammany" Corruption?

Don't be deceived by the false and vicious Democrat "Smear" Campaign against Gov. Dewey and Lt. Gov. Hanley, whose decency and honesty you know are time-tested and proven.

Polls Open 6 A.M. to 7 P.M.

ALL THE WAY — VOTE REPUBLICAN

REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE

"Pound Wise" Kitchen Ware

Is new kitchen ware on your shopping list? If so, here's a word of advice from the U. S. Department of Agriculture: For long-time economy, buy quality in pots and pans that you use day in and day out. Squeeze the pennies when you buy seldom-used equipment. For practically indestructible utensils — although expense—look for stainless steel. Tinware will serve well enough for pie or cake plates or other oven dishes, but is not suitable for top-of-the-stove use.

Other pointers: Brightly polished aluminum reflects heat and so browns food lightly. Dull finished aluminum absorbs heat and gives a browner crust. Enamelware of good quality has greater resistance to chipping than the cheaper brands and the surface is not easily marked by food acids or metal spoons. Glass has the obvious advantage of transparency which means that you can see what's cookin' without removing the cover.

Potato Dishes

The tang of autumn is in the air. Father comes home with a healthy appetite. The youngsters burst in from school rosy-cheeked. What's for dinner? With meat prices as they are, a casserole dish is a good bet—tasty and filling. Potatoes—plentiful and fine in quality, according to Cornell food and marketing specialists—serve well as casserole "filler." Steaming scalloped potatoes with bits of ham or sausage baked in the same dish are excellent. You'll find scalloped sweet potatoes and apple a fine complement to pork sausage. Potatoes au gratin—the cheese gives you extra protein—with fried bologna are tasty too. And then there are always the old-time favorites such as baked hash with poached egg or creamed codfish on fluffy baked potato.

Care of Venetian Blinds

There are do's and don'ts for almost every household task, and the care of venetian blinds is no exception. Home economists of the New York State College of Home Economics, Cornell University, say new or cleaned blinds can be protected with liquid or paste wax. Dust the slats with the vacuum cleaner attachment or with a three-fingered bristle brush or lamb's wool brush. Or ... Keep your gloved fingers along the slats at a time. And when you clean the tapes, vacuum them with the cleaner attachment and sponge with carbon tetrachloride or soap jelly whipped to a stiff foam. Don't soak venetian blinds in a tub of water because the cotton tapes are apt to shrink and the paint on the slats may loosen.

When You Can Meats and Poultry

Have you "bottled" your meat and poultry yet, as our British cousins say? Or do you still have some canning days ahead? If so, remember that the safest way to can meats and fowl is by pressure cooker. Of course, for safety, the pressure cooker must be in good working order. Your gauge should measure pounds of pressure accurately. The lid should fit tightly to hold the steam in, and the openings to the gauge, safety valve, and petcock should be clean and clear. If there's any doubt about the accuracy of the gauge have it checked at your County Extension Service office. If the canner leaks steam, rub the lid with oil at the time of canning just before you put the lid on. If any of the openings are clogged and a toothpick or pipe cleaner does not quite get them clean, remove the petcock and safety valve and soak them in vinegar. Wipe dry before you replace them.

Eggs for Supper

Eggs baked in pepper rings—Yes, that's a recent suggestion of the U. S. Department of Agriculture to homemakers who count heavily on eggs in menu planning. It's a tasty dish and simple to prepare. Just cook the pepper rings in lightly salted water for about five minutes. Then drain them and place them in a greased shallow baking dish. Break an egg into each ring, sprinkle with salt and pepper, pour over each egg a tablespoon of milk, cover with buttered crumbs and bake for 20 to 25 minutes in a moderate oven. — Chances are this dish will soon become a family favorite.

Speak Kindly

Speak kindly of the candidate,
He'll do his best to win
And labor to promote the State
And all his friends and kin.
In sands of time let him make tracks
Which notice must deserve
And if ability he lacks,
At least admire his nerve.

During 1949 New York State's 59,400 manufacturing firms purchased over $11,500,000,000 in supplies, materials and equipment.

Christmas GIFTS

That Last Throughout the Year!

When making out your Christmas list don't forget that a year's subscription to his or her favorite Magazine will be a gift appreciated all through the year.

Subscriptions taken for any Magazine or Periodical at the

Andover News