UNDERSTAND BASKETBALL

by Eunice Hall

Any girl can understand men's basketball. It isn't too different from the feminine game, altho it's much faster.

You know, men's basketball opens with the tip-off, just like the girls' game. But you don't have to wait until the opening whistle to identify the center—just pick out the tallest player in sight when the team walks out on the court (say someone about 6 ft. 8 in.) and observe "That guy is really a 'goon.'."

"Goon" is not an insult in basketballology. It's the term used by players throughout the country to identify an extra tall player, always the center.

When the goon's team is shooting for the basket, the goon will always be near the rival team's basket, with his back to it, getting in position for any fancy shots. He's the pivot, stationed there to take the ball on a series of fancy gyrations aimed at plunking the ball in the basket.

The main difference between men's and girls' basketball is that the men can run all over the court, and anybody, forwards, guards and center can take a crack at the basket.

There's just one rule men have to watch in crossing the center line into scoring territory. It's called the ten-second rule and its purpose is to prevent stalling.

Girls' teams are limited on dribbling. This is not so in men's basketball. If a player is fouled while scoring, he gets one free shot. If he's fouled while shooting, and the ball doesn't go in, he gets two free shots. Players can only stay in the foul lanes for three seconds, with or without the ball, if their team is on the offensive.

YOUR MANNERS ARE SHOWING

by Eunice Hall

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

A girl should answer a letter from a boy within 24 hours. Good correspondents often answer their mail in this length of time. Just because the letter is from a boy is no reason to wait an extra length of time. But don't be disappointed if he isn't prompt.

When a boy asks a girl for a date and she already has a date, she should say "Thank you," and then say that she is sorry but she can't make it. It's not necessary to explain why a girl is unable to accept a boy's invitation to go out. It's better not to give an excuse. Just express genuine regret at not being able to accept. A girl should keep her reasons to herself. The boy will find her that much more interesting.

MEET OUR TEACHERS

By Gay Rogers

Miss Doris Church, our fifth and sixth grade teacher, was born in West Union, New York. She attended Andover High School, Geneseo State Teachers College and she took extension courses at Alfred University.

If she had her wish she might have a blue Plymouth car with a radio so she could listen to Doris Day and Bing Crosby sing "Stardust". She might go to the movies hoping to see James Stewart or Jane Wyman. Her favorite movie was "Captains Courageous" with Spencer Tracy. If Miss Church spends a quiet evening at home she enjoys reading books by Lloyd C. Douglas or "The Robe."

Miss Church's pastime is reading, attending baseball games in the summer, and movies in the winter. Her hobby is visiting place of geographical and historical interest and collecting pictures and other things of interest for her social studies classes.

Miss Church has been teaching at A. C. S. for five years. She now lives on Second Street in Andover.

BOLIVAR TROUNCES JUNIOR VARSITY 31-14

By Dean Fisher

Last Tuesday night Andover traveled to Bolivar to take on the Bulldogs and came out on the bottom end of the score, 31 to 14, against a scrappy outfit.

In the first quarter the scoring was very low but the home team held a 5 to 2 edge. Bolivar really got hot in the second quarter and led 20-5 at half-time. The JV's came on in the third quarter a little but still trailed 24-11. The Wildcats lagged again in the final period and lost out 31-14.

Mighty "Moose" Wheaton was high man for the locals with three points. Jackson, Slocum, Pelton, Monahan and Baker were all tied for the number two spot with two each.

Gardiner dumped in eight points to be high man for the home team and S. Monahan was next with six.

"DICK WHITTINGTON" TO BE PRESENTED JANUARY 18

By Colleen McAndrews

The McCrea Marionettes will present the play "Dick Whittington" in the A. C. S. auditorium January 18 at 1 p. m.

It is rich in English folk lore and is produced in the colorful 13th century. All of the scenic back drops, costumes, and property are authentic reproductions of that period. The two puppeteers who manipulate the Marionettes are excellent dramatic artists and by using a unique puppet control can manipulate two puppets at one time. All Marianettes used in this production are one-third life size, hand carved from wood. One of the most outstanding scenes in this play takes place in the palace of the King of Blackmoors.

This Marionette production has appeared in schools from coast to coast and has been actively identified in the field of puppetry for many years.

RICHBURG DOWNS WILDCATS 21-17

The Richburg Bearcats took the league lead from the Andover Junior Varsity 21-17 on the Richburg court last Thursday night.

The game was shortened to six minute quarters because of Andover's late arrival.

Not being warmed up, the locals got off to a poor start and trailed 9-4 at the end of the half time. The J.V.'s made an inspired comeback in the third quarter and took over the lead 17-15 as the final stanza began. In a shortened fourth quarter the Wildcats failed to score as Richburg dumped in six points and took the game and the league lead 21-17.

Lanky Les Monahan, Curly Moose Wheaton and heady Skip Jackson scored 6, 5 and 4 points respectively for Andover. MacDonald was high for the home team with 8 and Wilkins next with 5.

IN MY OPINION

By Anita Nichols

What type of uniforms do you think the cheerleaders should wear?

Joyce Spicer: I like the ones the cheerleaders wear now. For a change jumper type suits would be practical.

Arlene Edwards: I agree with Joyce. The ones they have now are good looking but jumpers would be good looking as well as practical.

Margaret Daley: I like the ones which they have now, but I think the material is too heavy.

