OUR STUDENT COUNCIL

By Eunice Hall

Has our student council been put aside this year for safe keeping?

It has let other groups and clubs in the school out ride it so naturally no interest is taken on the behalf of the student body. The Student Council is supposed to be the main functioning body of the school.

I think this group could be made or fully organized to satisfy students. By presenting their questions and problems to the student council to be explained and discussed, it could create a better morale in the school. The council could establish a monitor system in the school by placing high students to help with the loading of the buses and to watch the students and their behavior while boarding the buses. I also think a student monitor system could be established inside the school. In the halls and rooms in the school student police could watch for trouble bugs.

"HARVEY"

by Mimsi Briggs

Friday night Harvey went to the freshman skating party and this is what he reported:

Friday night turned out to be a rainy, dismal and a cold night but nevertheless the freshman skating party was a big success. The bus was so crowded and I mean crowded, that for a moment I thought the whole school was invited.

As the freshmen got on the bus each of the chaperones, Miss Evans and Miss Winkelman, checked the name of each pupil on the lists that they had received from Mrs. McFadden. I was near the end so when I finally got on the bus I had to plow down the aisle to find a seat. A little after 7:30 p. m., the bus started and we were on our way. During the trip to the skating rink just about all the popular songs were sung. All the way there Clarice Nye kept shouting at Anna Marie Joyce to stop sitting on her skirt because it wrinkled very easily. Of course Anna Marie's pleated skirt was wrinkle proof, or so Clarice must have thought.

Five minutes before the bus stopped, all the skaters stood up, so afraid they would be the last out. The instant the bus stopped everyone began piling out. I was one of the first out but everyone crowded ahead of me so I was near the end of the line. We had to wait in line a half hour before we were let in. By that time our feet were half frozen.

Just about everyone who went skated. "Rich" Davis and "Lee" Monahan skated together, to hold each other up. "Teddy" Smith had a little trouble with his skates since they came off twice. "Mike" Smith fell down a few times but he didn't seem to mind for he went right on skating. In the Kentucky "Jerry" Green made out pretty well except when he went around the first corner on two wheels he fell down. The evening went on until finally the moonlight skate was announced. Mary Jane Sackett skated it with "Dicky" Burger, Ann Wood with "Dave" Smith and Carol Nye with Clarence Kibbe. Patricia Reisman was happy when Mrs. McFadden arrived to verify her permit to ride home with her brothers. "Bill" McNeil tried unsuccessfully not to have to ride home on the bus.

At 11 o'clock everyone made a dash for his coat and then we were on our way back to Andover. "Abe" Davis and Gay Rogers kept company in the back seat and Denny Joyce had fun watching them. "Jerry" Green kept Anna Marie Joyce company near the front of the bus. Ann Wood had fun with "Mike" Smith.

After singing more songs the tired skaters arrived in Andover at 11:30 p. m., with many sweet memories of the fun at the rink.

Over the Thanksgiving holidays Harvey gathered more news as follows:

Marie Kemp spent the holidays in Belfast. Mary Jane Sackett spent Thanksgiving Day with her Grandmother and Grandfather Sackett in Watkins Glen.

Friday night the seniors had their social hour. It looked as though the whole junior high and high school came. Ruth Davis had quite a whirl with Roy Button. Mildred Miles and Alfred Davis were seen together most of the evening. Lucille Smith proved herself a good ping-pong player since she won games with "Teddy" Smith, "Rich" Davis and "Charlie" Davis. Carol Nye and Ann Wood dance well together and so do Anna Marie Joyce and Mary Brown. Mr. Conde did a good job in rounding up square dance sets.

Louis Clair took Betty Ann Kemp to the movies Sunday night.

The freshman class should donate money to Catherine Kemp so she can buy some stationery to continue writing her daily letters to Frank Button in Ft. Dix.

Everyone regrets that Miss Mann had to leave us but welcome the new teacher, Miss Pfeifer, warmly. Charity Howland and Dale Green are still a "glowing flame."

Dale Green shot and killed a deer 22 minutes after the season opened.

Teresa Joyce spent Thanksgiving vacation enjoying a family get-together at her home.

Gay Rogers and Abe Davis are still good friends.

Lois Ruger spent Thanksgiving Day with Freem Dennison and his family.

JoAnn Marsh visited Eldred, Olean and Belmont during the vacation.

Betty Sutherland was sick during most of the vacation.

Mary Lou Clark started a new fad, bells on her boots.

Paul Atwell got his deer early Tuesday morning.

Joyce Spicer spent her vacation keeping house.

Wayne Atwell went hunting and attended a dance during his vacation.

The Junior class is taking orders for "School Day Memory Books" from grades 7-12.

Neva Curry worked most of her vacation.

Charity Howland and Dale Green were seen at the show.

Mildred Miles is flashing a new ring around.

Ann Marie Joyce attended the movie in Andover Sunday night.
