The Hi Herald

Editor - - Mary Ellen Connor
Assistant Editor, Barbara Wintemberg
Faculty Advisor, Mrs. Marie McFadden

VOL. XV. ANDOVER, N. Y., MAY 4. 1950 NO. 3

In order to compete with five other candidates for a position as editor or assistant editor of next year's Hi Herald Danjann Crandall, conducted interviews, wrote all features, news stories, editorials as well as the leads, headlines and titles for all articles in this week's issue of the school paper.

COULD THIS BE A REASON

How is the lighting in your room? Is it sufficient to help you or does it hinder you in doing your work?

Good lighting is necessary for homework. Poor lighting makes studying hard. It will cause you to squint for your sight to reach the work. What happens? Perhaps you will have to visit that eye doctor soon.

Now that "squint" will soon cause slumping and gradually will weaken the eyes enough to harm your school grades. Also, eventually it will harm your health. Good lights will aid studying and make it easier.

As many other things need by-laws, your lighting system for home studying needs rules and regulations which should be followed. Let's list them just for that check up:

1—Have enough light for seeing the task to be done. Use the right bulb, depending upon the size of print and the length of time you are going to read.

2—Avoid glow. Bulbs should be shaded.

3—Avoid contrasts of light and Have light and dark distributed evenly throughout the room.

4—Have your lights fall on the work from the right direction. Avoid shadows on work by placing lamps on one side instead of directly in the middle.

5—Use a good lamp. Selecting the proper lamp will help you follow all the above rules which make studying easier. Poor lighting may be the cause of those defective report cards which you take home to your parents. Yes, good lighting will even help your posture by aiding you in sitting straight.

TOT SPOT

Upon entering Mrs. Corwin's room you will see the room dressed for spring. Among the many things are the colorful bird pictures about the room. The pictures are for studying the birds. Along with the decorations are many May baskets which the children have made. Allan Skinner missed all of this because of his absence after having his tonsils out.

Mrs. Connor's room was the scene of an interesting talk given by Ellen Joyce on her trip to Pittsburgh. Linford Bledsoe was the unfortunate little boy who missed the talk due to his illness with the whooping cough.

Mrs. Hall's first grade room looks quite nice with the new bulletin boards going up and the May baskets that were made by the children. Lyle Nye was absent with a cold last week and Phil Barrett, Hugh Church, Jean Day and Karen Stocking were absentees.

Mrs. Schwarzenbach's room has a table set up for a delightful display of Oriental articles. The children are watching the frogs' eggs brought in by Dianne Lewis.

Mrs. Helmer's room was the scene of an election. The result was Beverly Smith as president. New captains have been elected for the May spelling teams.

Mrs. Tompkins' Brownie reading group started a new unit "Old Story Book History." They are learning to tell time by five minutes.

Mr. Carmody has a new eighth grade pupil, Charlotte Case. The class made posters of the first world war.

Miss Church's fifth grade is beginning the study of the United States possessions. Her class sold $81 worth of tickets to the minstrel show.

SENIOR INTERVIEW

This week we focus our spotlight on a senior girl, Barbara Aquinas Lynch, who lives on Chestnut street with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lynch.

"Quinie" who was born Dec. 11, 1931, in Hornell, N. Y., has four sisters, Mary, Catherine, Geraldine and Martina and four brothers, James, Kevin, Norbert and Charles.

This year Aquinas is taking English 4, history, typing, biology and speech of which her favorite is speech. Some more of her likes and dislikes are:

Color: Pink.
Food: T-bone steak.
Car: Buick.
Book: Green Dolphin Street.
Author: Sinclair Lewis.
Movie: Gone With the Wind.
Actor: Dan Dailey.
Actress: Betty Grable.
Male singer: Vaughn Monroe.
Female singer: Jo Stafford.
Hobbies: Eating and skating.
Songs: "If I'd Known You Were Comin' I'd Have Baked a Cake," and "It Isn't Fair."
Pet peeve: People who talk behind your back.
Pastime: Working down on the ranch.
Ambition: To enter the International School of Modeling and Beauty Culture in July.
Secret ambition: Not to work and still have lots of money.

Aquinas is an active member of the F.H.A. and Library Council and plays the part of Hortense, a half-witted maid in the senior play. CVM

HALL OF FAME

The fifth senior entering the Hall of Fame is Dorothy Maxine Filler, a popular blonde whose gentle disposition will long be remembered in Andover Central School.

Maxine lives near Wellsville with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schoonover, a brother Carl Everett, and two sisters, Corrine and Barbara. She was born Jan. 25, 1932 in Erie, Pa.

After Maxine attended school in Genesee, Pa., she then moved to Andover where she spoke in the oratorical contest in her senior year.

During her four years in high school Maxine belonged to the F.H.A. her junior and senior years, the Library Council her senior year and chorus all four years.

While in her sophomore and junior years she won both the ping-pong and shuffleboard tournaments and won the ping-pong tournament her senior year.

The subjects "Mac" is taking are typing, English 4, art appreciation, homemaking and driver education.

Maxine is an accountant on the yearbook staff.

Her favorite quotation is: "I do not agree with what you say, but I defend your right to say it."

Her philosophy is: "Live and let live."