Marie Kemp: I don't especially care for the "Varsity." They should have tops similar to the "Junior Varsity," otherwise they are nice because of our school colors.

Franklin Cornish: I think the same as Dale.

Dale: Something on the order of what they have now only a jumper style, purple skirts and white blouses.

Dale Pelton: Dresses a little shorter than the "Varsity" wears on the idea of the J.V.'s uniforms.

Wayne Atwell: The ones they have now are okay and you can't expect to get new ones every year.

Lois Ruger: Their present uniforms are okay, but jumpers look much neater.

Alice Bostick: I think they should wear sweaters, because that is what most schools wear. They look more like cheerleader's uniforms.

The Chase

The very slow train stopped along a fine stretch of pasture.

"Why the delay?" a passenger asked.

"A cow has strayed on the track," the conductor explained.

A mile or so farther the train stopped again.

"What's the matter this time?" the passenger roared.

"We've just caught up to that cow again," the conductor said.

"HARVEY"

by Charity Howland

Harvey met me at the school and we jumped into the bus. The first thing Harvey started talking about was Butch Vickers and Carol Nye and Abe Davis and Gay Rogers siting together. Traveling back through the bus he noticed that the cheerleaders were singing lustily. Sandy Bostwick asked Harvey to track down the bird who was pulling off her scarf so much. Carl Atwell and Jim Jackson were singing about their girls from New York. This was a great surprise for Harvey.

All was well on the back seat with Margaret Daley, Marion Milligan and Ann Marie Joyce. Finally, after many bumps and bounces, we reached Richburg. Piling off the bus Harvey slipped and landed in a very cold snow bank. After reaching a packed gym Harvey secured the help of Clarice Nye and Alice Bostwick. He sat for a while and admired Alice's ring and wished he could find some girl to whom he could give a ring. It was a very exciting game so Harvey was very hoarse at the half. He was sorry to see the game lost.

At the Varsity game he wished he could take Anita Nichols' place during "Sis Boom Bar." After the Varsity game he couldn't talk at all. Harvey decided that he would go home with me over the week-end and sleep.

Early Monday morning he was out chasing snowflakes while walking to school with Arlene Edwards. She stated that she was still in the market for a pair of window shades and would pay any price.

On reaching school he found Dick Davis still hunting for the "Girl of His Dreams." Laura Croyle was wearing her pretty rose angora sweater and told Harvey not to get too close because it sheds. The girls who took student leader tests were rushing around to find out the marks. Harvey stayed for basketball practice and noticed some fine routine. Harvey said that he wanted to wish the teams "good luck" at the Bolivar and Allentown games.

WASHINGTON. D. C. is much the same as last year when we attended a Grange conference. It is always interesting to us to visit our national headquarters and begin the new year with the enthusiasm and new ideas which we can always learn there. This year there are state masters, secretaries, lecturers, home economics and youth chairmen from twelve states, and as we write this each group is meeting separately to discuss their particular problems and exchange ideas. A morning meeting brought everyone together; each state delegation was introduced and National Master Herschel newsom made an address of welcome. In the morning the sessions will continue with addresses on youth, community service, public relations, membership and Grange growth and achievement.

Attending from New York state, besides ourself, is State Master Henry Sherwood, Lecturer Florence Pickett, Juvenile superintendent Ruth Thew, youth chairman Elton Borden, service and hospitality chairman Edith Thomsen and Harry Graham.

Guy Haviland, of Middleburgh, who has just been named to the Youth Advisory Committee of the National Grange, is also here in his official capacity. Paul Taber, who is acting as assistant to the national master, from Ithaca, considers himself a member of our delegation.

One happening of interest to us was a broadcast in which we sat on invitation of Fred Bailey, Washington Farm Reporter. Actually it was a recording which will be released over NBC network at a later date. Called America United, representatives of labor, industry and agriculture hold a round table discussion each week on the air to recognize mutual problems in these critical days.

RURAL TEENAGER program will be continued in 1951 we have just learned. This is a farm organization sponsored plan whereby some 100 German boys and girls spend a year on an American farm, working, attending school and taking part in Grange and community activities with the family which is their host. We can think of no finer way of developing the finest of international relations. If anyone wishes to participate, application should be made to State Master Henry Sherwood at Pine Plains.

Notice to Owners and Harborers of Dogs

Dog licenses for 1950 expired on December 31st, 1950. The 1951 license fee was due January 1. Licenses so issued will cover the period from January 1, to December 31, 1951. Every dog must wear a tag of the current dog license year. A dog without such a tag is not protected by law and no action can be maintained for his injury or destruction.

An unlicensed dog may be seized and killed and the fact that a dog is without a tag is presumptive evidence that the dog is unlicensed.

Dog licenses must be obtained from the clerk of the city or town where the dog is harbored or kept.

License fees: Male dog $2.25; female dog, $5.25; spayed female dog, $2.25.

No license can be issued for less than the full license year.

The owner of the dog who fails or refuses to obtain a license for the dog as required by law incurs a penalty of $10.00 and costs.

The enumerators of towns and the police departments of cities are required to prepare in January of this year a list of dog owners. The omission of the name of an owner from such lists will not excuse the owner from obtaining a license.

If you owned a dog last year and do not own one now, so advise the clerk of your town or city.

Dog licenses in the Town of Andover may be obtained from Mrs. Marion Theetge, Deputy Clerk, at the Folsing Store.
