When You Buy Kitchen Tools

Almost every woman has a pet kitchen utensil whether it's a French knife, grater or shears. But probably many other kitchen tools could be added to a "favorites" list if chosen with better cars. Utensils that serve more than one purpose are the best investment, say specialists at the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Special-purpose gadgets frequently just clutter up the kitchen.

No matter how utilitarian your tools, you're not likely to enjoy them unless they are also comfortable to use. When you buy a kitchen tool, hold it as you do when you use it and, without gripping it too tightly notice whether it feels secure. Be sure the handle is comfortable and does not slip easily. Some kitchen tools have labels with information about materials and workmanship that will help in making your selection.

How to Cook Shrimp

Does your family eat shrimp out because they never get enough of it at home? Shrimp isn't difficult to select or cook. When you buy, look for shrimp that is firm-fleshed and grayish-green. One pound of shrimp in shells will give about two cups cooked. When you cook shrimp wash it and cover with boiling salted water. Simmer—do not boil—10 to 15 minutes or until shrimp turns pink. Cool in the cooking water and then remove the shells. You can take out the black line down the back with a toothpick. Serve as shrimp cocktail, as creole or fondue, or in any way the family favors.

Necessity

Two elderly members, meeting at the club after many years, stopped to chat. Said one to the other, who was slightly deaf:

"I'm sorry to hear of the death of your wife."

"Eh? What's that?"

"I'm sorry to hear your wife is dead."

"Speak up, man; I can't hear you."

"I'm sorry you've buried your wife."

"But I had to—She died."

An Idea

"Mr. Jones, dad wants to borrow your corkscrew."

"All right, sonny," said Jones reaching for his coat. "You run along home; I'll bring it over."

A wise old man once said: "A chip on de shoulder is about de heavies' load a body carries."

Diplomacy: The art of cutting the other fellow's throat without using a knife.