Her plans after graduation are indefinite.

Dorothy Maxine Filler

A hobby of Maxine's is square dancing. She danced so well here that a local contest put her in position to take part in a Syracuse dance contest. Another of her hobbies is broadcasting over the school public address system to bring the students of Andover the news in and about the school, for which she is now doing volunteer newscasts for the month of May.

FACULTY GIVES $1010 TO HOSPITAL FUND

During the recent hospital drive to raise $500,000 for the new hospital in Wellsville, the faculty and personnel of the Andover Central School contributed a total of $1010 in cash and subscriptions according to data collected from the group by Mary Connor and Danjaan Crandall.

FOR THAT FUDGE PARTY

PENUCHI

2 cups brown sugar.
½ cup evaporated milk.
2 tablespoons crisco.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
⅛ teaspoon salt.
3-4 tablespoons peanut butter.

Cook sugar and milk together in a saucepan, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Continue to cook slowly, stirring constantly until 236 degrees, soft ball stage, is reached. Add crisco. Cool slightly, add vanilla, salt and peanut butter. Beat until creamy. Pour into a greased pan and when cold cut into squares.

PEERING AT THE PEDAGOGUES

Miss Block went to Utica Friday.

Mr. Reil helped with the minstrel show.

Mrs. Helmer and Mrs. Hall were in Rochester Saturday where they called on Mr Helmer who is a patient in a hospital there. They also called on Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson at Livonia.

Mrs. Schwarzenbach was in Bath on Saturday. Her sister visited her over the week-end.

Miss Ruth Baker has been absent for a week on account of illness. Mrs. Lorraine Northrup substituted in her place.

Mrs. Mary Baker was absent Monday because of the illness of her mother. Mrs. Sara Harder taught in her place.

Mr. Kessler was absent from school Monday and Tuesday because of his uncle's death.

Aquinas Lynch: "What are you tkaing at the university?"

Don Scott: "Medicine."

Acquinas: "Feeling better?"

PUPILS TO COMPLETE POPPY POSTERS SOON

The poppy posters are nearing completion and the prizes will be given out at graduation.

Well, what cause could be more worthy than helping the veterans of the wars? They make these poppies with their hands. Why couldn't the pupils of Andover help these people? Remember the fellows making the poppies don't get prizes. The only prizes they get are the helpful things given to them through the money they can raise.

Now let's all get in and help with the poppy posters. Since Mr. Bartz is very faithful to the poster makers, let's help him make the posters a huge success.

Radio Commercials

It's that little talking man up in that little room that keeps our radio programs in order. But is it? Let's see! If it weren't for the advertisers would we have radio programs?

Yes, sponsors would be none, and programs would be none without advertisers. It would seem odd not to have our well known products recommended and presented to us over our wire-connected machines.

What if we went to the radio and snapped the button and the results were not even little sounds.

Do you know that music is a commercial for a record shop, also the band and orchestra or the composer himself.

The programs we listen to such as "Dick Tracy" and the "soap operas" are all advertisements for the writers. Some programs are written in book form for sale at most book stores.

Now if all these programs weren't in existence, would there be any radio? The answer is obviously, no. Where would the people get the money to build the structures that take the sound waves from one place to another? Would the people donate their services to the public? No, the ordinary citizen has one aim in his mind and that is to earn a reasonable amount of money.

Big firms and businesses support our radio by the commercials. They then get their products advertised and give a consideration to the radio concerns for their services to them. Commercials do help us get acquainted with the new products on the markets. The more common sense advertising does bring us all kinds of information to help us at our work and play.

Now when you hear that man you think is so loud and takes up the time from the wonderful dreamy music, think how it is a constant cycle of advertisers helping another advertiser by commercials in programs.

Don't you think that on the whole commercials have a place in the future of radio? Now, when you see that little man from W. L. E. A. or from W. W. H. G. don't pass him by with a frown. Give him a good smile, he deserves a very good smile not a frown.

BABE RUTH SPORTSMANSHIP PROGRAM

In memory of the great sportsman, Babe Ruth, an orginization has been founded called the Babe Ruth foundation. The foundation is sponsoring a sportsmanship program offered to the two students in each school selected for the sportsmanship award. The students must be seniors, a boy and a girl from each school

This program is to help the recognition of the outstanding students in sports. It is also to help with juvenile behavior by using the spare time of children. It helps with emotionally disturbed children by raising funds for the purpose of giving them care.

Individual medallions and an attractive sportsmanship placque will be the awards given for participation in the program. The medallions will go to the boy and to the girl selected but the placque will have the students names engraved on it will go to the school.

All awards will be given for sportsmanship in school and community relations not for offices held. Letters received and popularity. Sportsmanship will be stressed in the wider sense, as immediate home enviroment.

The first plan for selecting the students is setting up a panel of seniors who will be eliminated by individual confidential votes by students in 10th 11th and 12th grades with their faculty.

The second plan for selecting the students will be to have the student body choose, through individual, confidential and written vote the persons eligible for the awards. Then the final selection will be made by a Selection Committee of leaders in school activities and faculty representation. In smaller schools voting could be done by 10th, 11th and 12th grade students.

Approximately 1,000 secondary schools in various states are participating in the program during 1949-50.
